Congratulations to the Summerside Aces for winning the Island Intermediate "B" championship for the second year in a row. So far their record this year looks better than it did a year ago. Last year they downed Borden, O'Leary and Milton to gain their title. This year again they eliminated a smart O'Leary team, but their achievement in winning from Montague seems to us to be more praiseworthy. In beating Montague they conquered a squad that had triumphed over two Charlottetown aggregations whose rosters included the pick of capital city hockey players, excepting, of course, those on the Islander pay-roll. The Montague team itself is composed largely of hockey stars living in Charlottetown. The Aces, with the exception of Bonnie Howatt, Edgar Taylor and Dave McInnis, are all Summerside players and two others were declared ineligible because they played senior hockey on the mainland.

We'll admit that the trio of Howatt, Taylor and McInnis had quite a lot to do with the Ace victory, but our locals were also pretty important cogs in the winning of the Island Championship. What we like about the Aces this year is their ability to get up off the floor and win when most of their supporters have been ready to throw in the towel. O'Leary beat them 5-4 in Summerside, and a lot of fans thought it was the beginning of the end. The Aces surprised everyone by taking a 7-0 defeat on O'Leary in their own rink. Wednesday night when the score was 4-1 against them in Montague, and they were down 7-6 on the round in the third period, it looked like curtains for the boys again, but they scored two quick goals and snatched victory from the brink of defeat.

To date the unsung hero in the story of victory seems to be the Aces' unassuming coach, Laysh Schurman, not too many bouquets have been passed to Laysh, but we believe his steady influence has meant a lot towards keeping up the will to win in this Summerside club. As a group they are not the easiest in the world to keep in line, and Laysh has kept them working together harmoniously. Since assuming the thankless role of coach, he has annexed one Maritime championship, and is now on his way to another. More power to him, say we, and we think he is fast establishing himself as one of Prince Edward Island's foremost hockey coaches.

The Minister went on to say that the real wealth of any country is in its citizenship and while it is wise for every democratic governing body to avoid regimentation by statute, it is also the moral duty of governing bodies to guarantee all of its citizens protection against extreme exploitation. "This is the major objective of this Government," said Mr. MacDonald.

The fact that the Commission was composed of both parties was one of the favorable things noted by Mr. MacDonald who said, "In my view, it will assure the adoption of a sound basis for the functioning of a minimum wage board or other agencies to be established."

"Unquestionably, the establishment of a new department to handle the delicate and complicated problem of labor and management will encounter many difficulties and undue haste is not desirable. But, placed in the hands of persons who sincerely desire to improve the lot of wage earners and the relations between management and labor, there is every possibility of decided improvement for all concerned."

Hon. E. P. Foley, who seconded the resolution, said it was quite a revelation to him to know that there were more than twice as many laborers in the Province as farmers. He said that labor was far behind. "How can a man keep a family decently on some of the wages paid in this Province? In many cases he is able to provide only the bare necessities, alone provide for life insurance and other comforts for his old age. He hoped that both employer and employee would eventually profit from the setting up of this legislation."

Hon. Keir Clark cautioned about going ahead too hurriedly, since there were many problems to take into consideration. "It is not a matter which wholly favours the working man," he said. Speaking of the prices paid laborers who cut pulpwood, Mr. Clark felt that there was something radically wrong when the price being paid was only $3 a cord while that offered to the dealer was $27 per cord.

Hon. George MacKay said: "Our whole problem is the result of the fact that labor has been exploited by unscrupulous employers but labor is now in the saddle and they are making their vide statutory authority for grants to rural municipalities now covered by an item in the estimates. These grants are paid to municipalities containing or adjacent to military stations. Their purpose is to reimburse these municipalities for unusual wear and tear caused to roads by military traffic. "All municipalities presently receiving grants will get increased."

ever, it seems appropriate to point out that while economically the agricultural industry is predominant, I am told — and I may be a little out in this — that there are 6,000 farmers in the Province to 15,000 laborers.

"One of the first steps to meet the need of our working people was the enactment of the Workmen's Compensation Act. This has been of inestimable value to our people," continued Mr. MacDonald. "With all respect to the integrity of our citizens, we know that human nature being what it is — there are bound to be instances of exploitation of those who have little if any bargaining power." He felt that the committee appointed to look into the question of a minimum wage law would not confine its study to what is going on in other provinces but would consult with leaders of both labor and industry within the Province.

The Minister of Health and Welfare said: "Labor relations are human relations in a most difficult form and there can be no question that advances in handling labor relations have not, in many respects, kept pace with the general advancement in other fields. In order that every possible method will be studied to insure that all people will enjoy an equitable share of advancement, the Government has asked the Legislature to provide for a Department of Labor, supplemented by a House Committee."

REAL WEALTH — The Minister went on to say that the real wealth of any country is in its citizenship and while it is wise for every democratic governing body to avoid regimentation by statute, it is also the moral duty of governing bodies to guarantee all of its citizens protection against extreme exploitation. "This is the major objective of this Government," said Mr. MacDonald.

property to taxable property only, instead of the ratio of federal property to taxable and federal property combined.

Speakers for the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties welcomed the legislation but said the government should pay full municipal taxes on all its properties. Mr. MacDonald eliminated in a move to help municipalities improve their acute financial position.

Grants authorized by the act are related to federal properties considered necessary for the functioning of government. Parks, monuments, museums, harbor works, canals and other engineering works are not included.

ADD CERTAIN FEATURES — Mr. Harris said the amendments would add to the list certain ornamental features such as fountains not of a functional character. In addition, it now was intended to exclude certain Ottawa buildings and properties from property covered by the Ottawa grant and make separate grant to the city for cost of servicing.

Mr. Harris said existing legislation excludes from a grant properties which are acquired by the crown and then used for parks, historic sites and other purposes. They now would be eligible for grants to give municipalities relief for loss of potential property tax revenue.

Another amendment would permit the minister of finance to direct that crown property occupied by a taxable tenant be included as federal property. This would permit inclusion in the grant of such properties as married quarters developments, provided the municipality foregoes its right to tax the occupants.

Deductions would be made from grants where the crown provided a normal municipal service. Excluded were parks provided to the city of Ottawa by the federal district commission and fire protection made available to Halifax by a naval fireboat.

The legislation also would pro-

One of the most destructive fires to take place in Alberton for some time occurred yesterday afternoon when a large modern potato warehouse owned by Erskine Clark was burned to the ground. Origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Clark left the office at 12.15 p. m. and when Ross Gelson, an employee, returned to work shortly before one o'clock the building was filled with heavy smoke.

The Fire Department responded promptly to the alarm but were unable to enter the building for more than brief minutes because of the dense black smoke thought to be from the insulation board with which the inside walls were covered. Construction of the front porch walls was destroyed by the fire had spread inside them throughout the building before it finally broke through the west wall.

The firemen's work was made exceedingly difficult by a blizzard with high winds for three hours a stream of water was kept on the south wall of the building to hold it as a firebreak, while another stream was directed on the adjoining warehouse of Myricks, Alberton Ltd. Fortunately, the fire was kept in the path of the flames which were own rules and regulations." He particularly appealed for the cause of working girls in his district, many of whom, he said, were not making enough to pay for the clothes they wear without help from their parents and at the same time were required to work exceedingly long hours.

"I would not favor a high minimum wage scale but I am anxious to see that every person who earns a living will get his just reward." Added Mr. MacKay, "If we would have prosperous Province, we must legislate for all classes, including labor."

Mr. George Saville said: "A laborer is worthy of his hire." He felt that labor formed a very important part of the Provincial economy. He was opposed to alienating help from outside the Province and suggested that wherever possible the local laborer should be given the preference.

Mr. R. R. Bell said that his party was in favor of a minimum wage act but pointed out that the legislation had been brought before the House eight years ago. He could not understand why it was being introduced now unless it was for special purposes.

Premier Matheson said the problems relating to a minimum wage law were not easy and that careful study in regard to classification of employees would have to be taken into consideration before anything concrete could be arrived at.

Dr. MacMillan said: "I welcome this bill." He agreed that the matter had been introduced to the House some years ago when he himself was a member of the Committee. "We didn't do anything about it, because we had no money to do it with. That has always been our drawback — lack of revenue," he said.

"It is a pity that something is not being done before this Federal building gets into full swing," said John A. MacDonald. "Labor should be given to those who need it without consideration of political affiliations."

Hon. Eugene Cullen explained the reasons required for study of the legislation. He said it would be necessary to have standards of labor before a wage scale could be set, and that this would require considerable research.

Mr. Alan Stewart said he didn't like the comparison of farm labor with labor in general. When it was stated that there were only 6,000 farmers in the Province, he pointed out that the farmers' wives and children had not been taken into account.

William Acorn charged that labor had been exploited by outside contractors. As an instance he told of a firm which was building a wharf in Souris and before they could make them more he said the required rate, the Town Council has to enforce a by-law establishing a certain rate as the minimum.

Mr. J. Augustin Gallant, who is chairman of the committee, said that in this day and age the demands of the laboring man have increased more and more. As an example, he said, we are passing legislation for increased educational facilities. This requires more books and the whole thing comes back on the wage earner.

The difficulty, he felt, with farm labor was in the fact that these men are not eligible for unemployment insurance. Mr. Gallant said that if farm help could be covered by these benefits there would be less difficulty in securing help. He pledged his whole hearted support, as leader of the committee.

Summerside Y's Men's Meeting

At last night's regular weekly meeting of the Summerside Y's Men's Club, Ross MacKenzie, reporting for the nominating committee, brought in a list of names for club officers in the coming year. These to be voted upon in the club, scheduled for next week.

The list of nominees for club officers is as follows: president, Ralph MacFarlane, Frank Cameron, John Hopkirk, Harold Milligan. For secretary, Ken Walker, Wendell Muttart, Treasurer, John Ellis, Willard Hogg.

Roy Boates, in a partial report on the recent radio auction, told the members that net receipts totalled some $2,000, slightly below last year. This amount represents 62.2 percent of the total value of the goods sold. The lower net receipts were mainly due, he stated, to increased costs of operation this year. He told the members that a full report would be given at the annual business meeting next week.

The regular speaker for the evening, Dr. L. K. Zielenki, of Kensington, was introduced to the club by Charles Linkletter.

Dr. Zielenki, a native of Poland, told the club of his wartime experiences as a prisoner in a Russian slave camp in Siberia, and of events leading to his coming to Canada.

At the close of his talk the speaker was warmly thanked by Bill Harper on behalf of the club. Harold Rodd announced that all members of the club were present at the meeting, the fifth of this year. Guests present were F-O Mike Guley of the R.C.A.F., and James Peach of Summerside. Harold Milligan acted as finesmaster.

The different committees gave their reports and new ones were appointed.

It was decided that the members gather up their old woodlens to be sent to the woolen mill to be made into blankets.

Strong westerly gusts of wind and a heavy drift of snow continued all day yesterday in the West Prince area, and increased in intensity last night, filling in the main highways as quickly as they were ploughed out. Snow ploughs worked during the day and managed to keep traffic moving on the paved roads but driving conditions were very hazardous as swirling snow made visibility very poor in some sections, particularly the Rosebank area and in the vicinity of Elmsdale. An extra C.N.R. freight which came west in the afternoon found the going very heavy in some places.

The regular express last evening was accompanied by a snow plow.

East Prince Credit Union Chapter Meets

The monthly meeting of the East Prince Credit Union Chapter was held in Summerside on March 15th, when proposed radio broadcasts were discussed, and it was decided to proceed with a series of six weekly broadcasts.

These programs will deal with how the credit union idea developed, and a brief history of the credit union movement; organizing a credit union, and how a credit union operates; credit union insurance, what it is and how it works; how you can benefit from a credit union; and the credit union's place in the national economy.

A panel was appointed consisting of Keir Duggan of Trinity Credit Union, Fred Gallant of St. Paul's Credit Union, and George Chappel of Community Credit Union. Members of other Credit Unions will take part, and visitors are to be invited on the panels. Questions are to be solicited from the listening audience and answered on the program.

The second part of the meeting consisted of a discussion on "Duties and problems of the credit committee", with Fred Gallant as chairman. All delegates took an active part, and it was decided to hold the next chapter meeting on May 3rd.—S.
