A PSALM.

BY SARAH ANDERSON.

By the highest Truth live ever,
  Which thy soul can apprehend;
Woe to him whose weak endeavour
  Wavers from the noblest end.

On the turret-tower of Duty
  We may watch, with aching breast,
Where, on plains of light and beauty,
  Spread beneath its stony crest,

Children sport, and mothers press them,
  Fathers gaze with loving eyes,
As all Nature seems to bless them,
  Smiling from the earth and skies;

While we burn in joys to mingle,
  Joys, which seem our lawful dower,
Mourning that our fate is single
  On the lonely turret tower!

But for every love surrounded
  To a lofty sense of Right,
Will an angel's love be tendered,
  That sweet offering to requite.

For, as Fate the doors of mortals
  Shuts upon our loving plaints,
God receives us through His portals,
  To the concourse of his saints.

And a Golden Promise, shining
  From the lives of all good men,
Calls our strength back, when declining,
  To endure, and strive again;

That our soul's heat, steadfast, holy,
  Bent by Love, and Faith, and Will,
On the Universe, will slowly
  From it, truthful drops distil;

Breaking, melting that resistance
  First unto its warmth opposed,
Till all secrets of existence
  In clear essence are disclosed.

And the brighter and the longer
  That the constant spirit glows,
Essence, purer, finer, stronger,
  Through the pores of Being flows.

Till at last a Dew is given,
  Loosing from life's inmost core,
And we drink the Wine of Heaven,
  Standing on its golden shore!

Varieties.

Coffee as a Fumigator.—The Medical Gazette.—good authority on such a subject—says that such is the power of absorption by coffee that it is one of the most powerful means not only of rendering animal and vegetable effluvia innocuous, but of destroying them. In proof of this the following experimenti s given:—"A room in which meat is an advanced degree of decomposition had been kept for some time, was instantly deprived of smell, on a coffee roaster being carried through it, containing a pound of coffee newly roasted. In another room, exposed to the effluvium occasioned by the clearing out of a dung-pit, so that sulphuretted hydrogen and ammonia in great quantity could be chemically detected, the stench was completely removed within half a minute, on the employment of three ounces of roasted coffee: whilst the other parts of the house were permanently cleared of the same smell by being simply traversed with the coffee roaster, although the cleansing of the dung-pit lasted for several hours longer."

Too Much for the General.—Many persons who have visited the Presidential Mansion at Washington, will recollect Jemmy Maher, who has been the gardner there for many years. General Jackson had heard rumors that Jemmy was accustomed to get drunk, and be uncivil to the visitors at the White House, so, one bright morning he summoned him into his presence to receive his dismissal.

"Jemmy," said the General, "I hear bad stories about you. It is said you are constantly drunk, and you are uncivil to strangers."

Jemmy. was puzzled for a reply; at last he said—

"General bedad, I hear worse stories about you; but do you think, I believe them! No, by the powers! I know they are lies."

A French Windfall.—An old man who, with his wife, had lived for many years in the Hospice des Vieillards, at Tours, purchased, four years ago, a pair of trousers from a soldier, and wore them until within the last few days. The wife then began to unsew them, and discovered fastened in the band a piece of paper. "Ah," said the husband, glancing at it, "it is an assignat of the old republic! It is of no use!" "Well," answered the wife, "as there is a little engraving on it, I will paste it to the wall." The day after a person came in, and on seeing the note, exclaimed, "What! do you paste bank-notes of one thousand francs to the wall!" "One thousand francs! Good heavens!" cried husband and wife together, "why, isn't it an assignat?" "No, but a note of the Bank of France for one thousand francs, which sum any banker will give for it." The note stuck too tightly to the wall to be removed, so the visitor cut out the brick, and sent it to a banker in the town. That gentleman saw that the note was a perfectly good one, and he sent it, still attached to the brick, to the Bank of France. It was paid at once. The note is dated in 1829. —Galignani's Messenger.

Get Ready to cry "Oh! oh!"—"Why am you like Tom Moore?" said Congo, shouting into Quaco's ear. "Who am Tom Moore? Me nebber heard of him." "You rigroramus, him mighty big Irish poetry man." "Me don't know, Congo give it up." "Why, because you are debarred of 'earing," (de bard of Erin.)

Pause!—There come at times in our life, deep, still pauses, when we rest upon our full content, as a child lies down on the grass of a meadow, fearing nothing, desiring nothing, ceasing almost to think, and satisfied only to feel.

A gent, while being measured for a pair of boots, observed, "Make them cover the calf." "Heaven!" exclaimed the astounded artist, surveying his customer from head to feet, "I have not leather enough."

A person being asked what a ghost said to him, which he pretended to have seen, answered, "How should I know what he said? I am not skilled in the dead language."

Said one gentleman of honor to another, "If you don't accept my challenge, I shall post you in the papers." "Go ahead," said the other, "I had rather fill a dozen papers than one coffin."

A poem in a southern paper begins, "I've lived upon thy memory." That is about as bad as Jerry Bryant's boarding-house feed, where they had nothing for dinner, and had it warmed over for supper, and what was left served up next morning for breakfast.

To ascertain whether a woman is passionate or not, take a muddy dog into her parlour.

Though we seem grieved at the shortness of life in general, we are wishing every period of it at an end. The minor longs to be of age, then to be a man of business, then to make an estate, then to arrive at honours, then to retire.

Fat men are never treacherous—fat women are not sharp tongued—fat boys are not mischievous—fat babies are always good—in fine, fat people are the kindest, and therefore the most popular.

THIS Institution will continue to be conducted on the same principles which have rendered it so generally popular, and secured for it such extensive patronage from almost every part of these Provinces. It has now been opened and in successful operation upwards of nine years. The arrangements which were made to accomplish the important object for which it had been founded, were such as obtained for it from its very commencement, a very high position in the public estimation. And those, upon whom the direction of its affairs has devolved, have been encouraged and stimulated, by its prosperity, to continued efforts to render it, in all its departments, ever increasingly efficient. Every year in its history has consequently been marked by valuable additions to its educational facilities, and by more or less extensive general improvements throughout the Establishment.

The attention of young men and of parents and guardians of youth is, therefore, respectfully invited to it, as an Institution, where the advantages of a thorough intellectual training may be obtained in safety and comfort, and under most favourable circumstances.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH!
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, 7 Presco Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway;

Sir,—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflammation set in so severely, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart Town Courier, of the of the 1st March, 1851, by Major J. Walch.

Margaret M'Connigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, has been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs; during this period, she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's celebrated Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredibly short space of time they effected a perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 84 YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs. Thew & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement.—August 2, 1851.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 84 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered, by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.

(Signed) HENRY COE,
North Street, Lynn, Norfolk.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF THE GRAVEL, AND A MOST DANGEROUS LIVER COMPLAINT.

Copy of a Letter addressed to J. K. Heydon, Esq., Sidney, New South Wales, dated February 25, 1851.

Sir,—A Mr. Thomas Clark, a settler at Lake George, was for a considerable time seriously afflicted with a complaint of the Liver, together with the Gravel. His medical attendants, after trying all their skill, candidly told him that his case was hopeless, and any further efforts useless. In this situation, and when expecting every day would terminate his existence, a friend recommended him to try Holloway's Pills, and as a forlorn hope he did so, the first dose gave him considerable relief, he therefore persevered in taking them according to the directions, and is now restored to perfect health. He will feel great pleasure in confirming this statement, or even make an affidavit to the same effect, should it be required.

(Signed) Wm. JONES, Proprietor of
Goulburn Herald, New South Wales
