the starting lineup for the first time in four days after suffering a leg injury, singled to left, driving in McDougald.

With two runs across the plate and two men on, manager Walter Alton let Spooner stay in to pitch to Bill Skowron.

While Berra, Bauer and Skowron trooped across to make it 5-0, Alton went out to get Spooner.

NICE FIELDING HELPS

Ford never got into too much trouble. When he did, fine defensive work by McDougald and Joe Collins lifted him out of danger.

Brooklyn ruined the 26-year-old New Yorker's shutout in the fourth when Pee Wee Reese singled.

With one run in and men on first and second and only one out, Ford was in his deepest jam.

NOMER RECORD TIED

Meyer's work was outstanding for a pitcher who has been called the "dragster" man of the series.

Two double plays, one by each club, lifted the two teams to a series record of 17, one more than Cincinnati and Chicago.

Casey Stengel Confident; Will Start Byrne Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY NEW YORK (AP)—"We're home and we're confident," boomed Casey Stengel Monday, throwing down the gauntlet to Brooklyn Dodgers for the seventh and deciding game of the world series.

Yankees Favored To Win 7-to-5

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees are 7-to-5 favorites to win their 21st world series in today's seventh game with Brooklyn at Yankee Stadium.

Football Statistics

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Al Pfeifer, Toronto Argonauts' import end from Fordham University, jumped from seventh place to third in the Big Four football scoring race with an 18-point performance last week-end.

Statistics compiled by the Canadian Press show the 26-year-old Pfeifer with 38 points, just over Bob Cerv's 37 points.

The Brook righthander, who appeared in the series as long ago as 1950 with Philadelphia Phillies, gave up only four hits in 5 2-3 innings.

With Duke Snider on the sidelines with a "popped" knee, Alton must know how Yank manager Casey Stengel feels operating without Mickey Mantle, his No. 1 boy.

Bill Skowron, incidentally, must have wondered what a fellow has to do to stay in the game. His home run in the first with two on was the big blow in the Yank victory, but Stengel sent Joe Collins in to pinch hit for him in the fifth.

That's how close Stengel plays the percentages, Meyer, a righthander, was pitching when Skowron was slated to bat in the fifth. Skowron bats right but Collins is a lefthanded hitter.

It's not like Brooklyn in the early part of the series. "I can't go with Ford Tuesday. I mean Byrne has pitched the best of anybody up to date."

Ford, finishing his first world series game in five starts, set the Dodgers down with four hits to knot the series at three games each.

"I thought he pitched beautiful ball," Casey said. "He had his curve working well and he was throwing in that fast ball at just the right time."

"He didn't have any scary moments but I wasn't taking any chances. We decided to win this game if we had to throw every pitcher on our roster at them."

"That hit by Skowron in the first inning (Bill Skowron's three-run homer) was just what the doctor ordered. We had no intention of losing that lead."

JUST IN CASE Stengel kept Bob Turley, Don Larsen and Tom Morgan throwing in the bullpen, just in case Ford would falter.

Stengel said that he probably wouldn't make many changes in his lineup with the Dodgers pitching Johnny Podres Tuesday.

"I think our lefthanders can hit him as well as our righthanders," he added. "I'll use Hank Bauer again if he feels okay, probably Bob Cerv in centre and (Elston Howard) in left. I may have Bill Skowron at first base."

Ford was the centre of attraction in the Yankee dressing room. "I'm just sorry my wife couldn't be here to see the game," he said. "She couldn't get a baby sitter. They have three children."

RELIED ON HIS CURVE Ford said he thought his curve was his best pitch. He added that as each inning came he decided to "stay loose and try to remain calm."

Billy Martin, Yankee second baseman, said the Dodgers were lost in Yankee Stadium. "They don't look like the same ball club in Yankee Stadium, a real ball park," Billy said. "They have to have those short leftfield fences for their righthanded batting power."

"I think we've got 'em on the run."

FOUR HITS EACH In the second game, Merritt and McCarthy came back for mound chores and went the distance, giving up four hits each.

Hum Joseph hit the only homer of the two games in the fifth with none aboard for Bible Hill.

Gordon was sensational at third base after switching with Merritt in the first inning. Bible Hill's Joe Fraser turned in a sparkling game in the outfield with several one-hand catches that prevented Sydney Mines runs.

Bible Hill now meets Bathurst, N.B., for the Maritime crown.

Bible Hill Wins NS Intermediate Baseball Title

TRURO (CP)—Bible Hill won the Nova Scotia Intermediate Baseball title Monday with a 5-1 victory over Sydney Mines in the deciding game of their best-of-three series.

Sydney Mines won the second game here 13-0 earlier in the day to even the series after a Bible Hill win in Sydney Mines last week.

Sydney Mines jumped Bible Hill starter Ron McCormick early in the opening game, scoring six runs in the first inning. But the Bible Hill squad came back with four runs in their half of the inning as they knocked Russ Gordon from the mound with none out.

Bill Merritt relieved Gordon and finished. Joe McCarthy replaced McCormick in the ninth.

ing and a host of other details. In addition one of these men has been responsible for arranging the league with its attendant schedule.

Funds were made available for the recent trip to New Glasgow. This seems to be quite a handful for two men and yet they seem happy to be of service.

Here we have a purely amateur sport, played by working men and college students for the love of the game. Expenses are minimized and no charges for any services are made. There are many old players in Charlottetown who know the magnetism of the game and who are looking forward to being able to see a game on almost every Saturday this season.

Let us get behind this little band of sportsmen. They have no sponsors and are our representatives in a new league which has literally been born in this city. Could some of the old players head up a supporters club for the team? They lost a heartbreaker last Saturday by just one point. The coach and manager should be relieved of some of their worries so that they may concentrate in making the most of the team. It would give

World Series Notes

Yankee stadium. Standing room seats still were being sold when the game started. In Ebbets Field Sunday, they slammed even the standing room booths long before the game got under way.

The fact that the series is going seven games probably will enable Brooklyn stockholders to get a dividend for the year. The players don't share in the receipts after the first four games. A winning share for the Brooks would amount to about $8,600, while a winning share for each Yank would be about $7,650.

Now Dodger owner Walter O'Malley can change his clothes. He's been wearing the same thing since his team started winning Friday.

The Dodgers made one good guess for the day—they didn't order champagne, traditional toast of the winning team, for their dressing room.

TWO YEARS FOR STABBING OTTAWA (CP)—Lorenzo Goulet, 54, Wednesday was sentenced to two years in reformatory for stabbing and seriously wounding his landlord July 17. Evidence was that Goulet insulted dinner guests of 55-year-old Romeo Valiquette, later got into an argument with the landlord and stabbed him. Valiquette recovered.
