Hope For Export Credits Plan Is Seen At Meeting

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor
MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian exporters, long handicapped by being unable to give long-term credit to prospective foreign buyers, were given indications Wednesday that something may soon be done about their problem.

The indications came from several sources at meetings of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and at a press conference with the chamber's newly-elected officers.

At present exporters are pretty well confined to giving about five years' credit on purchases of capital goods, whereas foreign buyers ask—and can get from other countries—credit in the 15-year range.

They would like something that would give them about the same backing as the Export-Import Bank gives to American exporters.

CONVINCED OF NEED

John English, deputy minister of trade and commerce, when asked about the matter during a panel discussion on foreign trade, replied:

"I have personally been convinced for a long time of the need of something in the nature of long-term credit. The department has been giving close study to the matter for several years and it is still under study."

"I am hopeful that something may materialize before too long. I can't say what government policy will be, but the department regards such a development as most desirable."

A. C. Ashforth, newly-elected chamber president and president of Toronto-Dominion bank, said at the press conference:

"I wouldn't be surprised if within the next few months the government were in a position to make some announcement. Canadian companies in competition with the United States have lost out because of the facilities available to U.S. manufacturers."

No indication was given of what form the proposed action might take. It might be in the form of a government-formed corporation and it might be through a consortium of banks with government backing, or any one of a variety of such arrangements.

The general stand of banks who have expressed themselves on the matter is that they favor longer-term credit facilities, but that they are unable alone to shoulder the risk in such an international operation—even though the experience of other countries has, so far, been favorable.

In the press conference officials seemed to agree that business is on the upturn, though the unemployment outlook for next winter causes concern.

ATLANTIC GOING AHEAD
W. A. Scammell Case, executive vice-president of T. McAvilly and Sons, Ltd., Saint John, N.B., the chamber's first national vice-president, said:

Dr. Robert Frizzell Begins Medical Practice in Tignish

TIGNISH—Robert L. Frizzell, M.D., C.M., has recently begun the practice of medicine in Tignish. He succeeds Dr. Stephen Dubicancic who has moved to Montreal after serving this large area for a number of years.

Trial Of Gerald DesRoche Adjourned To October 20

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
The trial of Gerald William DesRoches, of Toronto, formerly of Days Corner, charged with theft of a safe and approximately $60 from the store of J. P. Gaudet, Richmond, on the night of Sept. 7, was continued in Magistrate's Court Summerside last evening. Mag. R. S. Hinton, Q.C., presided.

D. O. Stewart, Q.C., is crown prosecutor and J. Watson MacNaught is defence counsel.

Lawrence Power, Toronto is facing the same charge in connection with the theft, in which the safe is still missing.

Sgt. T. J. Keefe, RCMP, who was in charge of the investigation told of investigating the break at the Gaudet store on the morning of Sept. 8th, and later returned to Days Corner and searched the dwelling on what is known as the DesRoches property.

Sgt. Keefe stated that later that day he checked the trunk of a 1956 Dodge, two tone blue, bearing Ontario license (the accused drove this vehicle although it wasn't registered in the name of Lorne Power, Toronto) and found several items including a large plastic covering, two pieces of pipe with shiny marks around the circumference of one, a metal bar described as a coal chisel, two short pieces of two by four, spiked together with traces of green marks. (The safe was green in color) a piece of heavy canvas, a notched piece of wood with green marking on it, a rubber floor mat and a five dollar gold piece.

REMOVES WOOD
He told of removing two small pieces of wood bearing green markings from an L-shaped wooden framework that had been removed from the Gaudet store by Cpl. G. R. Humphrey of the identification section, this framework was built around the safe in the store.

Sgt. Keefe stated he took the two small pieces of wood taken from the framework in the store, and the notched piece and the spiked two by four piece found in the car trunk, to the RCMP crime detection laboratory in Sackville, N. B.

Cpl. G. R. Humphrey, who is in charge of the identification section "L" Division RCMP, identified photographs he had taken in the interior and exterior of the Gaudet store on the morning of Sept. 8th, as well as several photos he had taken of the trunk of the accused car.

He described the various items that were in the trunk when he took the photographs and told of taking the L-shaped wooden framework that had been built around the safe, to Charlotte-town for safe keeping. He also told of witnessing the two small pieces being removed from the framework by Sgt. Keefe.

S' Side Man Kills Moose Without Gun

SUMMERSIDE — Getting a moose is quite an accomplishment for any hunter, but getting it without a gun, and unintentionally, is doing it the hard way, as Norman Prichard of Summerside observed after surveying damage to the front of his truck which collided with a large moose which suddenly appeared on the highway in front of the truck near Port Elgin, N.B., late Tuesday night.

Mr. Prichard was en route to Cocagne, N.B., with a load of smelts from Summerside. In trying to dodge the animal while applying the truck brakes, Mr. Prichard was able to prevent serious damage to the truck, and was able to keep it from going off the highway, however the moose received injuries which required its dispatch by the RCMP who were notified of the accident by Mr. Prichard.
