The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of nylon net over white satin with a lace bolero. Her finger tip veil was held in place by orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses. The bridal couple received many beautiful gifts and telegrams of congratulations. Out of town guests were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James U. Campbell, Hampton; Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lowther, Crapaud, parents of the groom; John W. MacLean, De. Sable; Mrs. Jean Trowsdale, Charlottetown. A Planned Routine Needed

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
"Homemaking is so complex when there are children, that it's a full-time job," remarked Cleo Maletis, Mrs. America of 1957. "I don't mean that a homemaker must work all the time. Unless there is an emergency, she should be able to do everything in a 40-hour week of actual work. But a planned routine is absolutely necessary as in every other business."

"I am greatly concerned over the plight of girls in the late teens who are today, marrying and starting homes with no training at all in cooking, nutrition or housekeeping. What a let-down when the honeymoon is over!"

"My suggestion is that a year's training in cooking and nutrition for prospective homemakers should be made compulsory by law. Furthermore, that every young woman applying for a marriage license should be obliged to produce a certificate showing that she had completed a year of such training."

PLAN OF DOING
Unfortunately you "have nothing to do," you say, which means you aren't a live wire. You don't say any ice, so the kids look down on you. The basic remedy is to get busy and build up a program of "doing" that appeals to you, and leads to skills and enthusiasms shared by others. Then you'll find friends falling in step with you; maybe not at once, but gradually. ## Canadian Blond Is Accepted As An Italian

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian tourists who admire the singing of Italian opera star Dodi Protero would be astonished to know the petite blonde coloratura soprano comes from Toronto.

For "Dodi Protero" is the professional name Dorothy Ann McIlraith chose when she realized she would get on better by posing as an Italian while continuing her music studies in Italy.

"In northern Italy, where many of the natives are blonde, I'm accepted as an Italian," says Dorothy. "In other places, they can't figure out what I am."

"Italians couldn't remember McIlraith—in fact they couldn't pronounce it," she says with a laugh.

Dorothy, now 23, began her operatic training at 13. Her mother is a pianist and her father a former concert singer. Dorothy studied with Giacomo Rosselino at the Toronto Central Technical school and went to Italy to study under some of the best singing teachers in Rome, Venice and Naples.

In the last nine months, she has appeared at most of the major opera houses in Europe with an all-Italian company and sang at the San Carlo opera house in Naples in January.

She appeared at the Salzburg Music Festival in Austria earlier this month and is returning to Europe in October for a contract with one of the major recording companies.
