The Transvaal War

BRITAIN'S GREAT GENERAL.

Since Lord Roberts assumed control of British destiny in South Africa there have been many attempts to delineate, for the benefit of the public, his personal characteristics and his doings at the front. None has so pleased the brilliant sketch of the field-marshal which Julian Ralph contributed to the "Daily Mail."

For a picturesque description of the man whose actions daily rivet the world's attention, it is unequalled. Mr. Ralph says:—

"The first time the correspondents saw him was at a railway car window at Modder River. He sent for them and addressed them as one who speaks to friends. It seemed to them that he lifted every disability and brushed away every limitation which had hampered and almost crippled them in their work up to that time. They were to write what they pleased, he said, and this was not to be censored. Only their telegrams would be scrutinized. They were to go wherever he went, wherever they were to go.

HIS STRONG FACE.

"To me his face suggests the front of a granite mountain, seamed, lined, battered by storms, strain and racking change. It records acquaintance with every trial to which mortals are put, all suffered in the solitude of undivided responsibility. Care, worry, sickness, danger, unceasing reflection, all had left their marks there, yet all were written across a gentle, sympathetic countenance, never gay or merry, yet seldom stern, and wholly ignorant of passion. I have known many great faces but that of Lord Roberts is a face apart. I fancy that, in the minds of their worshippers, some of the superior gods of the old mythologies had faces like his.

"He dresses in serge khaki, which, plain as that always must be, he renders more plain by ridding it of all orders and decorations. There are men on his staff—there was even an American newspaper reporter with one of the armies—who wear a line and a half of ribbons. But the chief, who is entitled to perhaps four lines, appears every day, for every duty and function, with a tunic as bare of decorations as that of any civilian. He is so neat and precise in his dress that I suspect he must have been a dandy in earlier life. He is quick and nervous in his movement, and his constant habit is to thrust either one or both hands under his belt—a practice which makes it easy for artists to familiarize his figure with the public.

"He is instantaneous and direct in conversation, and goes as straight to the point in view as a well aimed bullet to a target. I have noticed that when he meets new people he advances toward them eagerly, listens intently, and in three minutes either engages the new acquaintance in earnest conversation or has done with him with a decisive nod of parting. With the army in South Africa his headquarters to a court—almost as if he were a part of the royalty he represents. You do not call upon him. You sign your name in a book, and he sends for you later if he wants to see you. It may be a duke whom you find in the salle of the residency—as it was in my case—and who offers the register for you to sign.

WORKS CONTINUOUSLY.

"The field marshal works continuously, and to do so has to be free from interruption; therefore visitors meet him only at lunch or dinner. In Bloemfontein, where he was living between walls, his table was a small one, standing a few feet from the head of the large, long table, at which sat his staff—his ponderous, impressive staff of distinguished men of the aristocracy. You dined with 'Bobs' in khaki, of course, at his small table—if you were highly honored, or you may dine with his staff and be presented to him after the meal for as long or brief an interview as he pleases. That is precisely the amount and extent of state about his surroundings. But all state vanishes when you touch the hand of the little man and talk with him about the two subjects which engross him—the war around him and politics at home.

"Lord Roberts never smokes tobacco, and with drink he has little to do. A glass of wine with two of the three meals suffices for him. He preaches temperance to his soldiers, and they all know that he shows no patience with those who drink to excess. He presides at meetings of the Army Temperance association and extols sobriety, but, like all broad-minded men, he refrains from advocating the impossible—one form of which is total abstinence. He has never been known to use an oath, and, indeed, there must be comparatively few men whose religion influences them so deeply as does his every affair of life. He never parades his piety, never forces it upon those around him. Yet on every Sunday since he joined his army he has attended divine service. Not a word has he ever spoken to his staff suggesting or ordering their presence—yet he is certain to attend the weekly service—an example to the army so modestly and so persistently presented that it cannot help but be powerful.

HIS SIMPLE FAITH.

"When he took the sacrament at Driefontein the other day, in the face, one might say, of the whole army, it was without a hint of the parading of religion. All saw in it an act of simple faith. It is almost as hard to reconcile his gentleness and sympathy with the firm—sometimes stern—course which a general so supreme in command, and at the head of so large an army must often have to follow. I have asked many of his friends how he can be both sorts of men at once—how he can possess traits which we imagine must war with one another.

"He does possess them, that's all," is the best answer I got. "I don't know how, but he does."

He Walked The Floor

In Agony With Pains in the Back—Sleep Impossible—Medicine of no Avail Until He got Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Patrick J. McLaughlin, Beauharnois, Que., states:—"I was troubled with Kidney Disease and Dyspepsia for 20 years and have been so bad that I could not sleep at nights on account of pains in the back, but would walk the floor all night and suffered terrible agony.

"I tried all sorts of medicines but got no relief until I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They made a new man of me, and the old troubles seem to be driven out of my system."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have an enormous sale and owe their popularity to the fact that they can be absolutely relied upon to cure all ailments of the kidneys, liver, and stomach. They are purely vegetable in composition, prompt and effective in action, and cure permanently. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co, Toronto.

THE WHEELS OF LIFE.

Made to Run Smoothly and Pleasantly by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

There is no Other Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion and all other Stomach Troubles—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Never Fail.

Wheels! Wheel! All the world on wheels! Everyone, men, women, and children, are talking "wheel talk." These paragraphs are a short talk on wheels also—but on the most important kind—the WHEELS OF LIFE.

The wheels of life must run smoothly, if we are to live as it was intended we should. There must be no breaks, no snapping of chains, no worn bolts, no weak spots. If there are, we pay the penalty in pain.

The wheels of life cannot run smoothly if you have Dyspepsia. It's like trying to ride a bicycle with a punctured tire, or broken bearings. If your tire has been punctured, you mend it. In many cases, if you have Dyspepsia or Indigestion, you don't heed it. As time goes on, it grows worse and worse, until, at last, it wrecks your health completely. Then you spend hundreds of dollars in trying to cure it, when you might, if you had taken it in time, have cured it quickly and easily, for a dollar or two.

The only way you can cure Dyspepsia satisfactorily and permanently, no matter what stage it may be in, is by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure all Stomach Diseases. This is a simple statement of an incontrovertible fact. It cannot be disproved. But it can be easily and quickly proved by the use of the Tablets. If you have Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Heartburn, or any other stomach trouble, buy a box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and use them according to directions. They'll cure you.
