Moneton's Murder.

The Prisoner Speaks.

Says He Knows P. E. Island.

A Nest of Burglars Broken Up.

[SPECIAL TO THE GUARDIAN.]

MONTON, Aug. 3.—The murderer of Constable Steadman was put on trial this morning. He declares the fatal shot was fired over his shoulder by his pal. He pleaded not guilty.

The search for his companions is being prosecuted with good prospects of success. Bands of constables armed with shot guns, rifles and revolvers, are scouring the country in all directions.

The murderer is a Norwegian sailor and says his family lives at St. Paul, Minn.

The Times says the Ex-police marshal Thibideau says he has reason to believe that the prisoner now in the lockup is one of the men who burglarized Dalhousie post office about four years ago.

At that time Mr. Thibideau was police marshal and getting a description of the parties wanted he sighted two men. He arrested one and after locking him up started after the other in a wagon accompanied by the deputy sheriff. The second man was overtaken on Main street, but he drew a revolver on the marshal and escaped up the railway track.

The man arrested is now serving a term in Dorchester. The man who escaped, Mr. Thibideau believes, is now in the lockup, but the prisoner denies that such is the case and claims that he was never in this section until six weeks ago, though he admits that he is well acquainted in P. E. Island.

This confirms the ex-marshal's suspicion, as the man convicted of the Dalhousie burglary said he belonged to P. E. Island and that his pal who escaped belonged to Montreal, from which direction the present gang is supposed to have come.

The inquest on the body of the dead officer was held today, and all evidence points to the man under arrest as the one who fired the fatal shot, while the evidence of women at the house of ill repute shows that they belonged to a regular organized gang of burglars who have been doing the province. The evidence connects one McDermott, a local baseball player, with the gang, and they had a regular rendezvous at Donnelly's, and another house of ill repute near Moneton.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Steadman came to his death by a shot fired from a revolver in the hands of a person to us unknown, and called "Buck" who is now in custody, and that he fired the said shot with intent to kill and murder the said Joseph E. Steadman.

Signed by all the jurymen: E. C. Cole, R. Sangster, Geo. McSweeney, F. W. Givan, H. D. Chapman.

The police committee of the city council offer a reward of $250 for the apprehension of the suspect who escaped.

DESCRIPTION—Of middle age, probably 30, about 5 feet 7 inches in height, was dressed in black clothes, dark shirt, wore a necktie with black spots, whiskers three or four weeks growth and had no hat on when he escaped.

The solicitor general has been telegraphed to, and as the court is now in session, 'tis likely a new grand jury will be summoned to sit on his case and bring on the trial at once.

Mr. W. W. Wilson of Wilson & Co., Chatham whose safe was blown open Friday night last and a sum of money taken therefrom, was shown the foreign silver money taken from the prisoner, "Buck," and identified it as being some of the contents of his safe. Mr. Wilson says the burglars got all of $250 from the safe.

The prisoner, Buck, became quite communicative this morning and told the marshal that if he would save his life he would tell everything. He says there are five in the gang but claims that neither Burns nor McDermott are connected with them. He says the man who escaped had $250 on his person, two revolvers and a dagger and is a desperate character. He also said the man who escaped was not in the habit of drinking though he himself was and was drugged somewhere in town; also, that he has only known his companion Jim for a fortnight. Buck still refuses, however, to give his name.

William Sewell was arrested by Marshal Foster for assisting one of the prisoners to escape.

Henry Donnelly was also arrested on a charge of having $80 of the stolen money in his possession.

TRURO, Aug. 2nd.—Three desperate tramps, supposed to be part of a gang of burglars who have been terrorizing the province during the past month, were arrested here tonight. One of them drew a revolver and attempted to shoot the policeman. They are believed to be part of the gang who murdered Policeman Steadman at Moneton last night. There were four in that gang—three escaped and doubtless worked their way along the Intercolonial on the night and freight trains until they arrived here. They profess to be sailors, and say they belong to London.

Senator Howland's Ideas.

THE TUNNEL MUST PLAY A PART IN THE TRANSFER.

Senator Howland was in Halifax Tuesday to see Mr. Haggart on matters relating to the tunnel scheme. He returned home last night. While in Halifax he was interviewed by a Chronicle reporter.

"Suppose the CPR take over the Intercolonial and Island railways, how will that affect the tunnel scheme?" asked the Chronicle.

"According to my idea," replied the senator, "if the CPR take over the roads in question, the only solution of the question is that they build the tunnel."

"What do you think of the transfer business, anyway?"

"It would be all right. Such a course would rid the Dominion of the tremendous deficit incurred in the working of the roads and likely give the people better travelling and shipping facilities."

"Will the Island people submit with a good grace to their road being handed over to the CPR as a free gift?"

"You could not call it a free gift. The road would be operated subject to the approval of the Dominion Government, and besides a better service would be given the people. The building of the tunnel would counteract any feeling against such a move."

"But suppose the CPR refuse to build the tunnel?"

"Oh, they must build it under those conditions, and I think they will be willing to do so, as, from a business point of view, it will be necessary for the proper carrying out of their great system."

The senator also stated that he was confident the plan of the route could be brought down still finer than 6 1/2 miles and that the cost of the tunnel could be brought within the neighborhood of five millions.

The Chronicle adds: "Mr. Howland left last night for Dalhousie, where he will interview Minister Foster."

Mr. T. E. Kenny entertained the party at the Halifax club last night.

Mr. Crisp's Emphatic Denial.

OF THE CHARGES MADE BY THE SHELBURNE BUDGET.—SHELBURNE, WRENGED.

WOODSTOCK, August 2.—Referring to charges of immoral conduct made against him by a Shelburne, Nova Scotia, paper, Rev. Mr. Crisp, Methodist, of this town, makes a most emphatic and distinct denial of the immoral conduct specified. For the present he declines to make further statements pending consultations with his friends. The feeling in this village is that Mr. Crisp has been cruelly wronged. The charges being the outcome of a matter already tried by the conference of the conduct of the case should be taken up by that body. Much sympathy is felt for the reverend gentleman, and a general hope and belief that he will be fully vindicated. The force of the charge is weakened by the fact that it is understood to come from a man who, rightfully or wrongfully, has been dismissed from the ministry for immorality. The former minister now virtually charges that the offence for which he was punished was really committed by his former brother minister. He also says that the other man has acknowledged his guilt. The greatest pains have been taken to give the charge wide circulation.
