

"Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew"

CHARLOTTETOWN, CANADA, FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1964.

NOT MORE THAN SEVEN CENTS

20 PAGES

VOL. LXXVII, NO. 150

Published as Second Class Mail by the Post Office
Department, Ottawa, and for payment of postage in cash

PREMIER SHAW chats with Allan Elderstam, butler maker at Morell Co-op

creative Dairy during a tour of Morell yesterday. The Premier showed keen interest in the work underway at the plant and praised it as an important contribution to all aspects of the life of the village and surrounding communities.

STUDENT NANCY Hogan receives some sage advice from Premier Shaw yesterday

Morell Regional High School, she urged students not to let the opportunity slip to complete their education.

Morell Commissioners Seek Aid From Gov't

Village commissioners of Morell yesterday asked the provincial government for assistance in determining how a sewage system could be established in the village and also asked for government help in paving certain streets, the provision of a shelter for the department of highways snowplow that is stationed in the village and assistance towards a new fire hall.

Easier Divorce Requested In Resolution By FWIC

WOLFVILLE, N.S. (CP)—Freer divorce laws were called for by the Federated Women's Institute of Canada in a resolution passed Thursday.

Extension Denied

A request for an extension to the lobster season, made by fishermen in the Kings County area, has been turned down, it was announced last night.

Warren Farrar, district protection officer, Charlottetown said he had been informed that protection headquarters in Halifax the request had been denied. Fisheries Minister Robichaud is reported to have said that he believed the season had been reasonably successful and had decided against an extension as being in the best interests of the industry.

The season, which opened May 1, closes June 30. A formal request for an extension was made following a meeting of fishermen at Montague recently. They based their request principally on a late start due to weather and ice conditions.

Canada Awaits Smoking Report

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is waiting for a report from an advisory committee on smoking before it decides whether to follow the United States and order cigarette makers to label their wares as a hazard to health.

Health Minister Judy LaMarsh, who abandoned smoking last year to set an example for others, says the government is not sure it has the power to impose such a warning on cigarette packages—even if it decided to do so.

More Decisive Leadership Demanded From Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Douglas Fisher said in the Commons Thursday Prime Minister Pearson should give Parliament more decisive leadership.

He said Mr. Pearson suffers from "what I would call the man from Prince Albert's syndrome" (Opposition Leader E. Diefenbaker's opposition for Prince Albert, Sask.).

The prime minister seemed obsessed with the character and personality of Mr. Diefenbaker as opposition leader. This prevented him from being completely open and frank in his dealings with the House of Commons.

Mr. Fisher, deputy house leader of the New Democratic Party, said this was illustrated by the prime minister's handling of the controversy over the rejected CBC film, Mr. Pearson and his directors, read in the Commons.

If more could not be accomplished in limited debate and getting legislative work done, Mr. Pearson should consider the alternatives.

Former Tanker To Be Scrapped

SYDNEY (CP)—The former Irving Oil Company Limited tanker Seokook, badly damaged in a fire at Charlottetown last year, was being dismantled here yesterday.

CBC Confirms Film Decision

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC announced Thursday it is sticking to its decision not to show the documentary film Mr. Pearson on its television network.

A letter from the CBC board of directors, read in the Commons by State Secretary LaMontagne, also said the publicity campaign suggested that there has been no political interference in the film decision.

INSIDE TODAY

- Birth, deaths 5-9
- Classified 10-19
- Deaths 17
- Sports 7
- Women 6
- Editorials 4
- Kings, Queens, City 4
- Summaries 3
- Finance, Markets 2
- Rural churches 8

Island Woman Named President Of FWIC

WOLFVILLE, N.S. (CP)—The woman who will be president of the Federated Women's Institute of Canada during the centennial year has been busy in that capacity for the last three years.

Mrs. Philip Matheson of Oyster Bed Bridge, P.E.I., is also a member of the Island Centennial committee, and is a member of Charlottetown's Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building Trust.

She succeeds Mrs. James Haggerty Napoves, Ont., as institute president.

As wife of Prince Edward Island's minister of highways and public works, Mrs. Matheson will be one of many Islanders playing host to visitors this summer when the province celebrates the 100th anniversary of the first meeting of the Fathers of Confederation in Charlottetown.

Mrs. Matheson is a native of Prince Edward Island, born and raised on a farm. She has been a member of the institute for 27 years, and was a former provincial president.

She said in an interview Thursday that under the circumstances centennial work will probably be her main concern during her three-year term.

The Federated Women's Institute will choose its own legislative program in a separate bid to register office.

A project to make Canada lovelier ties in with a Prince Edward Island rural beautification program in which Mrs. Matheson has worked.

Parliament At A Glance

THURSDAY, June 25, 1964
State Secretary LaMarsh affirmed his decision not to show the film Mr. Pearson on television.

The letter also said the CBC directors are satisfied there was no political interference involved in the original decision.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) said Prime Minister Pearson should offer the Commons more efficient leadership.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) rejected Mr. Fisher's suggestion that closure may be needed to get legislation passed.

MPs should quit calling each other names and get to work on the country's business, said Social Credit Leader Thompson.

Creditist Leader Coanette accused Opposition Leader Diefenbaker of obstructing business in a desperate bid to register office.

The Commons meets at 11 a.m. EDT to continue debate on an interim money supply bill. The Senate stands adjourned to June 29.

Beaver's Ashes To Come To N.B.

LONDON (Reuters)—The ashes of the late newspaper magnate Lord Beaverbrook will be taken to New Brunswick for interment in September, it was announced here Thursday.

The Canadian-born millionaire press baron and statesman died at his country home in Brighton 5.

Tobacco Firms Oppose Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—The tobacco industry Thursday denounced the new federal rule on cigarette labels and advertising as unlawful, unfair, and unfair and said it will oppose it in the courts if necessary.

The rule, announced by the Federal Trade Commission Wednesday, would require tobacco manufacturers by next year to include a warning in cigarette labels and advertising that smoking may cause death from cancer and other diseases.

MRS. MATHESON

Veteran Researcher Reports To AMA

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rabbits have been protected against one form of cancer with a vaccine prepared with use of an electrical knife, a surgeon said Thursday.

The vaccine contained material from cancer cells killed by electrocoagulation—the electrical knife.

Dr. Alfred Strauss, 81, of Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Centre, Chicago, said he had injected 200 rabbits, vaccinated this way, with a transplanted cancer several times in the last two years, and not one had developed cancer.

Rabbits not vaccinated but given the same injections of tumor cells, known as Brown-Pearce carcinoma, died within eight to 12 weeks, he told sessions of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Strauss advanced a theory the electro-coagulation method killed more cells in cancer tissue, to provide a vaccine more potent in stimulating antibodies or protective against the cancer.

Dr. Strauss said electrocoagulation has been used to treat more than 400 renal cancer cases successfully. Sixty-five of these had been classified as inoperable and the electric knife was used primarily to ease pain. In 75 per cent of the so-called inoperable cases, however, five-year to 10-year cures were obtained.

Dr. Strauss said his report in paper before a session on general surgery.

The next step in his research, he said, is to attempt to immunize non-cancerous humans then see if serum from them will immunize other humans.

"I will really have something—a vaccine against cancer in men."

Ottawa Printer Wins Maple Leaf Contest

WOLFVILLE, N.S. (CP)—An Ottawa printer who has never before had a contest for his work has won the contest for the Maple Leaf For Ever.

Victor Cowley had won the competition and a $1,000 prize was made available at a meeting of the Canadian Authors Association here Thursday.

Mr. Cowley's lyrics were sung here publicly for the first time by Prof. Leonard May, professor of music at Acadia University.

Earlier this week the association said it received suggestions for lyrics from as far away as Argentina and Scotland. One school in Arizona made it a class project.

The $1,000 was awarded by Toronto music publisher Gordon V. Thompson, Mr. Thompson who said Mr. Cowley had "dabbled" in songwriting before but had nothing previously published, plans to publish the new version and copies of it distributed here said it was copied.

Verse Writing Done As Hobby

OTTAWA (CP)—Victor Cowley of Ottawa, whose lyrics for a song "The Maple Leaf For Ever" won him the $1,000 first prize in a contest sponsored by the Canadian Authors Association, said Thursday he worked on the three verses "off and on" for three years.

"I've done this sort of thing for 20 or 25 years as a hobby," the 42-year-old native of Ottawa said.

Prize Money

Cowley, a printer employed by the Nova Scotia Research Council, said he had not thought his submission was good enough to win the contest which attracted some 1,200 entries.

"I wrote it in January but I didn't submit it until May because I wasn't sure it was good enough," he said.

Cowley said he was informed he had won the contest about two weeks ago because the judges wanted him to make a radio broadcast of the lyrics. He stood for a moment before selecting his entry.

Prof. R. B. Parker of Ontario, president of the MacMillan Club of Canada, managing editor of Maclean's Magazine, Toronto, was awarded a medal for best general article.

Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's was the main speaker at the contest.

Mr. Fraser, a native of Sydney, N.S., said dignity in Canada did not mean it said Canadians would understand Canada better "if we had been told that we had a major triumph" over race and religious differences.

Mr. Thompson told reporters they could quote the refrain and a few lines of one of the authors' verses.

The refrain: "Our home, our land, our Canada, From shore to shore, May we forsake thee never, But hold on high and proudly."

"The Maple Leaf For Ever!" The final lines in three verse: "From shore to shore, All races blend together, To share this land together, From shore to shore, For ever more."

"The Maple Leaf For Ever!" Mr. Cowley was not here to receive his award. His version was selected from among more than 1,300 received by the authors' association.

MEDAL AWARD
John Morgan Gray of Toronto, president of the MacMillan Club of Canada, managing editor of Maclean's Magazine, Toronto, was awarded a medal for best general article.

Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's was the main speaker at the contest.

Mr. Fraser, a native of Sydney, N.S., said dignity in Canada did not mean it said Canadians would understand Canada better "if we had been told that we had a major triumph" over race and religious differences.

PRINCE COUNTY HOSPITAL GETS EQUIPMENT

Mr. D. Ivan Darrach, left and Mrs. R. W. Auld, centre, yesterday afternoon presented J. M. Logan, right, administrator of the Prince County Hospital with two pieces of emergency admissions and code in the vicinity of 826. The blood pressure instrument is in the foreground of the photo and is mounted on a mobile stand for ease in moving. It costs approximately $85.

emergency admissions and code in the vicinity of 826. The blood pressure instrument is in the foreground of the photo and is mounted on a mobile stand for ease in moving. It costs approximately $85.