IN MEMORIAM

MCCORMACK — In loving memory of our mother, Annie, Mrs. Danice McCormack, who departed this life, May 25th, 1961.

One year ago today, dear mom,
God came and took you to his home.
It broke our hearts to see you go,
You were our mom and we loved you so.
But, mom, we know you're happy there,
Free from this world's sorrow and care.
And when our life on earth is o'er,
We'll meet again, to part no more.

Lovingly remembered by Kit, Wal and grandchildren.

ARBING — In loving memory of my husband, Louis H. Arbing, who passed away May 26th, 1961.

This day I do remember,
And loving thoughts I give
To one no longer with me
But in my heart still lives.

Always remembered and sadly missed by his wife "Alice"

MURPHY — In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Murphy, South Shore, who departed this life May 16th, 1945, and May 23rd, 1958.

Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by.
In our hearts a memory is kept,
Of one we loved and never forget.

Lovingly remembered by the family.

MacKENZIE — In loving memory of my husband George L. MacKenzie, French River, who passed away May 25th, 1959.

I think of you in silence
No eyes can see me weep,
But still within my aching heart
Your memory I will keep.
A light from my household is gone,
A voice I loved is stilled.
A place made vacant in my home
Which never can be filled.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife Janey.

Artist Outlines Reason For Break With Council

By JACQUES TREPANIER

MONTREAL (CP) — Alfred Pellan, one of Canada's best-known artists, has definite ideas about what a painting should look like—ideas that have led to his resignation from the Quebec Arts Council.

Himself the first recipient of a Quebec government bursary to study art in Paris, Pellan quit the 28-member body that recommends similar scholarships for young Quebec artists, musicians and writers.

He elaborated on the "personal reasons" behind the decision in the attic studio of his century-old home in suburban Ste. Rose.

Although he admits to the surrealist influence of Picasso on his own work, Pellan has no liking for abstract or non-figurative painting.

"As far as I am concerned, non-figurative art is a blind alley. Worse than that, it's a provocation.

"Whenever I look at a non-figurative canvas, I feel the urge to complete the work."

YOUNG ARE STRIVING

Art was decadent the world over. However, young artists were not to blame for trying to do "something new."

"What I don't like is the painter who scorns figurative art. Non-figurative art is too premature."

Pellan's own work has won him recognition in many parts of the world. He has captured numerous prizes and distinctions in the capitals of Europe and has exhibited widely in Canada, the United States and South America.

Born in Quebec City, the painter graduated from L'Ecole des Beaux Arts in 1920 after five years' study. In his senior courses, he carried off first prize medals for painting, design, sculpture, sketching, advertising and anatomy.

His government bursary provided for a stay in Paris from 1926 to 1930, but he stayed until 1940.

Returning to Canada, he taught painting at Montreal's Beaux Arts school until 1952, then returned to Paris on a three - year bursary from the Royal Society of Canada.

HIGHLY REGARDED

His friend and contemporary, Robert LaPalme—now cartoonist for Montreal Le Nouveau Journal — describes Pellan as "the greatest artist Canada has ever produced."

"Since he returned to Montreal in 1940, the history of painting in Canada can be divided into two periods—before and after Pellan."

Presenting the arts council side of the story, a high government official who asked that he not be identified said Pellan had no reason to reproach the arts council in submitting his resignation.

He added that Pellan has certain distinct inclinations in art that he has expressed with considerable talent but that his figurative inclinations clashed with the non-figurative ones of certain council members. For that reason, the official said, he preferred to resign rather than continue in the company of those who don't share his ideas.

Pellan now is working on several murals commissioned by a Montreal architect. When they are finished, he plans to return to his regular painting.

"I have about 200 canvases to complete," he said. "I won't move a step from here this summer. There's plenty of work ahead of me."

Diefenbaker To Unveil Confederation Platform

By DAVE McINTOSH

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said here he will unveil his "Confederation platform" during the rest of the election campaign.

The platform, he said, is aimed at "completion of Confederation" for Canada's 100th birthday in 1967.

The prime minister also said that what the public opinion polls say and what the voters say "are as far apart as the poles." The reference was to polls showing the Liberals ahead in the June 18 election campaign.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke to a standing-room-only gathering of about 800 persons in a hall in a shopping centre in Etobicoke township.

Mr. Diefenbaker later held a press conference in his downtown hotel and said Canada will admit 100 refugee families from Hong Kong and also provide food and relief assistance for refugees in the British colonly.

TALKS OF PIPELINE

The prime minister also said in reply to a question that Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton hadn't meant to go further than he (Mr. Diefenbaker) had in a statement concerning a second transcontinental pipeline.

Mr. Hamilton was quoted last week as saying a second pipeline would "definitely" be built in the next few years.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had seen this report but that Mr. Hamilton hadn't gone beyond the "hope or expectation" he himself had expressed in his original statement at London, Ont.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that up to this point in the campaign, he has been answering the opposition charge that the Conservatives have not carried out their 1957-58 election promises. This opposition argument now was "dead as a dodo."

The Liberal answer to the old-age pensioners, veterans, ethnic groups and farmers had been "no" when they were in office.

Now Liberal promises would mean a deficit of $2,200,000,000 if they took office again. They would also mean a tax increase of 47½ per cent, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The prime minister said his program would assure strengthened "Canadianism" by 1967. The Conservatives would build on foundations they had already laid.
