side of the pond, which is about twenty-five acres in area.

GRAPPLER

Plymouth firefighters, called in by Chief Thomas, were joined by state Policemen Donald Walsh and Thomas Hibbert of the Middleboro barracks.

A small aluminum sled was pushed out over the ice to a point 25 feet from the hole, after which the men broke through the ice and proceeded in the skill to the hole.

A metal grappling pole was sent down and at 22 feet the bottom was reached. The body of the son was located at 12.05 o'clock.

A second boat, owned by Miss Elizabeth Robert Mills, 13, who lives nearby, was brought to the pond—the two craft working together finally enabled the searchers to locate the body of the father at 12.23 o'clock.

Medical Examiner Sterling McLean of Middleboro said death was due to accidental drowning. He estimated the men had probably been in the water since 6 o'clock Saturday night.

The pair was identified by a brother of the elder Bishop, David Bishop of 4 Wessagusset Road, Weymouth.

Also surviving the senior Bishop are his 84-year-old mother, Mrs. Joseph Bishop, his wife, Mrs. Euthemia (MacDonald) Bishop, and a daughter, Mrs. Paul Kjelgaard of Braintree.

The son graduated from Sacred Heart High School, Weymouth in 1954. Enlisting in the Army, he served one and a half years in Hawaii and was discharged last November. He was employed by Chase and Sons, North Quincy, rubber products manufacturer.

Prompt Action Is Suggested On Music Festival Entries

"Entries for the Music Festival close this weekend so there is little time to assure yourself of the opportunity to participate," said Neil A. Matheson, president of the Music Festival Association.

"Because I have been temporarily laid aside through illness, I am writing this from a hospital bed. I had hoped to speak to the leaders and members of some of our fine musical organizations in the province. I hope that some of them will participate in the festival as competitors.

"There are some fine church choirs in the rural areas. We would welcome their entries, as their splendid voices would make a big contribution to the festival. There are also duets, trios, and quartets that should be in the festival.

"I want to emphasize the fact that the festival is not an organization only for the highly trained musician. Their participation is welcomed and there are classes for them, but the festival is for the people of the entire province. As president of the organization I want to assure you of a very warm welcome.

"If the syllabus does not include a class for vocal trios or for some other number in which you are interested do not let that worry you. Some of the numbers have been dropped from the syllabus because there have not been any entries in them in recent years.

MR. MATHESON

"However your entry will be welcomed and a class will be arranged for you.

"Our children's classes are always well filled, that is as it should be, for the children are the ones on whom we depend for the years that are ahead. But we want the adult groups too.

"Already we have been talking to some of the musicians and groups in the urban areas and are looking forward to having some of them with us this year. The hope is that the rural groups will also participate."

MR. BELL'S QUESTION

The question asked by Opposition Leader Bell regarding the historic site at Fort Amherst was, "Is there any delay or any reason for delay on the part of the Provincial Government in handing over the property to the Federal Department of National Resources?"

Mr. Bell: "I'm scared he might drown me". The First Kings member directed the attention of the Minister of Fisheries to a strong odor which originates from the fish meal plant on the Souris Line Road, about two miles from the Town.

It had been told by the general manager of this plant that equipment to eliminate this odor was being installed and he expressed the hope that this unpleasant nuisance would be done away with.

LABORER'S WAGES

Mr. Acorn said that while the over all picture of the fishing industry on the Island was bright, there was one thing with which he was not entirely satisfied, namely the labourer's wages.

He said the regular fishermen and the companies were doing well and the full time labourers were doing all right but it was the part time labourer over which he was concerned.

He stated that these men had the right to strike if they so chose under the Island labor act but he hoped that some satisfactory adjustment could be made without resorting to this measure.

PROMINENT PLACE

Mr. Acorn stated that he was proud of the part taken by the Town of Souris in the fishing industry and declared, "My colleague's stewardship and my own has been well worthwhile in seeing this remarkable development take place during our term of office."

Turning to agriculture, Mr. Acorn said he was pleased to see that the Department would this year be increasing its staff of trained employees. He observed that this was very necessary in view of the rapid scientific development which is taking place in the industry.

As an indication of this advancement, Mr. Acorn read from an article appearing in a recent publication which showed that through the medium of artificial insemination the fertilized eggs of high grade cows may be planted in a less productive animal which would bear and foster the young calf.

MASS PRODUCTION

The article went on to say that by this means, one cow could produce 100-500 calves in her lifetime and at the same time be kept to a full state of production, free from pregnancy periods.

The introduction of air conditioning in barns, the article stated, made calves grow faster, made cows give more milk and hens produce twice as many eggs. "These are some of the things that are taking place in the field of scientific agriculture and I am pleased to see that our department is keeping abreast with the times," Mr. Acorn said.

CULLEN-BELL ACT

Speaking of the Farm Establishment Act which will come before the legislature this session, Mr. Acorn said that in all fairness to the Leader of the Opposition who, he had noted, worked so hard on behalf of the legislature, the bill when passed should be termed "The Cullen-Bell Act".

Dr. Dewar: "Why not the Bell-Cullen Act?" Mr. Bell: "I don't care as long as it gets passed" (Continued on page 11)

P.E.I. Drama Festival Opens Friday With Four Entries

Actor-producer Richard Ainley from Britain will adjudicate at the P.E.I. Regional Drama Festival starting Friday in Prince of Wales College Auditorium. He has been adjudicating plays from British Columbia to Newfoundland during the past few weeks.

The Souris Credit Union Players are making their first appearance in festival competition on Friday night. They will present a gripping play called, "Don't Darken My Door" which has particular audience appeal. The director is P. Edward Clinton.

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor will declare the festival officially open Friday evening.

The laugh-provoking favorite "Charley Aunt" is being presented by the Association Players Saturday afternoon under the direction of Rebe Scantlebury.

Saturday evening the well-known Montague Players, under the direction of Mrs. Douglas McGowan, are presenting the popular play, "An Inspector Calls". The festival concludes Monday evening when the Little Theatre Guild of Charlottetown presents Agatha Christie's dramatic play, "The Mousetrap". The director is George Anderson.

Father And Son Drown: New Wiltshire Connections

CARVER, MASS. — The bodies of a Quincy father and son, missing on an ice fishing trip since Saturday night, were recovered early Feb. 16, by Plymouth firefighters grappling through the ice in Cooper's Pond.

The drowning victims were Leonard J. Bishop, 54, a retired granite worker, and his 21-year-old son, James both of 193 Federal Avenue, Quincy Adams.

Mr. Bishop, senior, was a nephew of Mrs. Pearl MacLeod, New Wiltshire, P. E. I. Police theorized that the son, discharged last November from the Army, drowned during a vain attempt to save his father. Reconstructing the double drowning, police said the son's hat, found alongside the hole in the ice, probably fell off as he raced to the aid of his father who had fallen through thin ice.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated for the son at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at Sacred Heart Church, Weymouth Landing. At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon funeral services were conducted for the father at his home.

These two men left their Quincy home Saturday morning to go ice fishing at Clear Pond, West Plymouth. When they did not return by late at night, Mr. Bishop called Plymouth police.

After several hours' search the Plymouth police could find no trace in the area of either the Bishops or their car. They then checked with the Carver police. Carver Police Chief Dana E. Thomas assigned Special Officer Francis Merritt to search Sampson's Pond in the southern section of Carver. Merritt was unable to find any clues concerning the whereabouts of the two men at that location.

Sunday morning Chief Thomas considered the possibility that the men may have been fishing at Cooper's Pond, and at 10 o'clock suggested to John Orschowski, who lives on Route 44 just north of Cooper's Pond, that their car might be parked in the vicinity.

Noticing a car parked fairly close to his own residence, Orschowski informed Chief Thomas by telephone. In Weymouth Sunday Sgt. Francis H. Maguire sent two cruisers to search the Whitman's Pond area for Bishop's car.

The two Carver men went over to the car, which apparently had been standing all night. Orschowski then remembered that he had seen two men on the pond at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, placing fish traps on the other side of the pond. He saw them again at 3:30 and for the last time just after sunset. The men had set out six traps and when last seen were going from one trap to another.

LUNCH KIT FOUND

Thomas and Orschowski drove around the pond, using what is known as the Walker Entrance, a muddy winding road which leads to a little cluster of summer cottages across the lake from Highway 44. The two men descended to the Mill - Harte landing pier, where they found what was later identified as the lunch kit brought there by the Bishops.

Seventy-five feet from shore was a hole in the ice about five feet in diameter. A man's cap was on the ice about 15 feet away from the hole. The traps were all in place around the southerly
