Escape Hole in Hill Targeted Where 2 Miners Trapped

BRIDE TO GET PATH TO DOOR

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Helen Dougherty is getting married today and the city is sending her a special wedding present—a live rabbit carpet.

Miss Dougherty, 21, lives on a block completely messed up with trenches for a new sewer main. When her mother complained that the bride would have a terrible time getting to the apartment for the trip to the church, the city agreed to have a path to the door.

Sunday Night Fixed Earliest Escape Time

By JAMES V. LAMB
HALLOWEEN, Pa. (AP)—A 12-inch escape hole was driven Friday into the chamber where two miners have been trapped 531 feet underground for 10 days.

The men, Henry Throno, 28, and David Follin, 35, called for a halt in further rescue operations until they could get some sleep.

Rescue experts conferred for several hours and then decided to abandon plans for enlarging the hole to 17 inches—at the start at least.

They said the hole would be cut 25 inches in diameter for the first 35-50 feet and then would make Sunday night the earliest time at which men could be brought to the surface.

After the first 35 or 40 feet, said H. B. Charnbury, state secretary of mines, a conference will be held on the next step.

"The situation is just as dangerous now as it has ever been," he told reporters.

Charnbury also said, "We haven't given up on Bova."

A conference there will be some distance from the cave-in at 9 a.m. Aug. 13.

Underground Test Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced an underground nuclear test set off Friday at its Nevada test site.

The test was the first since the U.S. agreed with Russia and Britain on a treaty which would ban nuclear tests below the surface of the earth.

Friday's test was of low yield, meaning an output equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Army Has Control in Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP)—Reset by the Buddhist crisis, President Ngo Dinh Diem's government has announced all ministries will take orders from the military during the period of martial law in South Viet Nam.

Officers of the armed forces—trained, supplied and advised by the United States for a war on Communist guerrillas—appeared Friday to be taking firm control of the ministries under Diem's over-all leadership.

Some American officials here held to the theory that the president and his younger brother, Nguyen Nhu, who heads the security police, were in effect leading a military junta. Their impression was that the two instituted the crackdown against Buddhists Wednesday first as a means of criticism at home and abroad.

Other figures' pressure on the government from U.S. generals prompted the proclamation of martial law and military raids on Buddhist pagodas, in which hundreds of Buddhists monks and nuns were arrested.

Israel And Syria Trade Charges

By CARMAN GUMMING
TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel and Syria traded charges of aggression in the United Nations Tuesday afternoon, each side demanding that the council condemn the other.

The council took an unusual session at the request of both Israel and Syria, adjourned until Tuesday afternoon after hearing a plea from Secretary-General U Thant that both sides take precautions to prevent further incidents. He said a report would be filed on the expected shorty of Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the UN truce supervision organization in Palestine.

Com. Chamber Opposes New Tax At U.S. Hearing

WASHINGTON (CP)—The U.S. council of the International Chamber of Commerce cautioned Congress Friday against enacting a tax on foreign stocks and bonds that could gravely handicap U.S. business operations abroad.

"We are not prepared to endorse the proposed tax," the council said in calling for a number of key amendments as the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives distilled from proposals by the Congressional Budget Office committee chairman, told reporters later he wouldn't support a bill to reduce income taxes would take precedence.

World Congress Ends

Anglican Mood 'Scrappy' On Wording Of Message

By CARL MOLLINS
TORONTO (CP)—The Anglican World Congress wound up Friday in a scrappy mood over the words of the global assembly would address to the world, periodically on race relations.

Anglican delegates indignantly demanded a draft congress message at "completely inadequate and sheer cowardice" for failing to put the assembly firmly on record against racial discrimination.

Only about five hands were raised against including a paragraph on race when it was put to a vote by the 1,000 delegates representing Anglicans in more than 70 countries. The race issue was raised early in the 11-day congress and only one speech was made against church involvement in the Negro civil rights agitation.

The final message denounced racial segregation and other forms of discrimination as "sin." It voiced the church's endorsement of the civil rights who offer on account of their "race, color or creed" and called "active support" for those standing up against racial discrimination.

"We are ashamed that barriers of race should still persist in the life of the church," the paragraph on race concluded.

Elsewhere in the 500-word message, the congress stressed the need for an ecumenical message to the church and called for a sharing of work and aid throughout the worldwide Anglican Communion.

Outspoken Bishop A. M. Stockwood of Southwark, England, denounced the whole original congress message as "placating and evasive" and the editorial committee that worked over three drafts of the message, defended it as "a compromise." He said therefore a good Anglican compromise "is something of my less competent deacons who preach on his first Sunday."

Lay delegate Mark Gibbs of Manchester, England, a member of the editorial committee that worked over three drafts of the message, defended it as "a compromise." He said therefore a good Anglican compromise "is something of my less competent deacons who preach on his first Sunday."

Chief Adjemil Oniola, Lagos, chairman of the Nigerian diocese of Lagos, complained it was "sheer cowardice" to say nothing about the separation of races in South Africa and elsewhere.

Airport Neglect Refuted

Parking Area Re Building One Of 2 Side Projects

By FARMER TISSINGTON
Capital Bureau of The Guardian
OTTAWA—Details of two tender calls for reconstruction work on the Summerside airport were made public here Friday by Solicitor General J. Watson MacNaught.

The major tender call, which closes Sept. 11, will involve close to $1,000,000 and involves the reconstruction of the parking apron adjacent to hangars 1 and 2. Specifically, it calls for removal and disposal of 81,780 square yards of 12 inch concrete apron. The reconstruction, construction of new sub-drains and station drainage system, including 14 man holes and 17 catch basins, together with revisions to the airfield and taxi lighting systems.

The smaller project, involving some $50,000 to $60,000, is for repairs to the main runway 06-24, including the replacement of 2,170 square yards of 8 to 10 inch pre-cast concrete slabs, replacement of 4,500 square yards of hot mixed asphalt cement, sealing of 17,800 linear feet of cracks and 12,520 feet of joints. The tenders on this project close Aug. 28.

Mr. MacNaught explained that the projects, which will total between $1,000,000 and $1,200,000, are those which he announced originally on July 9. At that time Mr. MacNaught said the program would be only the beginning of a large-scale project to bring the airport back to its former state.

He was critical of what he described as neglect of the airport in recent years and his answer to the question of why the government had not rebuilt the airport from Senator Orville Phillips, former MP for Prince, Somerset Phillips said the former Conservative government had rebuilt the main runway in 1959 at a cost in excess of $2,000,000, and that an estimate of around $5,000,000 had been approved last year for work on a different runway, the taxi strips and parking area.

U.S. Foreign Aid Cut

U.S. Foreign Aid Cut Termed Short-Sighted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives voted Tuesday to cut $55,000,000 more out of the U.S. program of foreign aid Friday in a Republican-led effort for President Kennedy, who termed the action "short-sighted and irresponsible and dangerously shortsighted."

Acting together, Republicans and Southern Democrats now have cut the foreign aid authorization bill from $1,000,000,000 under the figure Kennedy had proposed.

The president held a press conference at the White House Friday to lay the blame on House Republicans, saying only nine per cent of them voted against the bill.

Recalling that he had supported foreign aid during the Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower, Kennedy said this year is the first time that the leadership of one party led the attack on the bill.

Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and other members of the Republican leadership voted for the cuts.

The House action came as a surprise because the House in long session Thursday had turned back all efforts to trim the size of the bill.

Vandals Start Fire At Montreal Armory

MONTREAL (CP)—Vandals struck at two Montreal armories Friday and the work here was delayed for several days. The fire at the St. Lawrence Armory, a 200,000-sq-ft building, was caused by a bomb exploded on a CPR downtown bridge across the St. Lawrence Seaway. One span was damaged but rail traffic was not interrupted and a four-hour delay was the only impediment to navigation.

The outburst did not come as a surprise to the RCMP.
