

Dear Editor,

After October 26, I realized the importance of being a Canadian, first; a Maritimer, second; and an Islander; third. I was originally going to raise my consciousness where PEI fits into the Canadian political society. I wanted somebody to explain what PEI can further do to prove itself to me. I mean, PEI has four Liberal MPs and unanimously voted "yes" on the October 26 referendum, in this conservatively bound country. I am happy to say to the fine folks of the aforementioned faculties that I've already have found the answer so I don't need your response (though I think I suggested a neat topic -- PEI's democratic role in Canada).

I found the answer in God. He said that he has determined the future of this country -- Canada and her citizens will be okay.

Sincerely,

Stacy Dunn

P.S. I would like to thank those people who told me that Jesus loves me so I could come to this conclusion. I admire your support and I hope that I never lose contact with you. I love you -- you're beautiful.
