

Royal Couple Aloof From British Press

LONDON (AP) — The Queen and Prince Philip are not likely to hold press conferences now that they're home.

"The difficulties would be enormous," said a Buckingham Palace official.

Scored the London Star: "The only difference would be the extra work for the palace staff in sending out the invitation cards."

The palace explained that it is much easier for the royal couple to give a press reception overseas than it is in the United Kingdom.

"The Queen gives a press reception abroad," it gave the visit to 2,000 journalists covering the 1,500 a glimpse of her."

SAME ALOOFNESS

When the Queen—who met the press in Ottawa and Washington—arrived back in London Tuesday it was plain that official aloofness from the British press was unchanged.

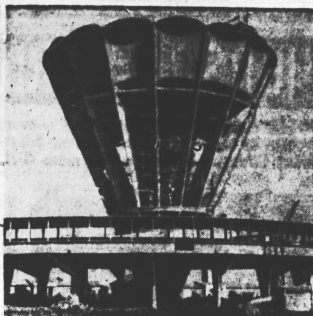

Scores of reporters and photographers witnessed her arrival from behind steel and wire barricades.

"I asked them from putting a request for an airport press conference to the Queen's press officer, Cmdr. Robert Colville. Stung by the contrast in the treatment of the American press and the British press," the Daily Herald said.

"Set the Queen free," said protesters that the Queen's advice.

U. S. Navy Says New Weapon Very Accurate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy reported Wednesday that its sidewinder air-to-air missile is so accurate it can shoot a flare off the wing of a drone target plane in the sky. In warfare, this would be the hot engine on an enemy aircraft.

In a navy accuracy test the sidewinder, fired at a target plane bearing a flare pot on one wing, sought out not merely the drone aircraft itself but the flare coming from the mouth of the flare pot. Other details of the test were not given.

Named after the deadly desert rattlesnake, the sidewinder is operational aboard aircraft of the

Pearson Suggests Putting U. N. Troops Into Border

OTTAWA (CP) — L. B. Pearson suggested in the Commons Tuesday that deployment of United Nations Emergency Force troops along the Syrian-Turkish border be considered at the UN.

The former external affairs minister, now in opposition, asked the government to consider instructing the Canadian UN delegation to explore with other UN members the possibility of doing this "in the interests of avoiding aggression."

He said the situation along the Syrian-Turkish border is tense and dangerous.

Mr. Pearson's proposal was made during the new session of the Commons Tuesday, which began Monday. Mr. Pearson was the Member of Parliament who proposed the UN Emergency Force in the Suez dispute. Canadian troops are part of the force, whose main job now is to patrol the Sinai Desert along the Egyptian-Israeli border.

The present border dispute between Turkey and Syria is of concern to Canada because Turkey is one of this country's NATO allies. The NATO charter says that an attack on one member of the alliance will be considered an attack on all.

Gaza Refugees Not Starved

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Experts have found "no obvious signs of progressive malnutrition" among refugees in Egypt's Gaza Strip, a UN Middle East official said here Wednesday.

He was commenting on a report from Egypt that Gen. Hassan Abdol Latif, Egyptian governor of the Gaza Strip, had criticized a UN agency sharply for meagre support given the refugees.

The UN Relief and Work Agency cares for more than 30,000 refugees in the strip.

The UN official said that experts of the World Health Organization have conducted a continuing study in Gaza and found that the refugees "do not show any apparent signs of progressive malnutrition."

The official added, however, that each refugee now gets a food equivalent of only 1,600 calories a day. Normal is 2,500 calories.

It would cost $1,000,000 to increase the food supply by 100 per cent, he said.

Trade Switch Called Negative

By FORBES RHUDE, Canadian Press Business Editor

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) — Current suggestions that Canada should drop 15 per cent of her purchases from the United States in the United Kingdom were described as "a negative approach" at Tuesday's session of the convention of the Canadian Exporters Association.

The "negative" tab was applied by D. B. Gillespie of Montreal, an association past president, at least as far as solving Canada's adverse trade balance with the United States is concerned.

"Rather," said Mr. Gillespie, "we should bend our efforts to exporting 15 per cent more to the United States and to removing roadblocks that lie in the way of such expansion."

INCLUDE PREMIUM

In a discussion of the current premium on the Canadian dollar, K. Highmore, head of the foreign exchange department of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, said that while the premium would average out at about three per cent over the coming year, it would average 15 per cent in the United States and to removing roadblocks that lie in the way of such expansion.

Foreign investment in Canada might not remain at current levels, but nevertheless indications were that a premium would remain on the Canadian dollar for some time yet.

J. S. Vanderploeg of Toronto, referring to a collection of premium, said that while the premium was an overall handicap to Canadian exporters, the handicap was not as great as it might appear. As compensation it reduced the price in Canadian dollars of materials priced in world or American funds.
