PANAMAIANS DENOUNCE TREATY New Fighting Reported From Panama Canal Zone

PANAMA CITY (AP)—Fighting flared again Friday between U.S. soldiers and Panamanians near the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone and as the toll of dead and wounded mounted past the 300 mark. American embassy personnel cleared out of their offices here.

Panama suspended relations with Washington, denounced the treaty under which the United States operates the zone and carried its charges of aggression to the United Nations and the Organization of American States.

Seven Panamanians and three U.S. soldiers were killed and 150 Panamanians and 34 U.S. soldiers were wounded Thursday night. Before the fighting tapered off Friday five more Panamanians were killed and 15 U.S. soldiers and 96 Panamanians were wounded.

President Johnson struggled to end the first grave crisis of his U.S. administration with a telephone call to Panama's acting president, but tensions were short and violence still threatened.

Carl Davis, U.S. embassy public affairs officer, said secret documents were burned and all American personnel were evacuated from the zone. The embassy's office building when reports were received that mobs were about to storm the embassy.

President Roberto Chiari addressed a brief speech to the Panamanian people, telling them he had talked by telephone with U.S. President Johnson and the latter had decided to send a mission here.

Chiari urged the people to remain calm and not to listen to "demagogic incitement by certain elements."

Immediately after Chiari spoke his press secretary, Panama Vargas, went on the air to announce that Panama has formally denounced its treaty with the U.S. regarding the Canal Zone. He said relations with the U.S. will remain suspended until a revision is formally undertaken.

Four-Year-Old Spreads Alarm Of Axe Murders

SASKATOON (CP)—A four-year-old boy next door to the alarm after their mother and sister were clubbed to death in an axe in their home Thursday.

Mrs. Margaret Worum, 38, and Mrs. Patricia Littlechild, 17, were slain in their home on Dale, 7, in a serious condition in hospital with multiple lacerations.

Donald Wood, 4, Mrs. Littlechild's son, 1½, and a female relative, Mrs. Worum, 17, were in the house at the time the axe was used. A man was taken into custody 1½ hours later and was being questioned by police.

Donald dashed through the door of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Worum when word of the tragedy.

Donald told the Cupstones all the people over at his home were being killed with an axe. He said he hid under a table and a girl named Betty was with you. You should go next door. Mommy got chopped with an axe. He killed my mommy, Pat and Dale."

Goldwater Presse Probe Of Alleged Missile Gap

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Barry Goldwater asked Friday for a full-scale investigation of what he called a dependability gap in U.S. long-range missile force.

Refusing to back down on his statement that "our intercontinental missiles are not dependable," the Arizona Republican pressed a controversy that had developed because of the missile-gap controversy of the 1960 U.S. presidential election.

"If I am proven wrong I will be very pleased and happy to be proved wrong," but if there is a lack of dependability I do not believe the American people should be lulled into a false feeling of security by numbers and statistics."

Goldwater, asserting he probably would "catch hell" for doing so, raised the issue at a press conference in Portsmouth, N.H., Thursday while campaigning for the Republican party's presidential nomination for the November U.S. election.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara promptly issued a statement accusing the senator of damaging U.S. security with what McNamara called a completely misleading and politically irresponsible reference to the country's intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Goldwater said in his statement Friday: "It seems strange to me that the secretary of defense would call a dependability gap a political issue when the missile gap, so profusely used in the 1960 campaign, was so considered by his present associates. And it was a gap, by the way, that never existed, as the secretary and his associates well know."

In the 1960 campaign, while the Republicans were in power, Democrats charged that the Russians had been permitted to force ahead of the United States a race to develop long-range missiles.

Goldwater called for hearings by the Senate preprepared subcommittee, of which he is a member.

"The matters we are talking about are too important to be hidden behind names," said the Arizona said. "That is why I am asking for a full-scale probe of the situation. And that is why I shall not retract or qualify my statement or my intention to work for a meaningful strengthening of our nation's defenses."

Major-general in the U.S. air force reserve, Goldwater said that "while there is a dependability gap, I do not believe that we are in a situation in which crews are thousands waiting for a cloudy day, are able to launch orbital vehicles with fine precision."

Retiring after some 33 years of service in the federal Department of Public Works, Eves H. Anderson of Morell and Charlottetown was honored last night by members of the department during a reception in the ward room of HMCS Queen Charlotte. Mr. Anderson has been the inspector of dredges for the past several years. Shown here at the reception are from left to right: Jack MacComox, Charlottetown, Captain of Dredge No. 25, Robert Nicholson, Charlottetown; Freeman Webster, Sherwood, who is replacing Mr. Anderson; Mr. Anderson, and Bruce MacLennan, Charlottetown, district engineer of the department.

Mr. Pickersgill said the Atlantic Development Board, which administers the fund, also has recommended in principle federal aid for a hydro power project at Bay d'Espoir, Nfld., and specific recommendations for assistance are expected "within the next month or so."

The New Brunswick project involves a dam 110 feet high, 14 miles upstream from Fredericton on the Saint John River. Total cost is estimated at around $100,000,000.

Six power units, to be installed between 1968 and 1976, will produce a capacity 500,000 kilowatts.

Mr. Pickersgill's statement said the $20,000,000 grant "will significantly reduce the cost of power generated at Mactaquac."

"The effect of this lower cost will be reflected throughout the power system of the province. This will enable the commission to provide cheaper power to industrial consumers, which will serve to stimulate industrial development and increase long-term employment and income levels."

It is said the Atlantic Development Board considers the availability of reasonably cheap power "one of the essential elements in the economic development of the Atlantic region."

The assistance of the U.S. government is the first major grant from the Atlantic development fund, which was approved at the same time that the Liberal government amended the switched to the American-built, supersonic Voodoo from the subsonic CF-101, built by AVRO Aircraft Limited, Toronto. The number of home defence squadron was reduced to five from seven. There had been two CF-101 squadrons each at Ottawa, North Bay, Baginville and St. Hubert, Que., and one at Comox.

REJECTED REQUEST
The RCAP received 60 Voodoes in 1961. Mr. Hellyer, after becoming defence minister last April, turned down the air force's request for more Voodoes, which have gone out of production in the United States.

When he announced this rejection, he indicated the number of Voodoo squadrons would have to be reduced.

However, action on this was not expected so soon.

The Voodoo now is armed with the Falcon missile, a conventional air-to-air missile. Once the Voodoes have been replaced by the new aircraft the number of home defence squadrons will be increased to five.

The consolidation of home air defence in three squadrons instead of five will involve increasing the number of aircraft and crews in the squadrons at Baginville and Chatham.

Mr. Carlin said nuclear warheads for the Voodoes at Comox "will remain as is," Mr. Carlin said. "The number of small arms of aircraft will be used to form a reserve."

The five existing squadrons now have approximately 12 planes each. A number have been lost in crashes.

The air force spokesman declined to say how many planes will be added to the Baginville and Chatham squadrons. He also declined to say how many planes would be held in reserve.
