WEDDING PLANS Chapter 34

Gloria Gates and her amazing clothes, her quiet appealing little son and the nurse in the strange costume, disappeared from Norris City and the gossip and speculation she had created in time disappeared. To Dora, she was a come of fame and red and gold that lashed for a moment across the leaden gray sky and left a trail of colorful memories behind it. She had seen her a few times at the farm, once at an evening party twice to talk with for an hour at the Innisley home. She was quick as a flash to repartee, brilliant she seemed to have read everything to have travelled everywhere, the sense of humor bubbled like a fresh spring of clear water. She was nervous, quick tempered, perhaps, a neurotic people are, but all the more vivid because of that. "She's wonderful," thought Dora. "She's everything I'm not. How could she like me?" Once she met Mrs. Innisley on the street, while she was doing errands in the town. The Innisley and the Nicholson's were in different "sets" principally because they attended different churches in small cities like this, religio makes almost as much social difference as it did in the Middle Ages.

"Gloria liked you so much, dear," Mrs. Innisley said in her sweet rich somewhat throaty voice. She beamed upon the girl hunched up in the carriage, talked, a little morbid and walked on. Her smile was a richly honey sweet as her voice. At 65 or so she was as active mentally and physically as she had ever been; she adored her bachelor son, and used him with an iron rod—and went to Wild West movies with him whenever he grew restless. Dora drove home less lonely someone liked her. "Being liked is such a precious thing," she wrote that night in her diary, "that I should be content with only that—but being liked being given a very little or to thing one wants in life makes one selfish. I want to see the person that likes me now, at least I want to hear from her." She gathered her courage, she sent a note to Gloria. She dare not write simply for the sake of writing—some few things had been overlooked in the house, she would pack and send them. After some time she got back a letter, dictated to Mrs. Gates' secretary—but a line of the chilling business like epistle was scrawled in large letters across the page. "Thanks so much I hope you are well and happy. You are my dearest memory of Norris City." Gloria had that divine gift of taking life from a formal letter to a formal situation of sending her generous personality across a distance. Meantime a curious change had come over Gladys. If she had done the courting rather violently, she kept up the devotion during the

Grandma Used Sage Tea to Darken Hair

TO RESTORE COLOR, GLOSS, YOUTHFULNESS

SHE MIXED SULPHUR WITH IT

Common garden sage brewed in a hot tea with sulphur added will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is faded, streaked or gray. Mix the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though it is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

Of Interest to All Auto Owners

Efficiency in lubricating form was shown by Imperial Oil Limited, this week at the Halifax Motor Show. Every style of package car trade made require was shown containing Polarines and Mobiloids the two largest auto lubricating oil sellers in America. Over a million barrels of Polarines were sold by three oil companies alone in the United States last year and practically everyone is aware of the popularity of the Mobiloids. Imperial Oil Limited, by virtue of its refineries in Canada manufacture Polarine from selected grades, and in this way are able to supply this popular oil to the Canadian motorist minus the duty and other high import charges. The placards at the Imperial Oil limited booth show this company own their own oil wells, their own pipe lines, refineries, tank steamers, tank cars, tank wagons, storage tanks, etc. They have five refineries in Canada, and patronizing his company means spending your money for Canadian made goods. Employees by the way being stockholders in the company throughout Canada by virtue of the general investment cooperative plan of the company. Their bulk oil and gasoline stations belt the province wherever all connections reach and we are advised these stations and distributing facilities have saved the rate and oil and gasoline consumers of the province of Nova Scotia upwards of seventy five thousand dollars per annum. While not gaudy or showy, the Imperial Oil Limited exhibit of its and greases was one of the most substantial ever shown here. Friction reduction is a specialty of this company, as all oils are specially prepared and tested before being placed on the market. But whenever Gladys looked at Dora something soured in her. She hated Dora, because of all the boys she knew, he alone did not "want" her. She wanted him, doubtless, because of his frequent spell of indifference. She was afraid that the last moment he would somehow, run away. She managed to set the wedding a week ahead and one day announced suddenly, "I want to go back to our other house. It's too inconvenient out here." "But I can't be spared from her. I'm needed to look after the farm." "Leave Dora here then," Gladys answered.

BRANDON IS BADLY FLOODED

BRANDON, May 6.—About 185 houses scattered over an area of two square miles, have been vacated by families forced to leave their homes and most of their effects owing to the flood which completely covers the flats from one end of the city to the other, north of the racks and spreads across the fields, in many places to the foot of the hills north of the city. No further rise in the Assiniboine river has been reported since noon, but a slight rise is probable Saturday morning.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Weeks and family.

Dear friends.—On behalf of the members of Refuge Division No. 41 S. of T. Fredericton, we decide to convey to you and your family our deepest sympathy in the great sorrow that has come to you through the death of your dear son who was also our much beloved brother in our Division.

Death seems hard at all times and particularly so when it comes to be just on the threshold of manhood with all its opportunities, but behind this gloomy thought there comes a ray of comfort when we know that our Heavenly Father called him home in His own season and that he is now happy in the new life. We realize that words of ours cannot soften the dull aching of your heart but we would like you to know that the Brothers and sisters of our Fraternity remember you and pray that your cross may not be greater than you can bear and in obedience to the divine principle of our Order which bids us "weep with them that weep" would mingle our tears with yours in this hour of mourning.

Signed in the principles of L. P. and F.

AGNES ARTHUR, LOLITA WEEKS, FRANK CUTCLIFFE, Fredericton, P. E. Island.

DUNSTAFFNAGE CHEESE AND BUTTER COMPANY

A meeting of the directors of the Dunstaffnage Cheese and Butter Co. was recently held at the creamery for the purpose of looking over the tenders received from persons willing to enter into a contract with the said directors for the purpose of collecting and hauling cream in the different "outlets" during the season of A. D. 1922, to the said creamery and also to consider other matters in connection with the successful operating of the said creamery. One of the questions under consideration was the grading of cream and butter and the very great care of cream by patrons in order to produce the very best quality of grade of butter and also to be in a position to pay the highest possible price for butter fat. The competition in the markets of the world is becoming keener and greater each year. It is therefore considered a matter of the very greatest importance to the dairy industry and the manufacture of the highest and best grade of butter that cream should be very carefully looked after by the patrons; kept sweet and well flavored. It was also considered necessary

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Dear Brother:—In behalf of the sisters and brothers of Heath L. P. B. A. No. 366 we wish to extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in the death of your dearly beloved father who has been called home.

Realizing however that mere words of sympathy can bring to you but small comfort, we direct you to Him who is at all times an ever present help in time of trouble.

It must be a comfort to you to remember that your father by his many virtues endeared himself to a large circle of friends who now mourn his death.

To the other members of the family we extend our sincere sympathy in this time of extreme sorrow and pray that the God of all patience to whose loving and eternal presence your father has gone be ever near and bring you consolation.
