LISTEN TO REASON!

NO DECEPTION!

L. E. PROWSE does not offer a discount of 33 per cent; to do so, 50 per cent profit would need to be added. Such profit would ruin a farmer or any other man--33 per cent discount means a profit of 50 per cent. But the facts are: He buys for cash only, therefore buy from 15 to 25 per cent less than many houses in the trade, and can afford to sell even less than those who pretend to give those Fabulous Discounts.

Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) worth of Clothing at wonderful low prices. Overcoats from $2.75, Suits from $4.50 up. Job Lot Clothing at about half-price. Large stock of Dress Goods, Sacques, Ulsters, Sacque Cloth, Ladies' Hats, &c., very cheap. Shirts and Underclothing below competition.

Every sensible man and woman should see his stock and not be led away by sensational advertisements.

L. E. PROWSE.

Prohibition.

BY CHARLES T. BEATTIE.
Prohibition! let the name
Through the States—the nation flame,
Scribe it with a living pen
On the hearts and minds of men.
Prohibition, go and write
On the dizzy mountains' height;
Take it on your banners high,
Paint it on the azure sky.

Let the name go ringing forth
To the child and rugged north;
Let it swell from every mouth,
Tearing the bright and sunny south,
Make it brown the feet and feast
In the free and cultured east;
Give it room and voice and zest
In the gorgeous, rowdy west.

Brand it, maids and matrons fair,
With the flowers that deck your hair.
Weavers, knit it on the head
Of the crib and cradle bed.
Broiler it upon the door,
On the carpet, on the floor,
On the ceiling, on the dome;
Let it shine in every home.

Bridegroom, on the bridal ring
Grave it, crown it Freedom's King.
Soon to free the slave and thrall
Of the monster Algonak.
Mothers, fathers, hail its reign,
Beating whiskey's galling chain,
Prohibition everywhere,
Lifting millions from despair.

City, village, hamlet, town,
Wrath is with you, rebel crown,
Let it stain upon the wall
Of the Legislature hall.
Paint it in the halls of state,
Grave it on the female gate,
Let it on the altar glow,
State and church, against the foe.

Sailors, mail it ever fast
On the vessel, to the mast,
Soldiers, let your banners be
Blazoned with its heraldry.
Patriots, let your standards wave
Prohibition for the brave.
With its flag, of light unfurled,
Prohibition for the world.

—Chicago, Sept. 23, 1886.

The New Hebrides.

Notwithstanding the assurances given by M. DeFreycinet to Earl Granville, the position of the French in the New Hebrides seems to be unchanged, and the feeling in the Australian colonies is by no means tranquilized. On the contrary, the tone of the journals is that of a population outraged by repeated violation of solemn engagements. It is said that there are already some 15,000 convicts and ticket-of-leave men in New Caledonia, and that the military force on the island is not at all able to cope with such a number of the lawless and outcast class. In the face of such a danger, it looks suspicious that large sheds are being erected in the New Hebrides, which are still occupied by French soldiers, and as fresh batches of convicts continue to arrive, the Australians naturally conclude that the intention of France is to utilize the latter group for the superfluous exiles. Already society in some of the colonies has been imperilled by the invasion of convicts who have either escaped or served their time, and the prospect of having the New Hebrides settled by pioneers of that stamp is by no means welcome. Protests have been uttered again and again, but so far in vain, and the colonists now look to Lord Salisbury's government to deal firmly and once for all with a question which grows more complicated and more threatening every day that it is left in uncertainty. Australia looks upon the adjacent islands of the Pacific as its natural heritage, and seems determined to brook no intruders.

England in Egypt.

English influence in Egypt is of such a character that it is doubtful whether England will ever be able to withdraw. The quality of English justice is now so well understood, not only in Lower Egypt but all over the country, that the Fellahs of Upper Egypt are beginning to come long distances, in many cases on foot, to Cairo for the purpose of seeing the "Englishman," meaning some British administrator whose assistance they seek against the tyranny of the Pashas. They appear to have perfect confidence that if they can only "see the Englishman" they will obtain justice and relief. On one Sunday, recently, no fewer than seven petitions were received from natives of Upper Egypt against acts of the Pashas. This feeling of the fellahen in favor of English administration and the confidence these poor people have that in any case they are safe from the vengeance of the Pashas is one of the most hopeful signs in Egypt. The fellahen of Egypt, like the Bengalese, will always need the protection of a stronger race, and their appreciation of English administration will probably end in their becoming eventually recognized British subjects.

Free Trade.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Boschoe's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75-cent size.

Let August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung troubles, have perhaps the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

Australia.

The Governor of Queensland in a recent speech, took occasion to denounce any idle talk in that colony which recognized the possibility of Australia's separation from the Mother Country. He spoke of the marvellous progress and prosperity of the Australian provinces and expressed the hopefulness that he entertained of the future. "But," he added, "nothing that I know of Australia leads me to believe that she alone could successfully resist any foreign attack made on her. What has been passing lately in the Balkan provinces leads me to conjecture what Australia might experience at the hands of any great power anxious to establish a foothold in the Pacific." In fact, he had no confidence in the ability of the Australians to protect themselves, unaided by England, from foreign aggression. On the other hand, it could not but be extremely unwelcome for Great Britain to contemplate any risk of losing her group of colonies in the Pacific, in which she had many interests at stake, and those not merely commercial. The Governor justified his utter warnings by pointing to the position of France and Germany in the Pacific, and though he trusted that attack on Australia was a remote contingency, he still held it to be possible, and the only safe-guard to be union with Great Britain.

Flax Culture in Canada.

Imperial Federation lays much stress on a paper, read by Mr. E. B. Biggar, in the Conference held of the Colonial exhibition, on the raising of flax in Canada. Hitherto the factories of the United Kingdom have been mainly supplied with that material by Russia, but if flax and tow can, as Mr. Biggar urges, be grown in Canada, of excellent quality and in sufficiency to meet all needs, there is certainly no reason why Russia should have the preference. The statements made by Mr. Biggar were, moreover, confirmed by the speakers who followed him, some of whom had long experience in the agricultural industry in question. The fibre of the flax grown in Manitoba and the Northwest is said to be superior to that of Ontario. And yet the latter, of which 1,000 tons were exported to Belfast during the present year, was pronounced by trained judges to be superior to the Russian article. Some agriculturists hold that flax is more profitable than wheat for breaking up virgin soil, and that it will flourish where the summers are too short for wheat. There is, however, ample room in the Northwest for the raising of both crops to any extent that the European demand can require. It is satisfactory to learn that leading Belfast manufacturers are disposed to encourage the industry in the Northwest.

A Prince Turned Waiter.

Another royal victim of the vicissitudes of fortune is now occupying the gossips of Milan. His story runs thus: "Leon de Luiziano, Prince of Koricoza, descendant of the kings of Armenia, died in Italy in the year 1876. Up to 1853 he served in the French army, and was wounded at Solferino. Napoleon III. gave him a pension, which enabled him to live comfortably. The pension was paid regularly for ten years. At that period he was living with a Milanese beauty, by whom he had several children, whom he legally recognized, but he would never consent to marry her. In 1870, his pension being stopped, the Prince sold his house, and ultimately fell into the most abject poverty, when he died. Three of his children, a girl and two boys, survived, and were brought up in a public asylum. The daughter became servant to the Bishop of Bergamo, but as she would not abjure her Greek faith His Eminence dismissed her. The eldest son, who bears the title of his father, married a peasant girl, and is now serving as a waiter in one of the cafes in Milan.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Coast was Clear.

Mabel—Won't you come in, Charlie?
Charlie (glomby)—You forgot that your father injured my feelings last evening when I was leaving.
Mabel—Yes, darling, but he wore his carpet slippers at the time, and now his foot is done up in a bandage and he goes on a crutch. Come in, darling.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites is prepared in a perfectly agreeable form, at the same time increasing the remedial potency of both of these specifics. It is acknowledged by leading physicians to be marvellous in its curative powers in consumption, Scrophula, chronic coughs and wasting diseases. Take no other.

One of the cars in the Lord Mayor of London procession bore a large imitation iceberg, and that car was labeled Canada. If Canada had been asked how she would appear in the show she would not probably have hit on so broad and so jocular an effect, but her trophy would have told a truer tale, ornamented with enormous squashes and pumpkins, bright big apples and festoons of clustering grapes, with tall stalks of Indian corn and golden sheaves of wheat. The wheels might have been made of cross sections of timber six feet in diameter, and the products of the dairy might have been signified after some artistic fashion, or perhaps exposed in actual fact, to tempt the hungry Londoners to the land of plenty.

There is a very great deal of good sense and force in the argument thus tersely put by an American exchange:—"If it is true that the prohibition law is a failure in Maine, then why are the people of that State so tenacious for its continuance, after more than thirty years' practical experience with its workings; and why are the liquor dealers so anxious to prevent the enactment of a similar law elsewhere?"
