MARY HAWORTH

Roving Eye Brings Tears

Dear Mary Haworth: Bob and I are both 25 and have been married four years. We have two lovely children. Bob is very affectionate and understanding. He constantly tells me of his love for me and the children. I love him dearly and wouldn't give him up for the world; but I am very depressed.

In our four years' marriage I can count at least 10 women whose telephone numbers Bob has taken. I find these numbers in his possession and ask him about them—and most times he will tell the truth. He says he hasn't called the numbers and doesn't know why he takes them. The other day I came across another number; and when I caught him in a lie about it, he broke down and told the truth. As usual, I broke down crying and told him I couldn't stand it any more and he would have to leave. He felt I meant it this time; and assured me the girl didn't mean anything; and that he'd never called the number.

CAN'T EXPLAIN
He agreed to leave, admitting he was wrong to take the number, and said he didn't want to hurt me any more. But later he telephoned to say he would come back if I wanted him back; and I told him I did, because I love him too much to part with him, and I still believe that he loves me.

He can't provide any explanation for his actions; and says that it is no fault of mine. He claims I have been a good wife and mother, and always look pretty to him. Finding these telephone numbers is very depressing, however; and I just can't know what to do any longer. Perhaps I HAVE failed somewhere. Can you please help me? — G.S.

Dear G.S. Simply stated, Bob is a fool. Or a dope, to employ the slang of yesterday. There are many kinds of a fool, and different definitions of a fool. Webster's supplies these definitions that apply to Bob's behavior — "one who trifles, who tampers, who wastes time; a deceiver, a dupe." Bob is all of this in respect to the ladies who give him a second glance.

When he takes a woman's telephone number, he is living a day-dream for the time being. He is Don Juan giving the gal a break — paying her the tribute of feeling admired, appreciated and desired by him; trying to make her happy and make a hit, so that she will remember him. All for what? All because Bob is a mainly self-centered, self-serving operator in his social and personal relations—always with an eye to getting something out of the situation, or the encounter, for himself. Thus he can't have a friendly exchange with a beguiling woman (magnetic to him; or seemingly available), without earmarking her as a future potential conquest. That's why he takes the telephone numbers.

WEAK CHARACTER
But being also shallow, variable, inconstant, a veritable weathervane in his fantasy pursuit of gratification, he really hasn't much use for the given number. His investment of interest in himself, not in the girl for herself, so he doesn't remember her too well, inasmuch as the passing show is always bringing new models of the same type into view. And his taste in "telephone numbers" does run to type, you may be sure—as he'll have to admit, if he thinks back.

As to whether you've failed somehow—it might be said that you can't make a silk purse of a sow's ear. True. In the final estimate, only Bob can revise his character for the better; and then only with the help of God, most earnestly asked for. However, you too are in need of more strength of character, and more vision of what marriage should be.

You miss the boat of happiness, in weakly loving Bob more than you love honor and truth and rectitude for their own sake. For a good foundation of understanding, of how to be a wife whose worth is above rubies, read Wingfield Hope's masterpiece 'Li' Together (Sheed and Ward).—M.H.

Servite Visits Island— 11 Years In South Africa

Eleven years working among the natives of South Africa as an edifying experience to say the least. This was the opinion of Father Edwin Kinch, of the Servite Fathers of Chicago, who stopped off at Prince Edward Island last week en route to the Servite headquarters in Chicago from South Africa.

Father Kinch, whose home is in Portland, Oregon, is the son of a former Islander Leo Kinch, who once lived in Alma. During his stay on the Island Father Kinch spent a few days at St. Dunstan's University where he visited his cousin Sister Mary Agatha, C.S.M. He also spent a day in Kin-kora visiting another cousin, Sister Mary Ambrose C.S.M., St. Stanislaus Convent.

Father Kinch spent a week in Plusville where he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Corcoran, then left for Chicago, where he will be stationed at the Servite headquarters for six months before returning to South Africa for another tour of missionary duty.

Small Boy On A Visit Calls At The Fire Hall

The following article by Nellie McClung, staff writer for the Edmonton Journal, will be of much interest in this province where Miss Dorothy Cox has many relatives and friends and where Danny also made many friends during his recent short visit.

Little Danny Gomez has had a busy week. Danny, four years old, is from Bombay, and has been visiting Rev. Jack Pritchard and Mrs. Pritchard, 12954 120 St. with his legal guardian, Miss Dorothy Cox also of Bombay.

Danny has toured the Lauderdale fire station, driven with the engineer of a train locomotive and visited schools in the Allendale district and Westlock. "I'm Danny! I'm from India!" says Danny, jubilantly answering all telephone calls at the Pritchard home.

Miss Cox is visiting her brother-in-law and sister following a two-year term as a nurse with the World Health Organization at Jamshedja Jeyjeebhoj Hospital in Bombay.

CAME FROM GOA
Danny, a native of Goa, a Portuguese colony in Central India, was brought to the hospital's child's welfare centre two years ago, suffering from malnutrition. When his mother died Danny stayed on at the hospital, a favorite of the nurses. Miss Cox became his legal guardian in December, and hopes to adopt him.

Danny's favorite recitation is "Mary Had A Little Lamb" —

Another highlight of the evening was the hilarious parade of Spring bonnets, each member proudly displaying her creation of "kitchen ware hat."

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Rose and the committee in charge, and the meeting was adjourned.

FAIRCLOUGH IS ENVOY

Man's World Is Doomed; In Few Billion Years

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — It's a matter of some billions of years, but man's world is doomed to perish by fire or water, in snow or ice.

Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper, famous astronomer of the Yerkes Observatory at the University of Chicago says that our planet, now estimated to be five to six billion years old, faces destruction in one of several ways, as a habitable place anyhow.

He spells out how and when in the first issue of a new magazine, Science Perspectives, published by the Library of Science, New York City.

Trouble would come when all radioactive elements in the earth's crust and upper layer disappeared.

SPLIT APART
These radioactive elements are splitting a part and producing heat. The heat creates magma or molten material which pushes up to create new mountains and volcanoes.

But when this natural heat dies out, there won't be new uplifting of land. Then erosion from rain and weathering would flatten existing mountains and continents, and more and more of existing land surface would be submerged under water.

Ultimately there is real danger the whole earth will become one vast ocean, Dr. Kuiper says. Humans might survive by building dikes.

But don't worry too much about public health program, difficult because of the Hindu attitude towards nurses. "Nursing is considered menial work, and nurses are almost ostracized."

Miss Cox will show films of India Friday at 8 p.m. at Charlottetown United Church.

The visitors will return to Bombay in April. After a second two-year term with World Health — and an immigration policy permitting — Miss Cox and Danny plan to return to Canada.

It has been estimated that 250,000 new words will have to be coined before Hindi can become the sole official language. The goal was set as 1965 but this has since been extended to 1990.

Miss Cox's arrival in 1955 was a dramatic moment in modern-day India. Two opposing groups, the Gujرات in northern Bombay state and the Maharashtra in the south were fighting for control of Bombay city. "We could hear the firing outside the hospital, and many of the victims were brought to the hospital."

"India is a very proud country with a wonderful culture, but they are attempting to accomplish so many things at once, against so many problems. Few can read or write, and have this language problem."
