New Warrant Officer

—(Above), Warrant Officer Harvey T. Wideman of Ottawa, Ont., arrived at R. C. A. F. Station, Summerside last week to assume the duties of Station Warrant Officer. Warrant Officer Wideman is well qualified for the well known job of "Station Sergeant-Major," having served as Warrant Officer in charge of training at R. C. A. F.'s Technical Training School, Camp Borden, Ont.

Not a newcomer to the Maritimes, Warrant Officer Wideman visited Prince Edward Island in the autumn of 1949 at which time he accompanied the Central Navigation School's Lancaster aircraft on the first tour of the United States, United Kingdom and Arctic areas. During the war he was stationed in Newfoundland with two R. C. A. F. bomber-reconnaissance squadrons.

Although a master tradesman of aircraft instrument and electrical systems, warrant officer Wideman's after-duty activities embrace such varied subjects as the raising of tropical fish, of which he has 400, and the repair of old automobiles. Mrs. Wideman's interest in the younger folk of the country led her to organize the first Girl Guide troop in the Camp Borden area and she will undoubtedly be of great assistance to the executive of the Slemon Park Girl Guide committee. The boast of the Wideman family is their 10-year-old son Brian, who according to his father is, "A meat and potato man," weighing in at 100 pounds.

Dodgers May Again Lead In Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers look as if they may lead the National League in home runs for the fifth straight season.

The Dodgers top the majors in home runs with 116, and, with about three-fifths of the season gone, have a good chance of breaking their own club record of 194, set in 1950. However, they may well fall short of the major league mark of 221 established by by the New York Giants in 1947.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, runners-up to Brooklyn in the National League home run standings with 112, have been doing some record-smashing of their own this season. Their previous team high had been 110, a mark they bettered last Sunday. Figures include Monday's games.

Giants Third

The New York Giants, who dominated the league in home runs from 1945 to 1948, are third with 101 followed by the Milwaukee Braves with 91.

The Cleveland Indians are setting the home run pace in the American League with 88. The Indians led the league for the last three seasons, tieing the New York Yankees in 1951.

Large Crowds Attend S'side Racing Meet

The combination of horse and stock car racing at Summerside Raceway Saturday evening drew a crowd estimated at some where between 4,000 and 5,000 enthusiastic spectators. The stock car preliminaries were held before the horse dashes and the stock car semi-final and free-for-all completed the evening's entertainment.

Shamrock Thoughts, the Fredericton owned horse, won both his heats in the free-for-all trot and pace, his best time 2.11 3-5. The stretch dash of the second heat was particularly thrilling, Shamrock Thoughts was hemmed in at the rail with Hedgewood Chief leading until Ann's Boy swung wide to let the Fredericton beauty through, and Shamrock Thoughts went to the front in a magnificent burst of speed.

Abner the Great made every post a winning one in both his dashes, but Valley Long sprang the surprise by placing in the second dash, after staging a thrillling and sustained duel. In the back stretch, to fall behind to third and then outfoot the Andrew gelding to the wire.

Andrew' Perry's young mare Yeuta, driven by Tyndall Semple, won her first race with ease. The bay mare, out of Uscita Briton, famous for her victories in P. E. I., and elsewhere, took command half way down the back stretch and won by three lengths.

The daily double paid $24.60.

The stock car racing with its collisions and mad detours delighted the large crowd. The mainland boys seemed to have more experience at this new race in P. E. I., and generally placed ahead, but the Island drivers were right in the thick of things, and are learning the game fast. The driver of the tow truck was the busiest man on the course taking the snarled racers out of the way.

Announcement

The documents then were to be rushed to Clark at his advance base at Munsan and to the Red commanders at theirs near Pyongyang, capital of North Korea, for immediate signing. But it was agreed that the fateful last 12-hour period of the fighting would be timed from the 10 a.m. signing by Harrison and Nam Il.

Clark said this was decided upon "to speed the conclusion of an armistice and thus prevent further additional casualties . . . and because of unacceptable restrictions demanded by the Communists as a condition to the appearance at Panmunjom of their commanders."

Red Strategy

It was understood that the Reds, in a move to make it resemble a UN surrender, had insisted on barring newspaper men if their military chiefs, North Korean Marshal Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai, came here.

No representative of South Korean President Syngman Rhee was expected to witness the signing of a truce which leaves Korea divided.

Pyun Yung Tai, Rhee's fiery Republic of Korea foreign minister, promised in a statement that neither the RoK people nor the army will revolt against an armistice "at this time".

But Pyun reiterated the conditional RoK stand that it had promised the U. S. not to oppose a truce only until the post-armistice political conference has had 90 days to 'unify Korea.

No Time Limit

The U. S. has assured the Reds it is imposing no such time limit.

Clark indicated the ordeal of 12,000 Red-held war prisoners—1,938 Americans, 8,000 Koreans and about 1,000 from other Allied nations including Canada—will end in a few days.

He told reporters that if the Reds co-operate, prisoner exchange may begin within a week or sooner and the first of those freed will be home in from two to three weeks.

Even after the announcement that agreement had been reached on a cease-fire, small Communist units attacked Allied outposts on the western front, but were repulsed.

Allied planes bombed as usual, while the battleship New Jersey bombarded Wonsan, the east coast Red port battered by 2½ years of shelling.

Allied Precautions

Allied air and ground commanders were given orders empowering them to do whatever necessary to minimize casualties in the final, delicate hours of the war.

Division commanders had permission to use their own judgment on offensive action, with the general intent of not forcing action on the Reds unless they asked for it.

For the Allies the human cost of the war was 72,000 killed in combat, 250,000 wounded, 84,000 captured or missing. Red losses were estimated at 1,400,000. Canadian losses were at least 291 dead, 1,069 wounded, 26 missing and 18 captured.

Difficult Road Ahead

"I hope the end of hostilities will foreshadow the beginning of a peace for the world as well as for ravished Korea," Clark said in anonuncing the agreement.

He warned that "a long and difficult road still lies ahead, and there are no shortcuts."

Official communist broadcasts Sunday from Peiping in Red China, and from North Korea, announced the agreement and added:

"When the armistice agreement is signed tomorrow, the first test of American implementation of the armistice is whether all UN forces, including the Syngman Rhee troops, will cease fire and withdraw from the demilitarized zone within the stipulated time."

The broadcasts said the Reds have the right to defend themselves in "implementation of the armistice."

Pyun said the South Korean government now is satisfied with a UN promise that Indian troops who will guard Allied-held war prisoners unwilling to return to communism will go directly to the demilitarized zone. His government had threatened to oppose with force the entry of Indian troops into South Korea.

Invited to watch the Panmunjom ceremony here were the top commanders from Allied nations with combat forces in Korea and five nations with non-combat units.

Truce Line

The truce brought a halt to the war roughly where it began. The truce line that will divide opposing forces runs mostly north of the 38th parallel except on the western end where it dips a few miles south of the old political boundary.

The truce agreement came after perhaps the longest armistice negotiations in history.

It was on July 10, 1951, that five-man delegations representing the belligerents first sat down to the conference table in a bullet-pocked tea house in Kaesong, the Red advance base. Negotiations came to an end Sunday in Janmunjom in a weather worn conference hut, built by the communists.

The forth coming exchange of prisoners-to be known as "operation Big Switch" —will not force repatriation of those 22,500 Red prisoners who do not want to go home.

The Allies will send back to Communism some 75,000 prisoners, nearly 70,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese.

Rhee Not Happ.

For President Rhee and his countrymen in South Korea the day was not a happy one. Rhee only a month ago delayed and nearly wrecked the armistice he opposes so bitterly by releasing 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean prisoners from Allied stockades in South Korea.

The political conference to be held within 90 days, will be to "settle through negotiation the questions of withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea, the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc."

Among other major provisions of the truce are:

1. A military armistice commission will take over supervision of a truce and arbitrate violations. Five Allied and five Communist officers of high rank will make up the commission.

2. A neutral nations supervisory commission of officers from Sweden, Switzerland, Poland and Czechoslovakia will serve as "watchdog" of a truce. It will have 20 observer teams. This commission is to report truce violations to the military armistice commission.

Prisoner Exchange

3. All prisoners desiring repatriation will be exchanged within 60 days.

4. A neutral nations repatriation commission composed of one member each from India, Switzerland, Sweden, Poland and Czechoslovakia, will handle prisoners refusing to return to their home countries. India will act as chairman and umpire.

5. The repatriation commission will take control of unwillling captives within 60 days after the armistice signing. For the next 90 days, the communists will be allowed to send representatives to the prisoners to try to persuade them to return home. No Allied prisoners were reported balking at going home.

6. The fate of those prisoners still refusing repatriation after 90 days will be handed to the political conference which will debate the matter for 30 days. After this deadline, remaining prisoners will be classified as civilians and will be allowed to go to a neutral country as their choice.

Peak post-war production year for Canadian refrigerators was 1948, when 54,943 were manufactured.

On Saturday it was learned that Mr. J. Harrison MacFarlane (above) 64 year old Bedeque farmer, has accepted nomination as C. C. F. candidate for Prince County in the forthcoming federal election.

Mr. MacFarlane had been the unanimous choice of C. C. F. members who attended the nomination convention at Summerside recently, but at that time Mr. MacFarlane had declined for personal reasons, and it was not until Saturday that the C.C.F. announced he had accepted the nomination

Mr. MacFarlane represented the C.C.F. in the 4th district of Prince in the last provincial election. He is past president of the Temberance Federation, an office he held for 10 years. In 1942 he was lay representative from Prince Edward Island at a national convention of United Churches which was held in Belleville, Ont. In 1950 he was a delegate to the World Convention of Christian Education in Toronto.

His son Douglas has been associated with the C.C.F. Party in Prince Edward Island for several years, in executive offices, and has been elected to the offices of provincial secretary and provincial president of the C.C.F. party in this province.

Mr. Cyrus F. Gallant is the president of the C.C.F. Prince Edward Island C.C.F. provincial organization; while Mrs. Muriel MacLean of Borden is provincial secretary.

Block Attempt To Go Over Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., (CP)—Police said that Major Lloyd Hill broke into tears Saturday when they stopped him from going over the falls in a steel barrel, two years after his brother died in a similar attempt. The barrel, with a parachute harness inside to hold Hill steady, was towed to Navy Island in the centre of the Niagara river Friday night. Persons who saw the launching tipped off the RCMP and Ontario provincial police.

Saint Anne Draws Large Crowd To Lennox Island

Several motor boats operated a continuous ferry service between Port Hill and Lennox Island yesterday carrying some 2000 people who had come from many points throughout Prince Edward Island to visit the Indian reservation at Lennox Island on the observance of the Feast of St. Anne, the patron saint of their church

Visitors travelled to and from the Island throughout the day, reaching the peak about mid-afternoon when hundreds of cars filled parking lots near the Port Hill wharf and extended almost a quarter of a mile up the highway leading to the boats.

In real picnic spirit some of the visitors arrived with prepared lunches and others visited the canteens, or the hall where dinners were served by Charlottetown and St. Peter's ladies, assisted by the ladies of Lennox Island.

Religious articles and fancy Indian baskets were on sale in other canteens.

Visitors attended religious services, walked around the island roads, lanes, and shore, or sat and talked with friends and acquaintances.

Solemn High Mass at 11 a.m. was celebrated by Rev. Justin McDonald, Cathedral staff, Charlottetown, with Rev. Fr. G. L. Coyne, C.Ss.R. as deacon, and Rev. Fr. Rupert McLellan, Indian River, as sub-deacon.

The scene of this religious observance was at the outdoor shrine of St. Anne located directly across the street from the church.

Flanking a grass covered walk in front of the gleaming white shrine flower beds added to the beauty of the setting.

At 3 p.m. a benediction was observed in the church, followed by a veneration of a relic of St. Anne which was obtained by this church within the past year.

Benediction was conducted by Rev. Coyne as celebrant, Rev. Justin McDonald as deacon, and Rev. Rupert McLellan as subdeacon.

Rev. E. W. MacInnis is the resident priest on the island and has about 40 families comprising approximately 180 persons in his charge.
