HAPPENINGS

Among the out of town guests attending the Parker-Jones wedding in Truro, Nova Scotia were: Mr. and Mrs. James Wood, Hazelbrook, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McCannell, Miss Joyce McCannell, Miss Phyllis Clark and Mrs. George Waller, Charlottetown.

A Guardian reader sends along this interesting item from a Montreal paper.

Isa Menzies (she's first vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs) was in the capital recently to attend the B and P international federation night dinner and give the message from Canadian Federation. When she was preparing her talk she discovered that there are some 30,000,000 magazines destroyed each week in the United States. Why not, she says, exchange them with people in other countries — not just B and P magazines but all magazines? One of three representatives of the Canadian Federation of B and P Clubs at the Education Conference in Ottawa last week.

The Charlottetown Kinetic Club held their regular monthly meeting at the Charlottetown Hotel on March 5. President, Ed Martin presided. There were seventeen members present.

A motion was passed to send treats to the patients at Beach Grove Inn. Next meeting to be a White Elephant Sale, each member to bring a guest. The meeting adjourned and lunch was served.

A bowling group consisting of eleven girls met for dinner Thursday evening at the Queen Hotel. One of the members Miss Doris Coady is to be married in the early spring and she was presented with a lovely gift to mark this happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ives left Sunday on a trip to Montreal and New York. In New York they will be the guests of Mrs. Ives' sister, Mrs. E. Fleck of Port Washington, Long Island.

Mrs. John Allan MacFarlane was hostess to her bridge club on Thursday evening.

Mr. E. F. Crease, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. Leroy Holman, has returned to his home in Halifax.

Mrs. Arthur Allen, Eustane St., entertained the members of the I.O.D.E. on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Llewellyn Rogers, Granville Street, was hostess to her bridge club on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne MacFarlane left Sunday to spend the remainder of the winter in Florida. They were accompanied by Mr. MacFarlane's aunt, Mrs. Louis Tangedahl, as far as Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Simmons left Saturday for Florida, where

LET'S EAT

French Meal Tastes Good And Not Long To Prepare

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"While I work out a new no-cook recipe for tomorrow's column, chef, suppose you plan our dinner," I said.

"Enchante, Madame," said the chef. "My menu will include simple dishes that are favorites in France."

The chef's face beamed as he wrote the menu on the test-kitchen blackboard.

Tomorrow's dinner—French onion soup, ragout of veal, parried potatoes, diced carrots, tossed lettuce, French custard pie, coffee, tea, milk.

"This dinner will taste very good, Madame, yet it will not take long to prepare. The French custard pie takes longest, because it must be well cooled before eating. So we start it first. In France, however, fruit, cheese and French bread would be the dessert. Pie would be served only they expect to remain for several months.

Mrs. Gabriel Chiasson, entertained the members of the Beta Chapter of Sigma Phi on Wednesday evening. Routine business was carried out. Mrs. Chiasson, Mrs. Gilbert Gallant and Mrs. Art Robinson presented a very interesting program on The Modern Conception of our Universe. In connection with the program Mrs. Clarence Mercer showed a film on astronomy. Lunch was served by the hostess, followed by the closing ritual.

Mrs. Robert H. Rankin, Summerside East entertained friends at bridge on Friday evening.

The curling hostesses at the Summerside Curling Club tonight Saturday were: Mrs. Ralph Somers, (convener), Mrs. Bruce MacWilliams, Mrs. Heartz Godkin, and Mrs. Leroy Gallant.

Mrs. Lloyd Inman and Mrs. Shirley Simpson were co-hostesses at bridge on Tuesday evening at the former's home on Coronation Ave.

s. sugar and ¼ tsp. salt. Beat until thick.

Add 2 c. milk and ¼ tsp. pure vanilla extract. Beat until blended and fold in the egg whites whipped stiff.

Roll pie crust to ½-in. thickness. Fit into a 9-in. pie plate. crimped edge. Pour in the custard mixture. Bake in a hot oven 400 degrees F. to set the crust. Reduce the heat; continue baking for 30 min. at 350 degrees F. or until a knife, inserted in the centre, comes out clean.

Then caramelize (melt) ¼ c. sugar in a heavy frying pan. Add 4 tsp. water. Cook until a little when dropped from a spoon forms a thread.

Carefully spoon over the top of the pie. Cool to form a glaze. Serve slightly chilled.

Trick of the chef: added 2 minced anchovy filets while preparing ragout of veal.

TYNE VALLEY W.I.

The Women's Institute was held on Tuesday evening, February 4th, at the home of Mrs. Dean Crosby, with an attendance of twenty-seven members and several visitors. An exchange of Valentines among the members caused a lot of fun, and the one made by Mrs. Hardy Ramsay, was chosen as the most original.

An Auction Sale of donated articles was then held and the sum of twenty-seven dollars and seventy-five cents was realized.

Reports of committees followed and new committees were appointed as follows: Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. MacNaughton on visiting; Mrs. Waldo MacDougall and Mrs. Preston Grigg to secure items for Variety Concert, Mrs.

ton Grigg on program for next meeting. Mrs. Waldo MacDougall was appointed as Hospital Com-

SMART FOR THE BUDGET-MINDED

The American way of fashion, smart, good looks at a "piggy bank" price made possible by newest chemical textile fibers, such as Acrilan Acrylic fiber. Talented American designer, Madeleine Fauth designed this handsome interpretation of the newest loose-fitting silhouette in a worsted-look crepe.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Visitors Will Come - The Cat Combs Its Whiskers!

When the morning star caught in the birch branches beyond the window had faded, and the twilight shadows of morning dissolved in the bright rift of dawn, this old house of James' people roused from its dreaming, stretched, and lingering a brief spell before rising to arrange waking thoughts, set foot then on a tomorrow in a brand new week. Or was it tomorrow? No, truly not for as someone has said: "Today is not tomorrow. Yes, I know"

That yesterday I told you it would be.

And what I told you yesterday was true.

But, dear, that was yesterday, you see.

No, what is true one day may not be true

The next day, or on any other day.

Silly? Yes, I know it is, but it's just part of all life's topsy-turvy way

Time and truth are hard to understand

Sometimes, or you and I, or things like bad and good.

No, yesterday will never be tomorrow.

Oh I do too! I often wish it could."

This then was today. How did we enter its glowing new paths? hopefully. This we said will be the best week yet I thought what better could we receive from its days than the former even tenor of the familiar round? The joys and happinesses, the little surprises that float in on washing silver seas to the golden pier of home; the happy adventures we may come to around a bend of way, or just over a hilltop, — any hour, any day. We never know when, but can always envision them along the aisles that lead ahead.

Yes, at any moment. Even into a budget-minded pocketbook... Acrilan makes it possible to wash this dress out at night, drip dry and have it look fresh as new again with little or no ironing.

This is exactly the same fabric as will be used in the official uniforms for the girl guides in the U.S. Pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair opening in April.

with a night like this blessing the countryside with its quiet, with moonlight bright on the white-spread hushed fields and the velvety dark of the woodlands and sentinel trees, adventure may come a-knockin' at the door. Or a nice surprise. James may come in from the stables presently, work of day over, with an itchy palm and "a feeling that someone is coming tonight Ellen," the one or ones whose "names have been on my mind all day."

And to warrant it, the napping cat will suddenly start up and commence to smooth back silken whiskers with a deft paw and we shall nod and smile to James — and know!

Courage too we must carry with us into this new week for not every hour will be rainbowed. "Courage lies" one says "in never taking so much as a good meal, or a day of health, and fair weather for granted. It lies in learning to be aware of our moments of happiness as sharply as our moments of pain. Courage goes on to see that the triumph of life is not in pains avoided but in joys lived completely in the moment of their happening. We need not be afraid to weep when we have cause to weep, so long as we can really rejoice at every cause for rejoicing."

Yes, courage too — a brave heart, we shall need to meet the sunshine and shadow in this our new week of days.

Until tomorrow — — Diary — Goodnight. . . .
