Familiar Pattern

TORONTO Maple Leafs once again took command of their feuds with Montreal Canadiens when they blanked the Habs 3-0 at Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday night.

It was only in their last meeting with the Montrealers that Leafs lost their magic touch. The defending champions haven't been able to cause too much excitement this season but they surely have the secret of upending the charges of Toe Blake. Their next meeting is December 18 in Montreal Forum when Leafs will do their mightiest to continue the suprmacy. However, the Canadiens should be more healthy by that time and Leafs will likely be given a stern test in this one.

BUT Toronto's big trouble is the cold hard fact that they haven't been able to topple those Black Hawks from Chicago. Even on Toronto ice, the Hawks have reused to bow to the Imlachmen. In the Windy City they really humiliated them by blanking them 6-0. This failure to be able to stop the Hawks has cost the Leafs dearly and they trail the boys of Billy Reay by ten huge points. Just to soften the blow a bit, we might add that Leafs have a game in hand.

Those who would like to see Chicago start tumbling (that doesn't include fellows like Wendle Cudmore, Kip Morgan or Carman Smith) are talking of Hawks' failure in the last two home games to beat the two lowliest teams. New York Rangers went into Chicago Sunday and battled the homesters to a 3-3 tie. It took two third period goals by Hawks to give them a split in the points.

Thursday night Boston Bruins were in the Hawks' camp and they almost handed the Chicago club its first home loss of the season. With only 31 seconds remaining Bobby Hull scored on a long screened shot to square the affair at 2-2. Boston played fine hockey throughout and their goalie Johnson deserved a triumph. The Bostonians showed loads of hustle and their showing has started a lot of folks thinking that they might make those playoffs.

Pride Is Hurt

HAWKS' pride must be a bit hurt by those last two ties. After sweeping everything in front of them, these two deadlocks in succession with Rangers and Bruins surely must give the other teams some courage. The only two games Hawks lost this season were to Detroit and Boston. Boston trails in the standings and Detroit took two bad beatings from Habs and Leafs before Olympia fans. If these Bruins and Wings can do it, then surely the other clubs must be able to accomplish the feat.

Leafs get another chance Saturday night when Hawks come flying into the Gardens. The place will be jammed for this one and it should be a humdinger of a battle. Hawks will be trying desperately to further humble the Imlachmen. They like nothing better than beating Toronto before Queen City fans.

Leafs realize this and they have had enough humiliation. Whether they can do anying about it or not remains to be seen. They have an excellent opportunity Saturday night. If they can topple the Black Hawks, that would be three games in a row in which Hawks haven't tasted victory. That would be big news indeed because of the way Hawks are flying this season.

Last time Billy Reay and his boys were in Hogtown they trailed Leafs 2-0 but when hostilities had ceased the score was 3-3. Leafs couldn't hold the early lead they had garnered and another chance to beat the Hawks went by the boards.

Grossly Exaggerated

BACK in 1933, Ace Bailey, Toronto hockey player, lay near death's door after a collision with Boston Bruins' Eddie Shore. For days folks picked up their papers to see if Ace had died. He rallied from this critical injury and was hale and hearty Wednesday when he listened on radio to the news of his own death.

Harold Baillie, nicknamed 'Ace', a parks superintendent in Toronto, had died unexpectedly. Through an error, radio broadcasts had it that the former Maple Leaf had died. Ace heard the news on radio and immediately telephoned the Maple Leaf Gardens that he would be on hand to act as penalty timekeeper for Leafs-Canadiens game Wednesday night.

As Mark Twain had said, the report of his death had been grossly exaggerated.

HUNTER'S CORNER

Hunting Season Is Closing For Ducks, Geese Saturday

When this column appears in print the legal hunting season on ducks and geese will have another day to go... Saturday, December 7th, as a winter dusk settles over the fields and marshes, the curtain will drop and the hunting season of 1963 will be relegated to the memory column. It was the geese that saved the day for the waterfowl hunters and, it is this columnists findings that the take on geese exceeded any previous record. In the twenties and thirties individual goose hunters made some heavy kills but the overall take was small compared to the present age. With the advent of stubble shooting most everyone, that is able to carry a gun have gotten into the act and some that are not ready to carry such a lethal weapon as a shotgun are now 'Wildgoose addicts'.

Farmers and their sons have been bitten with the goose hunting bus and urban hunters have to team up with them and go along for the ride. They have no other choice. A goose hunter is not made in a day or year and some of them are not immune from 'goose fever' and never will be able to withstand the pulse stirring moment when the big black and white honkers come roaring in with their landing gear down for a landing. I have known hunters to 'freeze' in their tracks at the crucial moment when they should be in full possession of their faculties. The air may appear to be filled with geese and convey the impression that all one has to do is to point the gun in their general direction and pull the trigger. I have often drawn a bead on a goose, with other birds to all appearances trying to crowd her out of the air, and just the bird I selected for my target would crumple and fall. There are times when a flock is swinging off at a sharp angle that a double, or even triple, will be made with a single shot.

IN 'DEEP FREEZE'

A few days ago a farmer saw a flock of seventeen geese alight in his stubble field. When he reached a fringe of short bushes he stood up and found the flock looking at him at a range of 20 yards. He froze add they also froze but the farmer was the one who was in a 'deep freeze.' For a matter of seconds geese and hunter stared at each other and then the flock was 20 feet in the air in a split secon d. When the hunter did pull the trigger he was under them by six feet or more... not even a feather floated earthward. He was carrying a single barrel gun and had no chance for a second shot.

Geese west on a stubble feeding spree this fall. This spring geese fed on unharvested gain that lay on the ground all winter. They had their choice of wheat, oats or barley that weather conditions last fall had made harvesting impossible. I made the remark to my hunting partner at the time that those same geese would be stubble feeding addicts next spring and that they would pay a high price for their board and they most certainly did. The goose season opened on September 30th and hunting pressure never relaxed regardless of the fact that until the last few days of October many of the geese bagged were not worth the trouble of plucking. In fact some that were pluccked and cooked were later thrown out after only a small portion of the meat was eaten.

One wonders about the possession limit of geese and how well this regulation is observed. The possession limit is ten and possession in this instance does not only mean in personal possession but includes birds in the freezer or cold storage. For instance: If a hunter has 10 geese in storage it is not lawful for him to hunt geese until one or more have been consumed. If nine are in storage the hunter may go out and shoot on goose only. If he exceeds this number he leaves himself open to prosecution under the Federal Regulations governing same. Information has been received about parties of hunters known to have shot a large number of geese but are still hot on their trail. On Monday morning of this week a party of hunters, presumably five in number, shot 25 geese over their 'rig'. On Tuesday morning they were out looking for more and Monday was not the only day they have been successful in bagging a fair number of geese. Some hunters are never satisfied and feel that they are entitled to take their daily limit each day they hunt if they have the opportunity.

REAL LETDOWN

There are times when even a hunter has a letdown feeling when he secures his daily limit too easily. Here is a case in point: A number of years ago my partner and I and a companion shot our daily limit of 15 geese in 10 minutes. They were all shot in the air and not on the sit. We dropped seven out of the first flock of 40 odd birds. Almost before we had them picked up two small flocks of four each came in about three minutes apart and the ground came up and met all of them. It was just a repeat one, two, three, four. Speaking for myself and my partner it was weeks before we got goose fever again and it was a very light attack. I never in my life saw geese act so foolish. Just as started to pick up our decoys a flock of eleven came right up to us. For a moment I thought they were going to alight awqy. As we each stood, with a backload of decoys draped over our shoulders, a flock of 40 came down the field not 30 feet off the ground. I can still see them, in my mind's eye, with big black feet down for a landing and veering off so disgustedly when they spotted us. There are times, but not too often, when geese live up to the old saying: "As stupid as a goose." ing: "As stupid as a goose." The hunting season of 1963 will go down on the records as a top goose hunting year if nothing else

GIFT FOR THE OWLS

Jim Bunning Is Happy Over Trade To Phils

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I couldn't be happier," said Jim Bunning.

That was the right-handed pitcher's reaction Thursday upon learning he and catcher Gus Triandos had been traded by Detroit to the Philadelphia Phillies for outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Jack Hamilton.

"I'm not surprised," added Bunning, who had a disappointing 12-12 record last year after seven outstanding years with the Tigers.

The 32-year-old pitcher was a 20-game winner in 1957 and pitched a no-hitter against Boston the following year.

"We're delighted to get him," said manager Gene Mauch of the Phillies. "I always regarded Bunning as one of the best pitchers in the American League.

"I think he'll be a big winner for us. His record in all-star games against the National League has been phenomenal."

The Tigers were equally delighted in acquiring Demeter, who will play centre field with Billy Bruton moving to left. Al Kaine, of course, will be in right.

Demeter, the Philies' leading slugger the past three seasons, walloped 22 home runs and drove in 83 runs this past season, but the tall right-handed hitter's batting average skidded from .307 in 1962 to .258.

"We must find someone to replace Demeter against left-handed pitching," said Mauch. "He murders left-handers."

Demeter, 28, batted .314 against southpaws but his only .221 against right-handers.

Mauch said he expected Triandos, a 33-year-old long-ball hitter, to alternate behind the plate with the left-handed hitting Clay Dalrymple.

Triandos, who hit 30 home runs for Baltimore in 1958, equalling Yogi Berra's record for most homers in a season by an American League catcher, batted .239 in 106 games for the Tigers last season. He had been acquired in a trade with the Orioles a year ago.

Montreal Canadiens Beat Rangers For Fourth Time

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens gave up the first goal Thursday night and then came on to defeat New York Rangers 4-2, Montreal's fourth straight win over the New Yorkers without a loss this National Hockey League season.

The win for Canadiens put them back in second place in the race, a point ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs. The Rangers dropped into fifth place, two points behind Detroit.

The Rangers scored early in the first period on a goal by Phil Goyette and found themselves trailing 4-1 before Don Marshall, another Ex-Canadien player got New York's second in the third period.

Red Berenson, Bobby Rousseau, Jean Beliveau and Dave Balon scored for Montreal.

Balon's goal was his 12th of the season. Beliveau's was his eighth—his first since Nov. 16. It turned out to be the winning goal and was Beliveau's 61st winning marker in his NHL career. He now is in his 11th season.

LIVELY OPENING ..

The opening period was the liveliest of all, when Canadiens widely outskated the Rangers and were flitting past the New York defence frequently to power shots at goalie Jacques Plante.

After Marshall's goal early in the last period the Rangers opened up and gave the Montreal defence and goalie Charlie Hodge a few busy spells.

First period—1. New York, Goyette 8 (Neilson, Hadfield) 2:15; 2. Montreal, Berenson 3 (Rousseau) 11:43; 3. Montreal, Rousseau 4 (Berenson, Richard) 12:41. Penalties — Laperriere 7:20, 18:46.

Second period—4. Montreal, Beliveau 8 (Geoffrion, Rousseau) 6:06 5. Montreal, Balon 12 (Provost, Backstrom) 13:04 Penalties—Johns 5:40, Richard 19:57.

Third period — 6. New York, Marshall 3 (Henry, Cahan) 3:13. Penalty—Montreal bench (served by Backstrom) 13:55.

Wings Defeat Boston Club

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio each scored two goals Thursday night as Detroit Red Wings snapped a seven-game winless streak with a 4-2 National Hockey League victory over Boston Bruins.

Murray Oliver scored both of Boston's goals, each within a minute of Howe's tallies.

Delvecchio's goals ended a 12-game scoring famine for the Detroit captain. Howe's goals were his first since Nov. 10 when he set the NHL career goal scoring mark of 545. That game also was the last one that Red Wings won.

After a scoreless first period, Howe put the Red Wings ahead at the three - minute mark. Oliver tied the score 26 seconds later when he beat Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk from close in.

The Red Wings argued that Oliver had kicked in Lee Boivin's shot, but the officials allowed the goal.

Sawchuk, who missed two games because of a wrenched back, was tested only 20 times in the game. Boston goalie Ed Johnston had to make 33 saves, 25 of them in the first two periods.

The victory, coupled with New York's 4-2 loss to Montreal, moved the Red Wings into fourth place.

First period — No scoring Penalties—Gadsby 4:54, Godfrey and Prentice 15:20.

Second period — 1. Detroit, Howe 6 (Macmillan, Delvecchio) 3:05; 2. Boston, Oliver 8 (Williams, Boivin) 3:31; 3. Detroit, Delvecchio 4 (Barkley, Howe) 13:04; 4. Detroit, Delvecchio 5 (Howe, Barkley) 17:10. Penalties—Kennedy 2:04, McCord 5:24, Mohns 11:52.

Third period — 5. Detroit, Howe 7 (Delvecchio and Macmillan) 6:15; 6. Boston, Oliver 9 (Bucyk) 6:52. Penalties—None.

Saves:

Johnston	10	15	8	—33

Hockey Fans Get Surprise

TORONTO (CP) — Many hockey officials and fans could hardly believe their eyes when Ace Bailey appeared at Maple Leaf Gardens to take his regular position as penalty timekeeper Wednesday night.

Just about two hours before game time reports of the former Toronto Maple Leaf star's death were broadcast by radio and television stations.

But Ace had been mistaken for Harold Bailie, a 64-year-old city parks employee, who died of a heart attack as he inspected damage to his car following a minor traffic accident.

Harold Bailie was known to his fellow workers as "Ace"—and when some confusion as to identity arose at the hospital, it led to the erroneous report.

Thirty years ago this month the hockey Ace hovered on the brink of death for weeks after being checked by Eddie Shore in a game at Boston, ending his brilliant career. His obituary was written then, too.

"There were sure som surprised looking people when I walkd in," Ace said.

Tiger Ready For Giardello

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Middleweight champion Dick Tiger will be ready if wily Joey Giardello tries any tricks Saturday night in their 15-round title match in Convention Hall.

"I heard that Giardello said he was going to counter-fight," said the 34 - year - old champ from Nigeria. "How do you like that? The challenger telling me how he is going to win the title. He might be going to play some tricks like Gene Fullmer did when he ran away in our second fight at Las Vegas.

"Let him run if he wants to. Really, I always go to my opponent. That's the only way I can fight because I am short and have to get inside."

The champ is 5-foot-8.
