LIEUT. WALTER CONRAD & BRIDE

Guard Of Honor Formed At Military Wedding

In a colorful military summer wedding at Knox United Church, London, Ontario, wedding vows were exchanged by Jacqueline May Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lucas Newton, London, Ontario, and Lieutenant Walter Lantz Conrad, of Camp Borden, son of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Frank Benjamin Conrad, Charlottetown, P.E.I. The Rev. Dr. George W. Moore officiated. The Earle Terry Singers, of which the bride was a member, provided the wedding music accompanied by Mr. Terry. The bride wore a floor-length gown of heavy corded silk, fashioned on empire lines with short sleeves and chapel train. The panelled skirt was appliqued with flowers and pearl sequins and two flating panels at the back, similarly embroidered, accented the train. The applique accent was repeated at the bateau neckline. A tiny pearl and sequined tiara held her French illusion fingertip veil and she carried white gardenias and stephanotis. Ensembles in soft shrimp shade were worn by the bride's attendants, Miss Sheila Jane MacKenzie, as maid of honor; Mrs. William A. Ferguson and Mrs. Robert E. McGirr, sister of the groom, Leamington, Ontario, as bridesmaids. Sheron Nichols was flower girl in a white gown and Douglas Nicholls, also in white, was ring bearer. Lt. John Stopford was best man and ushers were Lt. William A. Ferguson, Lt. C. Robert Parkinson, Lt. Charles C. Ferguson and Lt. Edward J. Bryant. All wore full dress blues. For travelling, the bride wore a navy shantung sheath dress and jacket with white accessories. The couple will live in Barrie. The bride is a graduate of London Teachers' College and the groom is a graduate of Royal Military College and Queen's University, Kingston. Six swordsmen, in full dress blues, formed a guard of honor for the wedding party as they left the church. They were: Lt. S. J. Cote, Lt. A. T. Hawkins, Lt. D. P. Thornton, Lt. R. J. Brown, Lt. R. R. Marvin and Lt. J. L. Smith, all of Camp Borden.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Earth Entreats Us With Beauty To Behold

"August means..." we paused a moment this morning to consider the month that had come. "Old Home Week" — and the "Fair" one of the family supplied with a meaningful chuckle. "And the hay, as we may say only barely started yet" James remarked. "I don't for the life of me see how we'll ever take time off this year to go to the Fair!"

And Jeanie looked over the babe's head at us and a knowing smile flickered a moment. "It will be quite a strain on the staff" we chuckled, "but it would be a shame to break the habit of a lifetime. It comes to mind that this very morning it is likely that at Alderlea there will be that 'Comotion' which accompanies the loading of a certain audacious animal of the farm to the truck for the trip thither — a handsome lad as such, go though with the indifferent eye of his station. And in reply to our query relative to the farming James will say with an air of resignation we question "I guess Ellen we sha'n't get to the haying before dinner — well, not to do much at it. You see we have to get that animal away. It's a pity we entered him — and we so busy! Of course it doesn't look too promising for the hay. The wind's in the right quarter — from 'up the creek' but I just hasn't the right dryness to it to hurry it — not yet. "And we will nod our agreement and smile inside and be grateful that if a few more silver hairs mark each passing year, hearts and hopes can remain ever young. This week we on farms have been making time as we await the return of favorable haying weather. And naturally studying the signs. "She won't break until the moon shifts again. That will clear the cloud and humidity, if she comes in cool" a visiting farmer commented today. "You mark my words, and we'll just have to wait for it. Men can do a lot — or yes, we're clever and smart but "with a smile "we can't do much to change the weather." And so we wait and love the summery days in turn: the green loveliness the color and bloom. And so end them pleasantly though it be for the most part about the cares of our round of home... busy with the meals, trying it with a new recipe, adding a few more chips to the fire to keep the oven-heat right — and in the gathering of them note maple tracteries against the quiet sky, quiet cloud shadows down to the hills; hear a bird's trill, or watch a moment some scene of the farm-lands. Enjoying every minute, giving back our day with a sigh when comes the twilight. Because we find it definitely true as one says: "More lovely grows the earth as we grow old, More tenderness is in the dawning spring, More bronze upon the blackbird's tail, And richer is the autumn cloth of gold; A deeper meaning to the years unfold, Until to waiting hearts, each living thing For every love its bounty seems to bring, Entreating us with beauty to behold. Or is it that with years we grow more wise And reverent to the mystery profound, Withheld from careless or indifferent eyes— That broods in simple things the world around, More conscious of the Love that glorifies The common ways and makes them holy grove?" Until Monday — — — Diary — Goodnight.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WILLIAM PHILIP NOONAN AND ATTENDANTS

Happy Bride Is Given In Marriage By Godfather

The marriage of Clara Lorraine, daughter of Mrs. Basil Sherry, Albany, P.E.I., and of the late Mr. Sherry, to John William Philip, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Noonan, Albany, took place on June 29th, 1957, at 9.30 a.m. in the Sacred Heart Church, Borden, P.E.I. Rev. R. F. MacDonald performed the double ceremony.

Given in marriage by her godfather, Mr. Rowan Sherry, the bride looked charming in a ballerina-length, white strapless gown, fitted lace bodice and a full skirt of net over taffeta with lace inserts; also a lace bolero with long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. She wore pearl earrings and her hairdress was a fingertip veil of tulle illusion held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red carnations with white satin streamers, and white missal, gift of the groom.

Miss Frances Sherry, sister of the bride was maid of honor and was attired in a ballerina length strapless, pale yellow gown with bolero, net and lace over taffeta. Her matching hairdress was set with rhinestones, and she wore matching mitts of sheer nylon.

Her bouquet was a nosegay of white carnations with yellow ribbons. The bridesmaids, Miss Leona Noonan, sister of the groom, and Miss Shirley Cameron, were gowns identical with the maid of honor's gown but in colors Nile green and mauve, with matching hairdresses set with rhinestones and matching mitts of sheer nylon. They carried nosegays of white carnations.

The flower girls, Miss Nora Noonan, sister of the groom and Miss Beverley Sherry, cousin of the bride, wore identical dresses of pink and blue crystalite. Hairdresses were bands of roses to match their dresses, and they carried nosegays of yellow and pink carnations.

Mr. John Noonan, brother of the groom, was best man, and Messrs. Jackie and Billy Noonan ushered the guests to pews marked with white bows of ribbon.

Mrs. Sherry chose for her daughter's wedding a dusty rose dress, crepe with lace, three quarter sleeves, lace inserts in skirt and navy accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. The groom's mother, wore a powder blue dress of rayon linen.

with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Mulberry Lodge, Summerside for 85 guests. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Rev. R. F. MacDonald proposed the toast to the bride and the groom responded.

For a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and parts of the United States, the bride donned a silk sheath flowered dress with matching turquoise duster, beige accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Noonan will reside at Albany, where the bride is employed with the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and the groom, with Imperial Oil Limited.
