

New Superintendent Of Sunset Lodge Arrives In City

Major Irene Henderson arrived in the city on Saturday from Ottawa to assume her new duties as Superintendent of Sunset Lodge in succession to Major Wheeler who retired last week.

Major Henderson, who is an accomplished musician in addition to being an experienced nurse, graduated from Grace Hospital at Halifax and received her first appointment to Grace Hospital at London, Ont., followed by service in Catharine Booth Hospital at Montreal, where she remained for seven years. During this time an additional floor was added to the hospital and a new nurses residence erected.

The Major's next appointment was to Grace Hospital at Saint John, N. B., where a Social Service wing was added and two Ladies Auxiliaries inaugurated during her tenure of office. Her last charge before coming to Charlottetown was Grace Hospital in Ottawa.

Firm's Anniversary Cakes Make Fine Orphanage Treat

Yesterday the children at Mt. Herbert and St. Vincent's orphanages had a chance to realize the dream of every little boy and girl when they were treated to all the cake and ice cream they could eat. This event was made possible through the generosity of R. T. Holman Ltd. who presented each orphanage with the firm's 96th anniversary birthday cakes.

The cakes, which were on display at Holman's Charlottetown and Summerside stores during the anniversary sale, were approximately 18 inches high, 20 inches in diameter, weighed over 75 lbs. and were elaborately decorated. This very thoughtful gesture by Holman's was greatly appreciated by the orphanage children and staff alike. Mr. R. E. Sellar manager of the Charlottetown store and Mr. R. L. Shaw of Summerside made the presentations.

Anniversary Services At Zion Church Sunday

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I. — The Church is the unique fellowship that lives to proclaim the saving grace of God revealed in Jesus Christ. Very Rev. C. Ritchie Bell, D. D., Professor of Pastoral Theology at Presbyterian College, Montreal, said here today in an anniversary sermon marking the founding of Zion Presbyterian Church. "Such are the elemental needs of the human heart, that were the Church of Christ, by some unexpected social cataclysm, to be swept out of existence, secular society itself would immediately have to create a similar institution, to take its place."

"A living Church," the guest-preacher continued, "is marked by a great redemptive passion and a great love for individual men and women. Each is of infinite value in God's sight. Christ came to be regnant over all life. That message alone can give us the true classless society. It alone can redeem the world. We Christians can call no man worthless for whom Jesus Christ died! Never has there been a time in history when the redemptive message was needed more than today."

"In that redemptive work," Dr. Bell said, "there is a place for us all. Each has a talent, a gift, a service to offer Him who loved us all and gave Himself for each of us. There is some word, a deed, a service only you can render! Do not underestimate the service you can give. All are needed if the redemptive programme of the Christ is to be achieved."

This anniversary day is for each of us a call to re-dedicate ourselves fresh to the service of our Master and Lord. Let us take our rightful place and play our rightful part. Let us do it with gladness."

Evening Service At the evening service Bell took as his text, "Thy way O God is in the sanctuary." (Psalm 77:13). The subject of the sermon was, "The Church and the Fuzzled People."

Dr. Bell said that the church was the place of recollection, purification and dedication. "The power of evil is but for today, for it is not an ultimate thing," the preacher declared. "Evil came into the world after the creation, and is, therefore, an invader and supplanter. The universe is basically moral, because God created it and is in it. God's holy will created the world and, despite our disobedience and rebellion, His holy will shall come to pass. It is in the quietness and vision of the sanctuary that we can see this truth, so our souls give way to patience and faith, the inner meaning of the world's restlessness becomes clear, and the some steps towards the filling of the vacancy. As interim-moderator of Zion Session, Mr. Somers stated that five candidates in addition to those already heard, would be before the congregation during the month of August. Arrangements were made for the Designation of Miss Anne MacEachern as a Deaconess. The service will be held in her home church, St. Andrew's, Montague, on September 10th, conducted by the Moderator and other appointed ministers. Announcement was made by Rev. C. M. Currie of the appointment of full staffs for all camps and for Boys, Girls and Young People at the Camp Keir. The congratulations of the Court were extended by formal resolution to the Summerside congregation on the celebration of their centenary.

In the evening the ordination and induction of Rev. J. E. Heathwood was conducted in the presence of a large, reverent and representative congregation. The next stated meeting of the Court is appointed to be held in Charlottetown, during November.

Prison Escape Attempt Foiled MONTREAL (CP)—Four long-term convicts were subdued Saturday during an attempted escape from St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary here. One guard was clubbed. The convicts, including one who is serving a life sentence, sawed through the bars on their cell door with a hacksaw, believed smuggled from the prison workshop, and then rushed guard Rene Paquette. Prison officials did not identify the convicts.

The 56-year-old Paquette and a younger guard teamed up to subdue the men. Paquette suffered a black eye and minor injury to the left hand, and was clubbed on the back of the head with an iron bar. One convict was treated for minor injuries suffered when Paquette struck him. All four were placed in solitary confinement until an investigation has been completed.

McNulty Family Give Second Fine Performance

They turned away crowds at Community Centre Saturday night as a touch of County Roscommon, by way of Broadway in the form of the marvellous McNultys took the City by storm with a repertoire of lilting, heart-tugging songs of Erin. Folks who had heard the Irish trio on recording sat through the performance with a gleam on their faces and with toes tapping. Tenor Frank Wade also held the audience's favor as he opened the concert with a series of well-executed melodies of Ireland.

After Frank Wade had opened the program with Macushla, accompanied by pianist Alex MacLean in pleasing style the green-coated McNultys took over and rolled them in the aisles. Ma McNulty was an angelic picture in her beautiful pink gown and silver hair as she played a set of accordions to background her singing son and daughter.

Roars of applause flowed from the auditorium as the strains of "Shall My Soul Pass Through Old Ireland" and many a hankerchief was wiped by the throng. "A Mother's Love" too brought loud choruses of approval from the crowd. Pixie-eyed Ann McNulty stole the hearts of the audience the moment she stepped on the stage. With an effervescent smile that crossed the foot-lights and tugged at the heart-strings she had the music lovers at times deep in reverence and at times swinging to the educated tap-toe gymnastics which she brandished gleefully.

Peter McNulty, the male portion of the talented family, vocalized with sister Ann in a nostalgic set of tunes. He also played the violin and piano to accompany the tap-toeing of Ann and Ma. His jazzed up version of "Fogerty's Christmas Cake" rocked the house and was probably one of the most approved numbers on the programme.

The McNultys' who have been in show business twenty-six years, will display their talents again tonight at the Rollaway Club with the show starting at 8:30. Tomorrow night they will be in Summerside and after that they will give performances at various centres throughout the Province.

The show was originated by Ma McNulty who was born in County Roscommon not ten miles from the birthplace of John McCormack. Peter and Ann have been singing and dancing with their famous mother ever since they could walk. Peter was born in Hastings, New York and Ann in Massachusetts.

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of our dear brother, Angus MacDonald, who passed away July 6, 1952. Always remembered by Sister and Brothers.

Island Odds And Ends

Montague's new bridge, in the opinion of those who know the details about the plans and specifications, will be one of the finest small bridges ever built in the Province. This is as it should be, since the bridge is a link in the town's main street, and as such a part of its daily life as the Post Office, or one of its fine stores. It would therefore, not only serve as a river crossing, but have the symmetry to match the beauty of the river and the dignity and attractiveness of the many trim buildings and well-kept homes on either river bank. The temporary bridge which will carry traffic while the new one is under construction has been about completed, and will probably be in use shortly. It was built on the seaward side of the old one.

Neither the threat of forced labor camps, nor bullets can entirely subdue people who have once enjoyed a measure of freedom. East Germany's workers proved that once again during their recent outbreaks against the Russian propaganda does not fill empty stomachs, nor make the workers content with long hours, and poor working conditions. All good employers in this country have long since accepted the principle of paying a living wage and pay for overtime. No good employer nowadays expects his employees to work ten hours a day for eight hours' pay. The Communists do, and at very slim wages. In time they will probably learn what most Canadians—not all—have known for some years, that employees and management both thrive better as a team, and that where team work is absent trouble is on the way, however long delayed.

Joan O'Brien, whose career as a trainer and driver rates him high among top-flight horsemen in the United States, may come to Charlottetown Old Home Week. Track gossip at the Charlottetown driving park has it that "Joan" will arrive here with three horses in time for the great annual show. This is unconfirmed, as the American news commentator Gabriel Heater would say, but it has all the marks of being all but official. The appearance of this noted Islander would give the great annual show a head start, as it were, in reaching a new high in popularity.

At present the Island driver is campaigning at Roosevelt Speedway in the fastest company in the harness world. If he finds time to come down this way, it will be to the scene of early triumphs where he first showed promise of exceptional ability as trainer and pilot. Without doubt his spontaneous acclaim would receive spontaneous acclaim from the thousands of Islanders, who love race horses, and admire an outstanding individual who has soared to the top of a highly competitive profession.

Naturally there are race fans who disagree with Dr. Dougan over his decisions as a judge, but friends and opponents alike agree that he doesn't need to doff his white chapeau to anyone, anywhere, as an announcer. He puts sparkle and life into every heat on Bureau, would turn out something a race track. It's a gift, perhaps, exceptional in the way of public-

St. John and Fredericton, N. B. race tracks have been competing for the services of Doctor C. H. Dougan as Judge and Announcer on Labor Day. Both tracks were satisfied when it was decided that the Doctor could preside at the Fredericton and St. John track as well. Fredericton as it happens, is holding its meet under the sun-light in the afternoon, and St. John's will be an evening show.

Since loudspeakers came into use on the tracks the announcer can almost make or spoil a card of races. An announcer who gets his horses mixed up, while describing a race, or whose voice trails off to a whisper when the race "gets away from him" is a pain in the neck to track customers.

With a goodly number of years in newspaper training to draw on, an easy writing style, and almost an artist's appreciation of the Island's beauty, it was to be expected that George Fraser, Supervisor of the Provincial Travel Bureau, would turn out something exceptional in the way of public-

City Playgrounds Open Today

The Playground at Connaught Square and the Sport Centre at Victoria Park will open today for the summer months. It was announced here last night by H. A. MacLean, President of the Playground Commission and Earl Nicholson, Playground Supervisor. The Connaught Square Playground will open this morning at ten o'clock and registration of children will be carried out during the remainder of the day.

Meanwhile work on the other Playground in the City, which is situated near Prince of Wales College, is nearing completion. It is expected that this Square will be open to the kiddies in a day or two.

Children over ten years old will register with the Sport Centre officials at Memorial Field in Victoria Park. The boys will register this afternoon from two o'clock on while the girls will register tomorrow afternoon at the same hours.

Softball games, tennis matches, swimming, archery and other games will be conducted at the Sport Centre, which will be run in conjunction with the Little League Baseball and the Red Cross Swimming programme.

City Playground supervisors are Arlene Guindon and Mary Whiteside. Supervisors at the Sport Centre are Carl Nicholson, Billy Pryor and Benny Carson.

His tourist booklet just issued could only have been produced by a man of Mr. Fraser's experience and ability. The booklet is drawing unstinted approval from all quarters, and will take its place on an equal footing with the best tourist literature issued by any other Canadian province. The descriptive writing is excellent, and the pictures illustrating it have been chosen with fine discernment, and an unerring sense of tourist appeal. The Island never looked better in print and picture. Congratulations.

At a recent meeting of the Dominion Provincial Farm Labor Committee held in Charlottetown it was decided to arrange for the importation of a number of mainland haymakers, if and when these are needed. The men will be brought here through the National Employment Offices.

Since loudspeakers came into use on the tracks the announcer can almost make or spoil a card of races. An announcer who gets his horses mixed up, while describing a race, or whose voice trails off to a whisper when the race "gets away from him" is a pain in the neck to track customers.

Naturally there are race fans who disagree with Dr. Dougan over his decisions as a judge, but friends and opponents alike agree that he doesn't need to doff his white chapeau to anyone, anywhere, as an announcer. He puts sparkle and life into every heat on Bureau, would turn out something exceptional in the way of public-

St. John and Fredericton, N. B. race tracks have been competing for the services of Doctor C. H. Dougan as Judge and Announcer on Labor Day. Both tracks were satisfied when it was decided that the Doctor could preside at the Fredericton and St. John track as well. Fredericton as it happens, is holding its meet under the sun-light in the afternoon, and St. John's will be an evening show.
