Speaker Says Bars Down On Race, Creed, In Credit Union

"In a movement like the Credit Union, the bars are all down and race, color, and creed are all intermingled. It is an organization where our young people, searching today for a place to be wanted and appreciated, can join rather than be a part of a gang, leading in the wrong direction," said Reid Sangster, Field Representative of the Extension Department, St. Francis Xavier University.

REID SANGSTER

Mr. Sangster was addressing the annual meeting of Trinity United Church Fellowship Credit Union held in the Church Hall last evening.

The meeting, held in the form of a banquet, was presided over by the president, Harold MacKie. Grace was offered by Rev. Mr. A. F. MacLean.

The secretary of the Island Credit Union League, Leo Doiron spoke on Credit Union aims and the value they gave to a community.

Head table seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pursey, Rev. A. F. MacLean, Mr. Sangster, Mr. and Mrs. Harold MacKie, Mr. Doiron, Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy, Rev. R.S. Latimer and Ivan Darrach.

Lester Keizer was elected president of the Fellowship Credit Union. Other officers elected included: vice-president, George MacDougall, secretary, Wendell Lea, treasurer, David Murphy, directors, Ivan Darrach, Roy Pursey and Harold MacKie.

Those elected to the various committees were: Advisory, Lloyd Larner, Blanche Howatt, Russell Ewing; Credit, Neil Diamond, Frank Gosbee, Bob MacKinnon; Education, Allison MacKinnon.

General Meeting Of Clan MacLeod Society Held Here

A general meeting of the Clan MacLeod Society of Prince Edward Island was held in the Banquet room of the YMCA last night. The meeting, in which 46 members were in attendance was presided over by Clansman W.C. MacLeod.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. A short business meeting followed.

The guest speaker, Mr. Archie Johnston was introduced by Mr. W.P. MacLeod. Mr. Johnston showed slides, which he took while in Scotland. A vote of thanks was extended to those who took part in the program and also those members of the society who were on the program committee.

A special welcome was extended to three new members who joined the society, making the membership stand at 103. After the ladies served lunch a sing-song was led by Alan Cameron and Chester Martin.

Those taking part in the entertainment were: Clan Piper Donald MacLeod, Clansman Albert MacLeod, violin selections by Clansman John MacLeod accompanied by Mrs. Allison MacRae; Norma Dwyer, Janet McLaughlin, Elizabeth Haywood and Eleanor Henry accompanied by Clan Piper Donald MacLeod, Gaelic singing by the Clansman Alan Cameron and Chester Martin both of Caledonia and accompanied by Mrs. MacRae; Gaelic singing by Miss Arlene MacDonald, accompanied by Mrs. MacRae, step dancing by Clansman Ervin MacLeod accompanied by Clansman John MacLeod on the violin.

Develop smoke scope LONDON (AP) — The government disclosed Monday it has developed a special telescope to determine the color of smoke. It is used to determine when chimneys are giving out black, dirty smoke — which is against British law. It is part of a campaign to beat the smoke here.

Mr. St. Laurent Accepts Award MONTREAL (CP) — With quiet dignity, former prime minister Louis St. Laurent Monday night accepted the human relations award of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

Home, Commonwealth relations secretary. Besides these cabinet ministers, there were Princess Alice, widow of Canada's former governor-general, the Earl of Athlone and Lady Churchill. The former prime minister, Sir Winston Churchill, was absent on a visit to the south of France.

Earlier Monday, after their meeting at 10 Downing Street, Diefenbaker said he had had "a very interesting exchange of ideas on matters of common interest and concern."

And a spokesman for the British prime minister's office said the two had "a full and intimate discussion inspired by the spirit of friendship and co-operation which exists" between the two prime ministers.

Mr. St. Laurent said that he would carry back to Prince Edward Island "the feeling of appreciation and goodwill which has been shown by requesting me to speak with you here tonight."

Statesmen (Continued from Page one) basilica. He will pause to pray at the chapel of the Holy Sacrament, and will be taken to the chapel of St. Gregory, where a second throne has been raised for him. Here he will be clothed in glittering robes for the pontifical mass that is to follow and for the coronation itself.

The Pope will then be carried to the basilica's great central altar, the confession, which rises above the spot where St. Peter was buried some 2,000 years ago and where Pius XII was placed to rest three weeks ago.

The pontiff himself will begin the solemn high pontifical mass by reciting the Confiteor.

During much of the mass, however, he will be seated at a glittering white throne placed before a background of gold-decorated white silk and covered by a red and gold damask canopy. Seven red velvet covered steps lead to the throne. Behind it are red damask drapes that cover nearly all of the cathedral altar, in the far depth of the basilica.

Little Theatre Will Present 3 One-Act Plays Thursday

The executive of the Charlottetown Little Theatre Guild held its October meeting in Fortune as the supper guests of Mrs. B.H. Hughes at her summer residence. The business of the evening was conducted under the President, Eric MacGregor.

Sterling Inman, reporting as the membership chairman said that the prospects seemed to indicate that there will be a large membership again this year. He urged those who had not completed their calls to do so at the earliest opportunity so that the new membership lists may be made up.

He also announced that membership would be available at the door at the first performance which is slated to take place on Thursday at the Community Centre.

The members were delighted to learn that the Little Theatre Trio composed of Miss Thelma Teed and Alfred McKearney, violins, and Alex MacLean at the console has agreed to furnish musical interludes at the performances again this year. This will be welcome news to all who enjoyed this addition to the program and which was inaugurated last year.

Miss Margaret Collings, Dick Turpin and Clair Smith are the directors of the three one-act plays to be presented this Thursday evening and promise to be very entertaining. These plays are "Frankincense and Myrtle", "Which is the Way to Boston", and "Dress Reversal".

Little Theatre members can look forward to an evening of entertainment when several newcomers will be making their initial appearance on the stage along with other more seasoned performers.

J. A. Bernard Addresses Irish Group In Boston

Mr. Joseph A. Bernard former Lieutenant Governor of Prince Edward Island, has been visiting members of his family and many old friends residents of Boston for the past two months. He is expected to return to Tignish about November 15th.

Mr. Bernard is quite familiar with Boston and many of its leading public men with whom he became acquainted during the years he lived there some 50 years ago.

He has been a consistent Island goodwill ambassador abroad in his many travels on the mainland, never losing an opportunity to extol the scenic beauty and salubrious summer climate of his native province.

Mr. Bernard had a special invitation to address the Irish Club of Boston on November 3rd which he did in mellifluous and courteous terms which brought appreciative applause.

Mr. Bernard told the group "It is a great pleasure to me to attend your Tenth Grand Annual night to Ireland and to thus have the privilege of renewing acquaintance with my many Boston friends."

Mr. Bernard said that he would

Diefenbaker Dines With Top Figures In UK Gov't

By ALAN DONNELLY Canadian Press Staff Writer LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker, with two major events of his United Kingdom visit still ahead of him, dined privately Monday night with leading figures of the British government.

The Canadian leader, who had conferred earlier Monday for 80 minutes with Prime Minister Macmillan, had another opportunity for a more personal meeting with him at the dinner in the Grosvenor Park district home of Canadian High Commissioner George Drew.

Thirty-two persons, including six leading members of the British cabinet, dined on cream of pheasant at the Drew residence.

Today the prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker were to have luncheon with the Queen and with Prince Philip. At Buckingham Palace Diefenbaker was expected to present to the Queen an outline of her visit to Canada next year, when she will open the St. Lawrence Seaway and tour the country.

MAKES SPEECH TONIGHT Tonight, before the prime minister resumes his world trip to Europe and the Commonwealth, he will make an hour-long speech to a sell-out audience of 7,000 at the Royal Albert Hall.

Attending Monday night's dinner, besides Prime Minister Macmillan, were Home Secretary R. A. Butler, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, Chancellor of the Exchequer Derek Heathcoat Amory, Harold Eccles, president of the board of trade, and the Earl of
