SUPREME COURT.—In the case of Johanna Carroll, vs. Charles F. A Strong, a verdict was returned for the plaintiff on Saturday evening.

STIPENDIARY MAGISTRATE'S COURT.—Angus McDonald drunk, $1 or 4 days. Three Scott Act cases were dismissed and three adjourned for one week.

AN EXPLANATION.—The telegraph lines are reported "down," and, as a consequence, we are obliged to go to press without the usual telegraphic news.

AN EXPLANATION.—Mr. McRae desires us to explain that, owing to the illness of one of his family, he has been unable to visit personally many electors in Ward Four.

EVANGELISTIC.—Sam Small announces that he has given up his labors as an evangelist and is now a preacher in the Methodist church South at Washington, D. C.

THE TRAINS.—The railway track is now clear, and all trains will be running on time to-morrow. To-day they were somewhat late, although each had an extra engine.

TEMPERANCE RALLY.—All temperance workers and canvassing committees, will meet this (Monday) evening, in J. D. McLeod's Hall, at 8.30 o'clock sharp. By order of the Chairman.

A NEW DEPARTURE.—A large clock, the lower portion of which is to be used as an advertizing medium, was placed in the corridor of the Post Office to-day. It attracted considerable attention.

A TREAT.—Bonnie Laddie Medley contains no less than sixteen beautiful Scotch airs introducing the true interpretation of the bagpipes giving the music the national effect. Scotchmen should certainly not miss such a treat.

THE COLD SNAP.—The thermometer registered 10 degree below zero between Saturday night and Sunday morning and 3 degrees below at midday Sunday. Last night it marked 9 degree below and 5 degrees below at 10 o'clock this morning. At noon it recorded 3 below.

THE MAYORALTY.—We are desired to remind electors that should Mr. Norton receive a majority of votes on Wednesday, he will be returned as duly elected. It is possible that some electors will vote for Mr, Nortou, notwithstanding his retirement; and it would be well for those who desire to see Mr. Haviland returned to be on the qui vive.

THE LECTURE FIELD.—Mr. Frederick Villiers, the well-known war correspondent and artist of the London Graphic has entered the lecture field. He went with Mr. Archibold Forbes through the Franco-German Servian and Russo-Turkish wars and has a great fund of interesting experiences, which he relates with graphic eloquence.

ALL RIGHT.—On Friday morning Richard Stockman, Esq., of North River came to town after a coffin for his wife who had died on Thursday. The weather being stormy he was unable to return home until Saturday. His long absence caused his friends to become alarmed and search parties were sent out, but he arrived all right on Saturday as above stated. Mrs. Stockman was interred yesterday.

FIRE.—A dwelling house on Dorchester Street East, owned and occupied by a man named Bernard Callaghan had a narrow escape from destruction by fire about 8 o'clock last evening. It appears that the chimney took fire and the flame therefrom communicated to the floor of one of the bedrooms on the second flat. The fire in the bedroom was fortunatuly noticed in time and promptly extinguished. No alarm was given.

TROTTING.—Largely attended races took place on New London ice on the 14th inst The first race, the free-for all, was contested by W. F. McKay's (Summerside) All Right mare, H. B. McKay's (Clifton) Brown Stout, and G. B. Sims' (Kensington) Whistler. McKay's mare won first place, Brown Stout second, and Whistler third. There were three entries in the three minute class, first money being won by S. W. Brown's Nellie S., (by Island Chief), second by Daniel McKay's Black Bill (by Kimball Morgan), and third by J. Stewart's black mare Maud. A great many speedy horses were noticed on the ice, and the sport was thoroughly enjoyed.—Agriculturist.

OUTRAGEOUS.—Such sharp practice in the prosecution of the Scott Act as that of which Professor Anderson, Mr. Thos. Foley and Mr. Joseph Wise, M. P. P., have been the victims, must be condemned by every right thinking man. To subject gentlemen to the annoyance which must necessarily accompany a subphœna in a Scott Act case, to make them subjects for the gossip and tattle of the town, and liable to have their conduct and their morals impugned at every fireside, when there is nothing whatever to justify even a suspicion that they were party to a breach of the law is outrageous. The trick played upon Mr. Wise is contemptible. There is much force in Mr. Wise's complaint that good liquor is not always available by persons who come in haste from the country to obtain it for sick ones at home.

BADLY SOLD.—A well-known member of the Fire Department retired to rest somewhat earlier than usual a few evenings ago, leaving his wife in the sitting room sewing. After her liege lord had retired for the night and the good wife had finished her sewing, and wound up the clock, she also retired. During the night the husband was aroused from his slumbers by hearing the dismal clang of the fire bell. He jumped out of bed at once, and getting inside his clothing in double-quick time, was starting for the door when his wife asked, "What's the matter,——? Where are you going?" "Why, there's a fire; don't you hear the bell? The fire may be at the shop, so I want to get there as soon as possible." The wife said it was strange she did not hear the bell, and together they listened, but not a sound could they hear. At length the truth dawned upon the wife. It was the clock which had struck the hour, with a noise closely resembling that made by the fire bell. She told her husband, and he, after looking about for something to hit himself with, disrobed again and returned to rest, a "sadder and a wiser man."

Wedding of Royalty.

GERMANY'S SAILOR PRINCE TO MARRY THE QUEEN'S GRAND-DAUGHTER—KAISER WILHELM'S GRANDSON BETROTHED TO THE DAUGHTER OF PRINCESS ALICE OF ENGLAND—SAD HISTORY OF THE HOUSE OF HESSE.

The Berlin court is preparing to celebrate another marrage, this time that of Heinrich, the sailor Prince, the second son of the Crown Prince of Germany, and Princess Irene, the third daughter of the Grand Duke Ludwig of Hesse and the lamented Princess Alice, Grand Duchess of Hesse and Princess of England. The betrothal ot this pair was officially made known on the occasion of the nineteenth birthday of the Kaiser, and the wedding ceremonies are announced to take place in the latter part of February. The coming marriage calls to mind a curious superstition and many sad events connected with the House of Hesse. In the latter part of the year 1878 a steamboat on the Thames, bearing the name of Princess Alice, in returning with a load of excurtionists up the river, was run into by a large iron coal steamer and immediately sunk, causing a loss of some five hundred lives. At the time of the calamity, the grand ducal house of Hesse-Darmstadt had deep affliction. In fact, affliction and sorrow seemed to have chosen the court of Darmstadt for their frequent residence. Some years before, Princess Allce, who, besides being an intellectual woman, had her mother's fondness for children, loved to spend much of her time in her nursery, for which she had provided seven children, six daughters and one son. One day in June, 1873, the little Prince Friederich climbed up to an open window, lost his balance and was killed almost before his mother's eyes as she rushed in terror to call him back. In 1878, after the terrible disaster on the Thames, the entire grand-ducal family was and the popular fancy connected the fatality of the steamboat with coming misfortune for the family of Queen Victoria's daughter at Darmstadt. And the forebodings proved only too true. November 16, the Princess telegraphed her mother: "Our sweet little one is taken." "The struggle to conceal from the other children that their favorite was dead," Sir Theodore Martin says, "cost the Princess, down to the time of her own fatal seizure, such a daily and almost hourly effort as, in her weak state, she was ill able to bear. Her sufferings during her short illness, which lasted less than a week, were borne with exemplary patience." The Princess Alice caught the disease from the lips of the little one, the Pincess Maria, and she herself followed on Dec. 14 of the same year. The foreboding had come true. Queen Victoria, besides erecting a monument to her daughter's memory at Balmoral, gave the idea for a beautiful monument to the Princess at Darmstadt. It is in the form of a sacophagus, on which are represented in white marble the Princess and her little child in the same manner as King William III. and Louis of Prussia are shown in the well-known mausoleum in Charlottenburg. The work is by Professor Bochin, of London, and is placed in the Prince Consort's mausoleum at Windsor. A copy of it was then made by command of the Queen, and by her presented to the Grand Duke of Hesse, and is placed in the mausoleum in the beautiful Rosenhoche, before the eastern side of the Residenz at Darmstadt, in full view of the foothills of the Odenwald, on the place where lie the remains of the Princess Alice, the Princess Maria and Prince Frederich. It may be hoped that the present marriage may turn out happily.

PRINCESS IRENE'S TWO OTHER SISTERS.

have already found new homes. The eldest, Princess Victoria, is wedded to Prince Louis of Battenberg; the second, Princess Elizabeth, to the Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, with whom she is said to be very unhappy. Princess Irene was borne at Darmstadt, July 11, 1866. Her name, Irene, which signifies Peace, was given to her in commemoration of the end of the Prusso-Austrian war, in which the Grand Duke of Hesse was counted among the defeated. The Bridegroom, Prince Heinrich, was born August 14, 1862, and is looked upon at the future admiral of the German navy. He has been in the navy since 1879 and has made two voyages around the wold. He is generally conceded to be the cleverest member of the Hohenzollern family, and in years past, when Prince Wilhelm fell from popular grace through his escapades, the Prussians had hopes that fate would assist his younger brother to the royal and Imperial throne. Prince Heiurich is at present at San Remo with his father, the Crown Prince, with whom he is a great favorite and constant companion.

E. M. CASWELL, Grand Union Hotel, N. Y., says: Adamson's Cough Balsam has cured coughs and colds for me repeatedly. I have used it in my family fifteen years, and at every trial we have found it successful. We are never without it. Trial bottles 10 cents; large, 35 cents. dy wy 1w

LARGE SHIPMENTS.—In the last autumn, says the Agriculturist, our friend Mr. Wm. Minto, of Cardigan, formerly of Summerside, loaded fifteen vessels with 20,898 bushels potatoes, 7,952 bushels oats, 540 bushels turnips and 4,414 pounds pork, besides which he shipped by rail 21,797 lbs. pork. At a moderate valuation Mr. Minto's shipments were over $9,200.

THAT POOR WOMAN.—The young woman and her babe who so narrowly escaped death during the storm on Friday evening, is, we learn, still at the house of her rescuer, Mr. Gillis. It appears that the unfortunate creature, who had no place to go for shelter during the night, had, in the earlier part of the evening, called at a house on Rochford Street and asked permission to remain over night; but after allowing her to warm herself at the fire, the people of the house told her they could not accommodate her. She then started for the Police Station, accompanied by a member of the family, who saw her up as far as Terlizzick's corner, where he pointed out the Station to her, and returned home. Instead of going to the Police Station for shelter, she started off in a northerly direction, and brought up in Peake's field, where she narrowly escaped death, as narrated in Saturday's issue.

THE PUMPS.—The pump on Grafton Street, near the Prince of Wales College, has been out of order since Friday, and several of the pumps throughout the city are so iced up that it is positively dangerous to approach them. Will the pump contractor kindly give the matter his immediate attention?

OBSTRUCTING THE LANDING.—We direct the attention of the City Surveyor to the fact that parties are hauling snow and refuse from their yards, and depositing them on the winter landing at the foot of Great George Street, directly in the line of travel. This is not right, and should not be allowed. The landing must be kept clear at all hazards. If an example were made of one or two of the transgressors the others would soon take the hint and go elsewhere with their rubbish.

To the Electors of Ward One.

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of the electors of the Ward, I have nominated as a candidate for civic honors at the forthcoming election, and do therefore solicit the favor of your vote and influence.

If elected, I shall use my best endeavors to economize in all matters compatable with efficiency in each department.

Your obedient servant,
LEMUEL M. POOLE.

January 18th, 1888.

To the Electors of Ward Four.

GENTLEMEN,—After representing you for five years, I am grateful for the confidence you express in again asking me to represent you. If elected, I pledge my word and honor to do all I can for the best interests of the Ward, the temperance cause, and the city in general.

I wish to draw your attention to the card of Mr. Ewen Macdougall, in which he says:—

"The 'Canada Temperance Act' having been sustained by a vote of the citizens, its enforcement becomes a duty. I therefore pledge myself, if elected, to see that the temperance law is respected equally with all other laws now in force. Relying with confidence on your support," otc.

At the Ward Four meeting he said: "True, I have been a rumseller, and my sympathy is with them; and if I run, I will do so in the interest of the party."

Citizens, here is a wolf in sheep's clothing. He has been a rumseller. has been convicted of breaking the law; and he now tries to make you believe he is desirous that that law should be enforced. Such two-faced deception! Temperance men, generally, I do not think, will be so easily gulled.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Most respectfully,
SAMUEL McRAE.

Should I become your representative, my best attention shall be given to the interests of the Ward and the City generally.

The "Canada Temperance Act" having been sustained by a vote of the citizens, its enforcement becomes a duty. I therefore pledge myself, if elected, to see that the temperance law is respected equally with all other laws now in force.
