

THE REV. ANGUS McDONALD AND THE "HERALD."

To the Editor of the Examiner. Having been informed that many persons in Charlottetown and throughout the country are under the impression that I have written some of the articles which have appeared in the "Herald," I hereby take this opportunity of stating that I have had no connection whatever with the said newspaper except by a subscription; and that consequently, I am not responsible for anything that has appeared in its columns.

I have the honor to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, A. McDONALD.

NEW BOOKS.

History, Geography and Statistics of British North America, by Alex. Munro, Esq.—Such is the title of a new volume of 324 pages, issued lately from the press of Mr. John Lovell, Montreal. The historical sketches of the several Provinces of British America are quite meagre, but they could not be otherwise in so small a compass.

They are nevertheless faithful, so far as they go, and commendably impartial. They will be found very useful for reference, as affording the key to passages in larger volumes. The Geography embraces every important branch of that subject; and the Statistics show the condition of the several Provinces with respect to their revenue and expenditure; resources of all kinds; trade, imports and exports; public debts; public works; population; emigration; education; agriculture; cities and towns, with illustrations of the principal ones.

Altogether the work contains a very large amount of useful information, which will be of much value at the present time when public attention is so earnestly directed to the affairs of British America. The author resides in New Brunswick, and has, in former years, produced several other valuable works illustrating the history and resources of the British Provinces. The present work is for sale at Laird & Harvie's Book Store.

Memoir of Sir Brenton Halliburton, late Chief Justice of the Province of Nova Scotia. By Rev. G. W. Hill, M. A. Halifax: Printed by James Bowes & Son, 1854.

We look upon this volume of 307 pages—which, as regards typography, would be quite creditable for any press—as a very interesting contribution to our Colonial literature. It deals with the life and actions of a good and great Colonial, who distinguished himself, during the most stirring periods of our Colonial history, as a soldier, statesman and jurist; and in the eyes of those who knew him best, he was most admired for his many virtues which adorned his character in social life.

In sketching the career of his hero, the author's hand seems to have been tremulous with affection; but the judgment which characterizes his pages is unclouded, and the style is easy, correct, and sometimes eloquent.—The life of the late Chief Justice is inseparably connected with the history of Halifax, shortly after the period of its settlement, in 1749, down to the time of the separation of the Councils in 1837; and during that long period of public service, his leisure was devoted to the cultivation of letters, part of the result of which, in the form of some excellent contributions, is preserved in this volume. To those who wish to know something of social life in Halifax for half a century—from the time of its settlement down to 1800—will find the most agreeable and interesting reading in the second chapter of the work before us, from the personal of which we have risen with thankfulness to the author for affording us such an intellectual treat.

Union of the Colonies of British North America. By P. S. Hamilton. Montreal: John Lovell. This is a pamphlet of 103 pages, by a Nova Scotia Barrister. It discusses the Union question from a national point of view, and manifests an enthusiastic desire for the consummation of that measure.

It consists of three letters, published in one of the Halifax Journals from 1854 to 1850; and contains many of the broad views enunciated on the great question of Union, before the dates mentioned, and since. Mr. Hamilton, with great modesty, seems to believe that his writings have stimulated the present prevailing discussion on the Union question. Perhaps they have. At all events, they could not repress the discussion; and we are sure that those who are in favour of Union will not be less in favour of it from reading his pamphlet.

Prize Essay on the Calculus for 1855. Published by Laird & Harvie.

Not the least important of the recent publications on our table is the foregoing. It has been got up in the usual good style which has characterized this annual for several years. It contains, besides the astronomical information, which is the chief feature in a work of this kind, a full account of our Governmental and Legislative institutions, public statistics, trade and resources of the country; and, in short, every sort of information which such a work could be expected to afford.

We are indebted to our esteemed contemporary, the Ottawa Citizen, for a copy of their excellent Almanac. It contains a great deal of useful information respecting Canadian institutions and affairs.

CONCERT AT ST. ANDREW'S HALL. The Concert by the members of the St. Cecilia Choral Society, under the able direction of their President, the Rev. A. Z. Trudelle, last Wednesday evening, was like all the previous entertainments, was highly successful, completely successful.

The Hall was beautifully lighted up for the interesting occasion. The audience was large and very select. This is the second Concert that has been given by the St. Cecilia Choral Society this winter; and if we are to judge by the performance on each occasion, the Society is making rapid progress in the art of music.

The cultivation of music is a pleasant but difficult task. Skill in its practice is to be gained only by a clear understanding of its principles. There is no station or degree in society in which music may not be cultivated with advantage. The humblest may find in it a recreation within their reach, full of innocent enjoyment and its principles with moral and social benefits. Its precepts and rules afford exercise to the intellect, and its practice as an art exalts and purifies the mind.

The cultivation of music is an innocent and salutary relaxation from the severer cares and occupations of life. It has been found that the highest pleasures which it can impart—pleasures derived from the knowledge of its noblest productions—are accessible to the humblest as well as to the highest; and that it is the former class that music dispenses its best and dearest blessings. Hitherto the attainment of scientific knowledge and technical skill in music has been confined to the wealthy. But the St. Cecilia Choral Society recognizes no distinction in this respect—it is open to all classes. The poor as well as the rich can avail themselves of the advantages it affords. We feel certain that if it continues, (and we are led to believe it will), music will be more extensively practised among us than it has been heretofore.

At 8 o'clock the performance commenced. The programme, consisting of twelve solos and choruses, all by different authors, was judiciously prepared. The following is a copy of it:—

1. "That will be ere set of Sun."—Chorus. King.

2. "The Basketmaker's Child."—Solo and Chorus. Queen.

3. "Trust to Luck."—Barytone Solo. Smart.

4. "Hark! the Watch-dogs Bark."—Solo and Chorus. Purcell.

5. "Silence! Silence!"—Quartette. Rothenstein.

6. "The Distant Drum."—Chorus. Jarvis.

7. "The Mountain Bugle."—Chorus. Hewitt.

8. "Berthe la Rieuse."—Soprano Solo. Guion.

9. "Annie of the Vale."—Solo and Chorus. Thomas.

10. "The Wash."—Bass Solo. Cucklen.

11. "The Barley Bree."—Solo and Chorus. Marterton.

12. Comic Song—"The Old Bachelor."—Chorus. God Save the Queen.

At the close of the Concert, and previous to the singing of the National Anthem, the Patron of the Society, the Very Rev. Dr. McDonald, rose, and on behalf of the Society thanked the audience for their attendance.

The Hon. Mr. Whelan, who is an honorary member of the Society, followed the Patron, and in a short speech eulogized the Society for the high order of musical talent evinced on the occasion.

The amount realized by the Concert was $215 13d, which sum, after deducting expenses, has been handed over to the Ladies' Benevolent Society, for the relief of the poor of this city.

MEETING AT NEW PERTH.

A meeting of the inhabitants of New Perth and adjacent settlements was held at the above place, on Tuesday the 27th inst., to take in consideration the Report of the Delegates at the Quebec Conference. The Rev. Dr. Knox being called to the chair, and D. A. W. Kennedy appointed Secretary, the meeting proceeded to read the Report of the Delegates, commencing on the various items which were particularly referred to the interests of the Island. He concluded by expressing the hope that every individual who desired the prosperity of his country should make the terms of the proposed Union of the Colonies the subject of his earnest consideration, and so act as to merit the lasting gratitude of posterity.

Several gentlemen having expressed their opinions on the subject, the majority of whom, though objecting to the terms of Union proposed in the Report, were anxious that the subject should receive still further consideration and discussion at a future meeting, and the following resolutions were almost unanimously adopted:—

Moved by Thomas Owen, Esq., seconded by Robert Shaw, Esq., and carried:—

Resolved, That this meeting be adjourned till the 20th January next, at six o'clock, p. m., and that the Secretary be instructed to send in relation to the subject of the proposed Union of the Colonies in Parliament, desiring them to attend the said meeting; and also that the Hon. Edward Palmer be requested to be present.

It was then moved by Thomas Owen, Esq., seconded by Peter Stewart, and carried:—

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be sent to the printer, and that every publication and that other papers be requested to copy.

The Chairman, by motion, having vacated the chair, and Daniel McDonald, Esq., being called to the same, the thanks of the meeting were tendered to the Chairman for his impartial conduct in the chair.

Three cheers having been given for the Queen, the meeting was duly adjourned till Friday the 20th January next, 1865.

D. A. W. KENNEDY, Secretary.
