CONTRACT MAKING PROGRESS - Excellent progress has been made on the new Murray Harbour wharf, with almost all piling having been placed and stringers run to form the framework. A considerable portion yet remains, deck, facing and crib-work; however, the wharf is now shaping up and the finishing job will require only a short time. The new wharf replaces the one at the east end of a wharf built a few years ago, and it also extends northward, a loading shed to give additional wharfrage. At the new wharf at Murray River, the front piles have been driven and partly tied in, and the area behind dredged out for the new framework. Piles have been placed in the west portion, and part of the framework completed. It is expected that another two months will be required to complete the job.

Churchill Reaffirms Belief In Peace Through Strength Policy For World

(By Ronald MacLurkin) LONDON (Reuters) - Prime Minister Churchill Thursday reaffirmed his belief in peace through strength as a "supreme policy." He predicted that such a course based on "building up the strength of the free world will enable the world to come safely through this anxious and dangerous period."

As a result of this policy of strength, he told 7,000 women members of the Conservative party, "we may live to see—or you may—the awful secrets—doom-laden secrets—which science has wrung from nature serve mankind instead of destroying it and put an end to the wars they were called forth to wage."

Earlier, Churchill declared that the hydrogen bomb makes the need for strong civil defence preparations "even greater than ever."

This was an apparent rebuke to the war-ravaged city of Coventry which recently disbanded its 3,000-member civil defence force because the city council decided there is no defence against the H-bomb.

MEASURES OUTLINED Churchill's statement on the need for civil defence came as defence set-up, outlined measures aimed at coping with the effects of a hydrogen bomb. He criticized "alarming" reports about the bomb saying its effects are formidable but do not justify an attitude of "neglectful resignation."

In the plans he outlined there would be a bigger role for women in civil defence since defence against the H-bomb would call for a large-scale dispersal of the population and this would require women to run emergency and mobile feeding stations.

More than 325 delegates from all the provinces are attending the convention which will conclude Saturday night with an address by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The Manitoba delegates stole the show at Thursday's opening ceremonies when they wheeled a stuffed buffalo into the convention hall at the Chateau Laurier hotel. Delegates from Alberta wore cowboy outfits while the Montreal delegation sported red felt hats.

Guy Rouleau, Member of Parliament for Montreal Dollard and retiring president of the federation, said the convention will be asked to make recommendations to solve a variety of problems facing the government. These problems included several in the field of trade, agriculture and unemployment.

Mr. Rouleau said the convention would not be asked to pass a vote of confidence in Mr. St. Laurent. Mr. St. Laurent already enjoyed the confidence of his party and the people of Canada and "a motion of confidence is not necessary."

Mr. Rouleau said he hoped that the Liberal party soon will be strengthened in provinces which do not have Liberal governments. The task of strengthening the Liberal movements in those provinces rested largely with young Liberals.

The delegates were welcomed to Ottawa by Defence Minister Claxton, Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Duncan K. MacTavish, president of the National Liberal Federation of Canada, George McIlraith, Liberal Member of Parliament for Ottawa West, and Jean T. Richard, Liberal Member for Ottawa East.

CAIRO, Reuters - A grenade was thrown at a party of British troops returning to their post in the Suez canal zone late Sunday night, authorities reported today. The grenade failed to explode. A burst of rifle fire was also directed against them, but no one was injured. The British troops returned the fire.

Making Final Arrangements For Canonization

By FRANK BRUTTO VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican workers put the final decorative touches Thursday on St. Peter's basilica and its giant open square in preparation for the canonization of Pope Pius X—the first pontiff in 242 years to be elevated to the highest honor of the Roman Catholic church.

The biggest moment in two days of glittering ceremonies will come Saturday afternoon when Pope Pius XII, exercising the full authority of his high office, adds the name of his predecessor to the church's list of saints.

Some 500 prelates, including more than 40 cardinals, gathered here from nearly all countries of the world, will be among the throng of several hundred thousand in St. Peter's square who will witness the solemn and joyful rite.

Radio and television will carry the event to hundreds of thousands more throughout the world. On Sunday the Pope will preside at a solemn high mass in St. Peter's basilica in honor of the new saint.

EXPOSITION OF URN The crystal urn that contains the silver-masked body of Pius X will be exposed to the veneration of Catholic faithful during the Sunday service inside the basilica.

During the last three weeks Vatican workers, have been busy with ladders and pulleys hoisting red damask drapes and chandeliers that will flood the basilica with a scarlet and golden glow during Sunday's ceremony.

On Saturday night, after the canonization, the exterior of the basilica and the Bernini colonnade will be illuminated in a brilliant display to honor Pius X, the humble man who became the church's 258th pontiff and the 78th to be canonized. He was Pope from 1903 to 1914.

In the last 1,100 years only five others have been given that highest honor of the church.

Appeal Dismissed In Geo'town Cases

The application for leave to appeal was dismissed and the convictions stand in the cases of J. Charles Martell, Lewis C. David and Leroy A. Hatch convicted before Magistrate Joseph MacDonal, Q. C., in Kings County Court last month. The three had been sentenced to varying terms in Dorchester Penitentiary.

The charges on which they were convicted included breaking and entering stores and cottages and malicious damage, all within the Georgetown area.

The full Bench of the Court of Appeals denied the application. Sitting were Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, Mr. Justice Mark R. MacGuigan and Mr. Justice Gilles J. Tweedy. Mr. Allison M. Gillis appeared for the appellants and Mr. S. S. Hessian, Q. C., for the Crown.

CHURCHILL: A Man and an Era

WHO'S THAT FELLOW WHO'S BEEN DRINKING SO HARD? THAT'S WINSTON CHURCHILL. QUITE A BRILLIANT CHAP, THEY SAY. BUT ALL WASHED UP NOW. THE GERMAN'S ARE NOT LOOKING FOR EQUAL STATUS... THEY ARE LOOKING FOR WEAPONS! A SIT. DOWN, WINNIE, THIS IS 1932, NOT 1914. In 1929, with the Conservatives out of power, Churchill began his 10-year period of being out of power and out of office...

By Ward Cannel and Ralph Lane

Again in 1936, his voice came up from the desert of his forced retirement. And again he went unheeded while Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain went to Munich. You were given the choice between war and dishonor. You chose dishonor and you will have war. He stepped into the picture again briefly, while King Edward VIII struggled between the crown and the woman he loved. Churchill's advice: wait. Edward's decision: abdicate.
