

Clinic Makes Survey In Summerside

Three students of Summerside High School receive their tuberculin skin test in a combined X-ray and tuberculin skin test that began at Summerside this week.

All of the students at the High School were tested by yesterday morning, and the unit has now moved to the Health Centre in the former Prince County Hospital where the students of St. Mary's Convent will be tested, and then this service will be made available to the adult population of Summerside.

The procedure is simply a visit to this clinic where a chest X-ray and tuberculin skin test is given. This is followed by a return visit 48 hours later to have this test read. Those who do not react to this test are advised to be vaccinated with B. C. G. which increases resistance to the development of active tuberculosis by 75 per cent.

Summerside is the third community on P. E. I. to co-operate in this valuable survey. Previously Borden and St. Peter's have completed this program.

Dr. P. A. Creelman, Director of the Division of Tuberculosis Control, said it was important for everyone to attend this clinic, particularly the elderly people. He said that individuals in this group are sometimes more neglectful about attending tuberculosis control clinics than are younger people. S. (Photo by Wotton).

CHURCH OF CHRIST Y.P.S.

The Y. P. S. of the Summerside Church of Christ held its regular meeting in the hall on Tuesday evening, March 17th with Mr. Kenneth Huestis in charge of the worship period.

The opening hymn "We have an anchor" was followed with responsive reading in St. John 14, prayer and the singing of "I Love To Tell The Story". The president, Miss Betty Enman, conducted the business session, when a gratifying report of the results of the recent crokinole party was submitted—the money to go towards the purchase of a ping pong table.

Roll call was responded to by twenty members. Miss Joyce Crozier was appointed to read the Scripture lesson at the Sunday morning church service. Miss Eleanor Murray of Charlottetown conducted the study period, the theme of which was "How to read the Bible".

After the Mizpah benediction there was a choir practice of Easter music.
