KNOWLEDGE Brings comfort and improvement, and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly applying the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

CHRISTMAS was always a time which in our home was looked forward to with eagerness and delight, and to my father it was a time dearer than any other part of the year, I think. He loved Christmas for its deep significance for its joy, and this he demonstrates in the great festivity in his writings to the great Christmas presents and any that we wished to give to our little companions.

As a Conjuror. At our holiday frolics he used some times to conjure for us the equally "noble art" of the prestidigitator being among his accomplishments. He writes of this, which he included in the list of our Twelfth Night amusements, to another American friend: "The artistry of the conjurer is not to be despised. Our best boy and his sisters are to be waited upon next week by a professor of the noble art of dancing." He wrote to a large friend in the States and says that he had written to my mother, he says: "I hope the dancing lessons will be a success. Don't fail to let me know outside his home, there was so large a claim upon him that the pleasure would have been a tax had he gone beyond his walls."

When we only babies my father determined that we should be taught to dance, so early as the Genna days we were even our first lessons. Our best boy and his sisters are to be waited upon next week by a professor of the noble art of dancing." He wrote to a large friend in the States and says that he had written to my mother, he says: "I hope the dancing lessons will be a success. Christmas at "God's Hill." But I think that our Christmas and New Year's tides at "God's Hill" were the happiest of all. It was a village with guests, while a cottage in the village was reserved for the use of the bachelor members of our holiday party. My father, my mother, my sister and my brother, my father always inserted work for the week, and that was almost our greatest treat. He was the fun and life of the party, and his hospitality filling his large and generous heart. Long walks with him were daily treats to be remembered. Games passed our evenings in jollity. "Proverbs," a game of memory, was very popular, and it was one in which either my aunt or myself was apt to be the winner. Father's annoyance at our failure sometimes to lead was very amusing, but quite forgotten when the next day's game was another favorite, and one in which my father's great initiative ability showed finely. I remember one evening his being showing the wrong card, and so extremely laughable that the memory of it convulsed Marcus Stone, our clever artist, when he tried some time later to portray it in his choice pantomime.

Our Christmas Dinners. Our Christmas day dinners at "God's Hill" were particularly bright and cheery, some of our nearest neighbors joining in the home party. Dinner on all occasions, plain day and holiday was served by my father, my mother, my sister and my brother, my father always inserted work for the week, and that was almost our greatest treat. Hood's Cured After Others Failed. Scrofula in the Neck—Bunches All Gone Now.

"C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Gentlemen—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Scrofula. For two years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Scrofula, there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the sores were all gone, and before I had finished the second I had bunches but entirely disappeared.' H. C. Arwood, Bangor, Maine."
