ST LOUIS (AP)—From out of the mouths of children is coming information about one of the most hazardous effects of the atomic bomb: strontium-90.

In St. Louis, children give their baby teeth to a scientific group which is studying strontium-90, mainly trying to determine how much of it people are absorbing.

The group, called the Committee on Nuclear Information (CNI), has been collecting baby teeth for more than two years. Radioactive fallout, which includes strontium-90, occurs immediately after a nuclear explosion and, borne by high winds, keeps coming down for about three years.

The minute particles settle upon the vegetables we eat and are also passed on to us in meat and milk. Strontium-90 is similar to calcium in makeup and therefore has an affinity for bone.

Complete Equality Is Asked For Naturalized Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons have been asked to take steps to give naturalized Canadians "complete legal equality" with native-born Canadians.

J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonavista - Twillingate) made the plea in advocating an amendment to the Bill of Rights declaring that a naturalized Canadian can lose his citizenship only by renouncing it himself.

The measure failed to come to a vote in the single hour allotted to private bills, as several Conservative members spoke against it. It now goes to the bottom of the private bills list, with the possibility of dying on the Commons order paper.

Mr. Pickersgill, former minister of citizenship and immigration, said there should be no law making it possible "arbitrarily" to strip a naturalized Canadian of his citizenship.

It was his understanding that a naturalized Canadian could have his citizenship cancelled if he remains outside the country for 10 years or more without taking steps to have it maintained. The same did not apply to citizens of Canadian birth.

Mr. Pickersgill said his proposed amendment would assure naturalized Canadians that only by adopting the citizenship of another country could they lose their Canadian citizenship.

It would make them equal to other Canadians "as far as the law can make them equal. They aren't now," he said.

Robert S. MacLellan (PC-Inverness - Richmond) argued that the Bill of Rights should not be "cluttered up" with amendments such as that proposed by Mr. Pickersgill.

Mr. MacLellan said the Bill of Rights is a "sacred statement."

It would "cheapen" the Canadian passport if it were given to persons who came to Canada only to obtain Canadian "prestige and status" and then left the country because they had no interest in it.

Mr. Pickersgill said he was asking only to fulfill one of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's "unfulfilled promises."

The prime minister was not in the house for the debate.

PRISONERS GET GOLF COURSE

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP)—Older members of a rather exclusive set here are having a nine-hole golf course built for them at no cost, and they can use it without paying an admission charge.

The only requirement is a lengthy jail sentence.

It's the only way anyone can get to play the nine-hole course now being built inside the security compound of Nottingham Jail, a prison for criminals sentenced to long terms.

The building of the course was initiated when officials found the older prisoners, unable to play cricket or soccer, standing around during the recreation period.

Opening lead—queen of clubs. The purpose of the elimination play is to save declarer a trick he might otherwise lose. Declarer tries to set up a position which, when he thrusts one of the defenders into the lead, forces that player to make a lead favorable to the declarer.

South is in four spades and gets a club lead which he wins with the ace. He cashes the A-K of spades, pushing the queen will drop, but East shows out on the second spade and South then knows he must lose a trump trick.

Two heart losers are also certain. Since there are no club tricks to lose, the success of the hand depends upon whether or not declarer is able to escape a diamond loser.

This would be easy enough for South to arrange if he knew which defender had the queen of diamonds—he has a possible finesse against the queen in either direction—but since he doesn't know where the queen is located and doesn't want to guess, he falls back on the elimination play.

He cashes the king of clubs, ruffs a club, and then gives West his trump trick. By eliminating clubs from dummy, he forces West to return a heart. (West cannot afford a diamond or club return, either of which would be fatal.)

South wins the queen of hearts with the ace and exits with a heart. It does not matter whether West wins this heart trick and East the next one, or vice versa.

The defender who winds up on lead is then forced to play a diamond, thus relieving declarer of the necessity to guess the location of the queen of diamonds, or else to return a club or a heart, thus permitting declarer a ruff and discard. The elimination play is bound to succeed in all cases.

There are other variations by which South can attain the same favorable position, but the important thing is that South should rely upon the elimination play rather than his secret powers.
