

Keep in mind that Scott's Emulsion contains the hypophosphites.

These alone make it of great value for all affections of the nervous system.

It also contains glycerine, a most valuable, soothing and healing agent. Then there is the cod-liver oil, acknowledged by all physicians as the best remedy for poor blood and loss in weight.

These three great remedial agents blended into a creamy Emulsion, make a remarkable tissue builder.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

THE House of Lords in the British Constitution plays very much the same part as the Senate in ours. It is strange, then, that they should meet with similar experiences? It seems that in 1872 the Liberal party in England wanted to abolish or reform the House of Lords. The following is an extract from a speech made by Lord Beaconsfield in Manchester, in which he deals with that question:

"Gentlemen, let me make one more observation on the House of Lords, before I conclude. There is some advantage in political experience. I remember the time when there was a similar outcry against the House of Lords, but much more in tone and powerful; and, gentlemen, it arose from the same cause. A Liberal Government had been installed in office with an immense Liberal majority. They proposed some violent measures. The House of Lords modified some, delayed others, and some they threw out instantly there was a cry to abolish or to reform the House of Lords, and the greatest popular orator (Daniel O'Connell) that probably ever existed, was sent on a pilgrimage over England to excite the people in favor of this opinion. What happened? That happened, gentlemen, which may happen tomorrow. There was a dissolution of Parliament. The great Liberal majority vanished. The balance of parties was restored. It was discovered that the House of Lords had behind them at least half of the English people. We heard no more cries for their abolition or their reform; and before two years more passed England was really governed by the House of Lords, under the wise influence of the Duke of Wellington, and the commanding eloquence of Lord Lyndhurst—and such was the enthusiasm of the nation in favor of the Second Chamber that at every public meeting its health was drunk, with the additional sentiment, for which we are indebted to one of the most distinguished members that ever represented the House of Commons, 'Thank God there is a House of Lords.'"

As in England then, so in Canada now it will be found that the people do not favor the present outcry against the Upper House, and in view of its usefulness displayed during the last few years may we not well say, too, "Thank God there is a Senate in Canada."

Opinions Made to Order.

(Toronto Globe, Feb. 3, 1897.)

"A mild agitation has sprung up for extending the Intercolonial railway by continuing it from Lewis to Montreal. The Montreal Herald has invited prominent people in that city to give their views as to the advisability of such an extension. A considerable portion of those whose opinions are given are in favour of the Government engaging in such a project. It is encouraging, however, to see a few raise their voices in protest." * * * "The fact is that the extension of the Intercolonial along the south shore would be a paralleling of existing lines, a course that no Government would be justified in sanctioning without very extraordinary reasons that are not urged in this case."

Toronto Globe, Feb. 6, 1897:

"An agitation for the extension of the Intercolonial railway from Montreal, the present western terminus, to Lewis, in the locality interested. It is not seriously contended that existing facilities between Montreal and Lewis are inadequate. Traffic over the present line between Montreal and Lewis is not more than sufficient for the profitable maintenance of the present service. Were the line duplicated and the traffic divided by the extension of the Intercolonial, the increase in business would not counterbalance the cost of double service and management."

Toronto Globe, May 16, 1899.

"The western extension of the Intercolonial railway to Montreal is a project first brought into vigorous life by the accession of the Liberal Ministry to office. As to its advisability and even necessity, the country now required no argument. The Government line was well described as running from the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick seaports to nowhere, and even the coast section was hampered with agreements which turned much of its business over to the Canadian Pacific Railway. No private corporation would leave a line in that situation and it is a cardinal feature of the Liberal policy to infuse the energy and care of private enterprise into public business."

So that the Government is infusing energy into public business by pursuing a course that "no Government would be justified in sanctioning" at a cost of six and a half millions to the public.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

WINTER VOYAGE.—The winter voyage of the Gaspesia is described in a St. John's letter to the Toronto Globe, and the conclusion of the writer as to the result of the voyage, is one that is not likely to be disputed. He says: "The experience of this ship practically disposes of the question of running a line of steamers in the gulf during the winter months. Many of our most experienced ship-masters accustomed to ice navigation, maintain that she was very fortunate in living through the season, for some years it happens that even the sealers themselves get the worst of the conflict with the floes. Much of the same boasting is done with regard to the navigation of the Gulf of St. Lawrence as was indulged in a few years ago with respect to the feasibility of Hudson's Bay as a grain route to Europe, and with as little foundation. The Dominion Government had to send an expedition to Hudson's Bay to demonstrate the difficulties in the way of making the navigation of those waters a venture of commercial sanity, and even yet there are people who will not be convinced of the unwisdom of attempting it. In like manner the Gaspesia has served as a costly object lesson of the improbability of working ocean liners through the ice-laden waters of the Gulf from January until April."

A Great Book Free.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 686,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labour and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The free edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong Manila paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away.

Fishery Protection

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., May 19.—The British Admiralty has ordered the armed sloop Alert, now protecting the herring fishery along the coast of Newfoundland, to visit the Island of Anticosti after the fishery ceases and to investigate the condition of affairs there, especially with respect to the enforcement of sovereign right by M. Menier, owner of the Island, as claimed by a section of the press and public men of Canada.

HORRORS OF SMALLPOX.—In the sixteenth century smallpox fell upon Mexico, and in a few years 3,500,000 of the population yielded up their lives to it, leaving in some places scarcely enough people alive to bury the dead. Brazil in 1653 was invaded by smallpox, and in some instances whole races of men were carried to their graves in it. The province of Quito in a few years lost 100,000 of her population by this one disease. In 1767 smallpox invaded Iceland and caused the death of 18,000 out of a total population of 50,000. One sixth part of the inhabitants of Ceylon died of smallpox during one epidemic. Whole tribes of our Indian population were swept out of existence by this disease. In 1731 nearly two thirds of the population of Greenland were swept away by this disease. Europe, in the century preceding the discovery of vaccination, lost in deaths from small pox 50,000,000 of her population. All this has been changed through the practice of vaccination.

Gay's Seeds are the best.

Why are Gay's seeds the best? Because they are practical market gardeners and a whole life time of successes and quite often failures (from mis-hered and failures) had up to success) places them in the best position possible to grow and import seeds suited to our climate. They make a specialty of vegetable seeds including mammoth, mangel, turnip, carrot, parsnip, beet; and like the great Peter Henderson, seedman of New York, their seed can only be procured directly from themselves. They are starting extensively vegetable and flower plants for June and July planting, (some hardy plants ready in May.) Their tree department includes some handsome lime, horsechestnut, elm, weeping willows, plum, apple, cherry, gooseberry, currant, and hardy shrubs. Call at the market or write for prices. Address J. J. Gay & Son, Nursery Gardens, Charlottetown, Telephone 180.

Health to the Czar.

WIESENSTEIN, Prussia, May 19.—At a luncheon given by Emperor William yesterday in accordance with his custom in honor of the birthday of Emperor Nicholas, the Kaiser toasted the czar in the following terms: "With the toast to the czar's health which I propose every year with with heart-felt sincerity, I would today console my hearty wishes upon the opening of the conference at The Hague, which owes its organization to his majesty's initiative."

KILLED BY A BEAR.—A large bear came out of the woods on Thursday last and made his way into the field of a Mr. Nelson, of Hanford, and killed one of the heifers.—Oxford Journal.

BRADLEY MARTIN'S FAREWELL.—Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin took their formal and final farewell of New York society last Wednesday night at the Waldorf-Astoria by a sumptuous dinner to eighty-six guests. It went off in a blaze of glory—viands, wines, flowers in music, service all perfect, but it was not a promiscuous function like the famous fancy dress balls of several seasons ago. The Bradley Martins will hereafter reside in London.

"The Nearest Thing to an Idea is a Question"

How much do you pay, in a year, for your clothes? Divide it by three, and you'll find that one-third

You buy at least two suits and an overcoat yearly. You probably purchase three hats and three pairs of shoes in the same time

Your tailor receives about ten times as much as your hatter, and seven times as much as your shoemaker. Yet both your hat and shoes are ready-made, and better made than they could be at almost twice the price. If produced singly— to order. Why should not your suit or overcoat be ready-made, and well made at half to two-thirds the price as your hat or shoe? Less than ten years ago there was not a hat factory in Canada, and the shoe factories were producing only brogans and clumsy sewed or pegged shoes

But they have long since improved the 'custom' shoemaker and hatter out of existence. Clothing alone stood still at the "brogan" standard. It was different in the United States, where ready-made clothing kept pace with the ready made hat and shoe. It is different here since the advent of Fit-Reform and the quicker you find out that difference the sooner will you get your shoes and hats every year for nothing. You can do this by saving one-third the price of the tailored suit, in buying the self-same garments "ready-made" here. And you will find just as good people here buying our made clothes as you ever saw in the highest priced tailor shop

Your money back if dissatisfied.
