Island Scouts

R. C. A. F. They also stated that the train trip was interesting and that the time passed quite quickly.
At Smith's Falls all the boys got off the train to stretch their legs and their bugle band played several numbers. There was a total of four leaders and 57 boys in the contingent which arrived here Friday evening from P.E.I.
R. C. A. F. contingent leader, Harvey MacKinnon and E. Zakem, all of Charlottetown, and Eric Tanton of Summerside all seemed fresh and fit after their trip and are optimistic of all having a good time while here at Niagara-on-the-Lake.
Among the boys who were on the go and with whom the writer chatted for a while were Jimmy Galgoon, Fred Watton, Ken John-boys was, "It's quite a spot, certainly a big camp and we're going to have a big time of it."

Death Toll

York and New Jersey — one dead.
Twenty-five others were reported missing; 20 in Pennsylvania, three in New Jersey and one each in Virginia and Connecticut.

RESORT TOWN SWAMPED

The full seriousness of the situation in Stroudsburg, a resort town in Pennsylvania's Pocono mountains, became known as communications were restored. The town was long isolated by swirling waters, and its residents so far do not know how many have died.
The known toll is nine, with many others missing.

Governor George M. Leader of Pennsylvania flew to Stroudsburg to make a first-hand survey of the stricken section as far south as Easton, where the boiling Delaware already was 15 feet above flood level—nearly 30 feet high—to break the flood stage record at 38.1 set in 1903. And the river was still rising at Easton.

Stroudsburg was deprived of pure drinking water. Similar conditions existed at Scranton, Pa.; Bristol, Conn., and Easthampton, Mass.

The Red Cross, which dispatched 20 disaster experts into the flooded areas, trucked water to hospitals.

STRANDED IN TREES

The National Guard was ordered out at Torrington, Conn., a city of 28,000 population, where many persons were reported marooned in trees.
End of the rain will not halt the damage. The Connecticut river was expected to overflow this morning. A crest of 26 to 28 feet was forecast for Hartford, scene of major floods in 1936 and 1938.
Flood stage is 16 feet.

Bristol, Conn., and Easthampton, Mass., were without drinking water.
Many industries were forced to shut down operations in New Haven and Litchfield counties in Connecticut and millions of dollars worth of machinery was in danger.

New Wiltshire Breeder Winner In Angus Entry

New Wiltshire took top honours in the Aberdeen Angus beef class yesterday at the Provincial Exhibition. His herd had the champion and grand champion female along with the champion the senior male.
His winnings were 5 firsts, two seconds and one third.
The exhibitor, of which Mr.
Stewart is a partner was Barbour and Stewart. They collected the championship for the junior female and two reserve for the junior female along with the reserve grand champion for females.
J. L. MacEachern from Tea Hill took the grand championship for bulls and a championship for junior males. Boyd Dixon of Clyde River won the reserve junior male championship. He also had three firsts, one second and one third.
Mr. Warnica who judged the breed said the was very pleased with the improvement in the breed over the past five years.
"There is definitely an increase in the size of the animals and a decided improvement in type," he said. Mr. Warnica said he would not have the breeders think the breed had reached a state of perfection, however, and urged them to strive for still further improvement in the breed.

STATE OF EMERGENCY

The state's fourth largest city—Scranton with a population of more than 120,000—was without water suitable for drinking until noon Sat-day. The gushing tide ripped out all the vital mains. The Red Cross trucked emergency water to the city's six hospitals.

Emergencyes were proclaimed in Scranton, and in nearby Tamaqua, and National Guardsmen patrolled water-filled streets. Tamaqua, flooded for the first time in 52 years, had neither power nor telephone service until dawn, and even these utilities services were skippy.

Easton, on the mighty Delaware across from Phillipsburg, N.J., lost all power at noon.
Port Jervis, N.Y., a summer resort in the Pocono mountain country, about 35 miles from Scranton, was isolated. Mayor James E.
J. declared an emergency. At least 1,200 persons were evacuated.
Hundreds of roads and bridges were washed out, stranding thousands of motorists.

RAIL SERVICE CANCELLED

Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts and Governor Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut likewise declared emergencyes for a number of hard-pressed cities.

Service on many railroad lines was cancelled, including most trains out of Boston, where the rainfall for 29 hours until noon Sat-day—a record—a total fall of 10.49 inches.

The Montrealer, a Boston and Maine Railroad train from Washington to Montreal, was stranded in Holyoke, Mass., by high water.
Passengers had to remain aboard because of tracks washed out.
This paralleled the halting of trains in Pennsylvania's Pocono mountains Thursday night. The 333 passengers were stranded overnight.

RESCUED BY HELICOPTERS

Some of 280 on a stalled train at Cresco were airlifted by army helicopters and taken to Scranton, where they were removed by buses.
In Virginia, the rescue of the

flood level—nearly 30 feet high—

Report Record

centre of the weakened storm was reported over eastern Massachusetts late Friday.

BOSTON DELUGED

In 33 hours, 11.54 inches of rain fell in Boston. The old record, set in 1933, was 7.83 inches. But heavier rainfall was received elsewhere.

A dam gave way at Oxford, Mass., forcing 100 families to flee their cottages. Homes they were housed in the town hall.
Another gave way at Woonsocket, R. I.

Disaster apparently was averted at Sandisfield, Mass., in the Berkshire hills, by a volunteer sand-bag crew which fought to hold back the swollen Farmington river through a hydro-electric power reservoir. Flooded roads and washed-out bridges left the townspeople marooned, however. Two coast guard amphibious vehicles sloshed through floodswep roads toward a nursing home where 30 persons were trapped.

At Putnam, Conn., water overflowing the banks of small streams reached a five-foot depth, flooding virtually all the business section.

WATER TO 2nd FLOORS
James F. Bunn, a Providence (R. I.) Journal circulation representative said the flood waters were causing a series of heavy explosions in a large magnesium plant at Putnam.
Bunn reported he was able to travel only a short section of Putnam's main streets when he was halted by flood waters reaching second floor levels of dwellings and business shops.

Bunn gave his report over the first telephone line he could obtain, which was 15 miles from Putnam.
State police reported 60 children moved to higher ground in New Boston, a little community in the Farmington river valley. Red Cross workers were striving to reach them with supplies.

town, Friday was formally charged with murder in the death of James Collins, 80, who was found bludgeoned to death in his home near here Wednesday morning.
Bonnar was remanded to the Carleton county jail until next Friday. He was not represented by counsel.
Prior to his arraignment, Bonn-ar had been a patient under

Long Trek By Wheelchair Has Been Ended

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP)—"A man who loves his wife will do anything for her."
That's why Roscoe W. Mendenhall, 50, says he has pushed his invalid wife nearly 1,000 miles in a wheel chair.
The trek from Miami, Inter-sprung with auto lifts, ended Thursday on a hill outside New Albany. The tire on one of the wheels came loose.
A passing motorist, seeing the couple's plight called police who brought the couple to county jail.
Mendenhall said his wife, Elizabeth, 38, has been an invalid since she was 10. She broke both ankles in a fall at age 5 and then broke them again at 10.
COULDN'T GET WORK
A physician advised the couple to go to Florida where Mrs. Mendenhall might gain enough strength to walk with the aid of braces.
Mendenhall, with $260 saved for the venture, started out. After the couple reached Miami, however, Mendenhall was unable to find work and they decided to return to their Hot Springs, Ark., home.
Mendenhall and his wife got as far as West Point, Miss., before a motorist picked them up and brought them to Richmond, Ind.
From there, Mendenhall resumed the journey on foot.
The couple was given a meal at the jail Thursday and officials made arrangements to send them home by bus.

Russia Accepts Adenauer Plans For Sept. Visit

By IAN FRASER
BONN, Germany (Reuters)— Russia has accepted Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's terms for his visit to Moscow Sept. 9 — just seven weeks before the Big Four foreign ministers meet in Geneva.
"This means the Kremlin leaders have agreed at least to discuss with Adenauer the vital question of German reunification (in which the foreign ministers also will concentrate—if the West has its way).
Russia, on the other hand, insisted at the Big Four meeting in Geneva last month, and since then that the question of a European Security pact should come first at the foreign ministers talks.
A Soviet note to West Germany Thursday said no subject would be excluded from Adenauer's Moscow talks, a government spokesman disclosed here.
