TO TRY HUNTER

HAMPTON, N.B. (CP) — Ray Smith, 25, of Anagance, N.B., will appear here Nov. 22 for preliminary hearing on a charge of criminal negligence arising from the October hunting death of Harry Vernon Ronalds, Riverview, N.B. Smith entered no plea on his arraignment here Wednesday. He was earlier cleared of blame in Ronald's death by a coroner's jury. Smith was released on $2,000 bail.

BRINGING UP FATHER

LI'L ABNER

OUR BOARDING HOUSE — MAJOR HOOPLE

OUT OUR WAY — BY J. R. WILLIAMS

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

East dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♣ K J 7 2

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead—two of hearts.

North's jump to game, based on the vulnerable one spade overcall, was the proper action. It would have been wrong to only invite South to bid a game which North ought to feel certain was a playable contract.

The safety play is a provision made by the declarer to protect himself against a presumed unfavorable distribution of the adverse cards. The setting for the safety play is usually easy to recognize, but aside from the stock situations, which are pretty well known, there are a few combinations in the safety family which are not so self-evident. The deal shown today contains a safety play that is off the beaten track.

Declarer won the heart lead in dummy and led a small trump to his king, East playing low and West showing out. South now had no way to avoid two trump losers which, together with a heart and a diamond, cost him the contract.

The defeat was charged to bad luck, but it could have been averted. South's failure to make proper allowance for the 4-0 trump break contributed also to his defeat.

The correct play of spades from dummy, not the three. This play provides positive protection against the loss of more than one trump trick. The 10-8-5 which remain, if East takes the jack with the ace, can be picked up later by repeated finesses.

It might be contended that the suggested play would fail if events proved that West had started with A-10-8-5 of spades. If this were the case, a low spade from dummy on the second trick would be necessary to hold the trump losers to one.

This contention fails, however, when proper weight is given to the bidding. West cannot have the four missing spades because there would have been no opening bid by East without the ace of spades.

Once the ace of spades is granted to East, all safety measures must be directed against him. Leading the jack of spades removes all danger of losing more than one trump trick.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mrs. Bobby Brings News

News is good or news is bad
As it makes you glad or sad.
—Bobby Coon.

Over on the rocky ledge in the Green Forest was Bobby Coon. He was a worried Coon. He wasn't worried about himself. he was worried because he was afraid Mrs. Coon was in trouble. There were hunters with a Dog over in the Green Forest this night. Bobby had learned by experience that it was only Coons that were hunted at night by those two-legged hunters.

My dear, I was so afraid you wouldn't think of coming to this ledge," said Bobby.

The Dog had been barking steadily in one place. That meant that a Coon had gone up a tree and the Dog was at the foot of the tree. If the Dog had been alone there would have been nothing to worry about because a Dog cannot climb a tree. But there were at least two two-legged hunters, for Bobby had heard their voices calling. Unless that Coon had somehow left that tree without the Dog knowing it, it would be just too bad.

So Bobby listened and worried as he listened. The Dog had stopped barking. This meant that the hunters were at that tree and anything could happen now. For a while there was no more sound. Then suddenly the Dog began barking again, but this time at a distance from that tree. Bobby felt better. He felt a lot better. A little later he felt even better when he saw some on climbing up on that ledge. It was Mrs. Bobby. As had happened when he had climbed up on that ledge the night before, the Dog and the hunters stopped at the foot of it. Mrs. Bobby was safe.

"My dear, I was so afraid you wouldn't think of coming to this ledge," said Bobby "Did you fool that Dog by climbing from one tree to another without him seeing you?"

Mrs. Bobby grinned. "I take it you tried the same trick," said she. "I wondered if you had escaped last night. I'm glad I found you here."

"I've bad news here," said Bobby. "Yowler the Bobcat is living in our old den and he doesn't like it because I am over here. He will like it still less when he finds you are here tooo. I wish we were in our big holow tree.

"You wouldn't wish it if you were there," said Mrs. Bobby.

"Why not?" asked Bobby. "We would be perfectly safe if we didn't come out."

Mrs. Bobby shook her head. "We wouldn't be safe at all if we were back in the big hollow tree. We never will be safe there again, I'm afriad," she declared.

"What do you mean?" asked Bobby.

"I've some bad news," said Mrs. Bobby. "Some very bad news."

"Do you mean that those hunters have found our hollow tree?" Bobby wanted to know.

"That's just what I mean. Not only have they found it, but they have found out we were living there. They have split it open," replied Mrs. Bobby.

This was bad news. It was very bad news. Somehow Bobby had not thought of such a thing happening

It meant that they would have to find a new place to spend the winter.

Just then they heard a snarl. Yowler the Bobcat was coming along the ledge. Mrs. Bobby squeezed through into the little cave. Bobby squeezed through after her. Yowler came over and put his face close down to the entrance. He growled and snarled and threatened them. He still was in a bad temper. "I'll catch you yet," he growled.

British And French Confer On Withdrawing Troops From Suez

By PAMELA MATTHEWS

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and France Wednesday night conferred about withdrawing their troops from the Suez Canal and about letters President Eisenhower forwarded to both governments.

Diplomatic sources said Eisenhower wrote to Prime Minister Eden and Premier Guy Mollet earlier this week.

Eden discussed the letters with Acting French Foreign Minister Albert Gazier who flew here from Paris. Gazier is deputizing for Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, now at the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York.

The diplomatic sources said Eisenhower informed Eden and Mollet that he feels the Middle East crisis should be left in the hands of the UN at present. They said the president added that a meeting of the Western Big Three leaders could be held at a later date.

ASK BIG THREE MEET

Unofficial British sources said this meets with general British support. France, however, has been pressing for a meeting of the three heads of government at the first opportunity.

Eden and Gazier also went into details of when and how Anglo French forces should withdraw from the Suez area they occupied a week ago. Negotiations on this issue are also going on at the UN in New York.

Britain's official position is that it should be a phased withdrawal as an effective UN police force moves in. The task of ensuring Egyptian compliance with the UN resolutions, in the British view, is one for UN Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold.
