

ROSES AND THORNS

It was a sunny afternoon in the autumn of 1981 as I made my way through the grassy field between Blanchard Hall and the rest of The University campus. Much to my surprise, the usually deserted field resembled a Rolling Stones concert. People were standing, sitting, squatting, bending and laying everywhere. As I got closer to this large group of people, I discovered, much to my surprise, that these people were picking from the hallowed campus the by then famous magic mushrooms.

Avenue, this conglomeration to reap the harvests of magic mushrooms reflects very badly on the entire University community. In a time when such a large shadow of doubt falls on universities everywhere, I urge you that we need all the credibility we can get. NUFF SAID!

I sincerely hope that as the first frosts of 1982 fall, these same crowds will not materialize in the fields of U.P.E.I. This is not a lecture on morals or the evils of one thing or another, but rather a word of caution. To the passerby the motorists on University BOUQUET OF THORNS: The members of the Junior Class who did not support their main event last Thursday.

Class President James Johnston tells me that attendance was poor and the Junior Class just barely got out of it with their shirts.

BOUQUET OF ROSES: Malcolm Reid, CIMN station manager and all the D.J.'s and slaves at CIMN. Good stuff coming over the airways people!

PANTHER NOTES:

- Ryans' Fancy and CBC put on a freebie at the Gym this week
- Soccer Panthers devastated their opponents to the tune of 5-0 and 6-0 over the past weekend. Nice going guys! - Long John Baldry will be at the Barn next week-get out and have a good time - Academic Awards night should be going on just shortly after this paper circulation on Thursday. Good to see these people recognized!

Hope I didn't bore you with my story this week, but that is just the way I feel. Have an enormous week!
