

With The Kids On The Playgrounds

The pro American adult world are still rejoicing at time of writing because of the caption yesterday's paper "North Korean advance comes to unexplained halt." The Americans are still holding Taegon. It is good news for all but the kiddies, for which international conflicts mean little. Their big news came earlier last week with word of the arrival of croquet sets. More important to them than ammunition, air strength, or manpower is the opportunity to play croquet. Unfortunately there are not enough sets to enable everyone desiring to play, to do so at the same time. However there are sufficient spectators at all times to guarantee the correct procedure of the game, and the game before his turn is quickly dispersed from the scene of action by the sight of a wielded mallet in the hands of a player. The game may actually be played in silence but on the squares, the ability to talk another player into the ground often means the winning or losing of a close encounter.

The threatening rain on Tuesday morning intimidated a large number of boys into remaining home from the hike to Rocky Point, but it did not dampen the spirits of the 53 who attended. Thirty six boys from the playgrounds and of major elements of the Eighth Army now accomplished the first phase of the campaign has ended and with it the chance for victory by the North Korean forces. MacArthur explained that the Communists depended upon speedy capture of all South Korea once the Red invaders crashed through the Han River lines south of Seoul. He added:

"This chance he (the enemy) has now lost through the extraordinary speed with which the Eighth Army has been deployed from Japan to stem his rush." With the western front suddenly aflame again after a three-day lull, the divisions of American troops, newly landed in Korea, rushed west and northwest from the east coast to safeguard Allied supply lines to the front. The fresh Red attack was against the new positions of the U. S. 24th Division north and west of Taegon. Exactly where the Communists hit was not disclosed in field dispatches.

The assembly asked that the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial conference give its support to appointment of a Royal Commission to study manufacture, sale and distribution of liquor. Other resolutions covered gambling, lotteries, and the decline in Sunday observance.

TRUMAN

Immediately call up a limited number of reserves. The President gave them the power to do so today, along with authority to summon the National Guard and draft more men.

Higher defence spending will go on for years, the President warned in a message he sent to the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Warning To Russia Coupled with his recommendations, the President voiced a stiff warning obviously aimed at Russia, in these words:

"The free world has made it clear through the United Nations, that lawless aggression will be met with force. This is the significance of Korea—and it is a significance whose importance cannot be overlooked."

"I shall not attempt to predict the course of events. But I am sure that those who have it in their power to unleash or withhold acts of armed aggression will realize that new recourse to aggression in the world today might well be the breaking point in the fabric of world peace."

"We will not flinch in the face of danger or difficulty." Members of Congress generally approved Truman's message, although some Republicans showed little enthusiasm for giving broad grants of power to the President.

Truman's message did not specifically spell out the things Americans will have to give up to meet the emergency, but in general terms it would mean:

1. Perhaps fewer automobiles, television and radio sets among other "non-essential" articles. Truman's request for power to "allocate" materials means the right to channel steel, for example, from the manufacture of refrigerators to guns.

2. Tightened instalment credit, probably higher down payments and less time to pay.

3. Higher taxes in the offing. The President's call for authority to requisition supplies and control inventories laid the basis for federal seizure of hoarded materials and limiting the output of civilian goods.

Scarcely had Truman's 5,500-word message been read in the Senate and House than bills to carry out his proposals were introduced in both chambers of Congress.

Truman denounced the Communist invasion of South Korea as "a naked, deliberate, unprovoked aggression, without a shadow of justification," and he declared:

"The attack upon the republic of Korea makes it plain beyond all doubt that the international communist movement is prepared to use armed aggression to conquer independent nations."

"We must therefore recognize the possibility that armed aggression may take place in other areas."

Truman asked Congress to take off the lid which limits the size of the armed forces. By law, the ceiling is now 2,008,882 men—Army 837,000, Navy 866,882, and Air Force 505,000. He said their strength should be increased "substantially."

Six Canadians In Second Stage Of King's Prize Shoot

BISLEY CAMP, Surrey, England, July 19—(CP)—Six Canadian marksmen have reached the second stage of the King's Prize Shoot at the Empire Rifle Shooting Championships.

Sgt. M. Ostergaard of Calgary, Alta., a second-year man on the Canadian Bisley team, led the official team members with a score of 99, while right behind with 98 were Cpl. J. H. Blais, Montreal, and Maj. Eric Cowan, Montreal, and Cms. J. S. Draper, South Porcupine, Ont.

Two students from the Central Collegiate Institute in Hamilton, Ont., also qualified to advance to the next round. They were cadets Wingfield and James with scores of 90 and 88 respectively.

Three other Canadians—two official team members and a Hamilton cadet—will take part in a tie shoot tomorrow when 148 competitors who scored 97 out of a possible 105 will decide the remaining nine vacancies in the second stage. They are Sgt. B. Kay, Hamilton, Ont., Maj. G. C. Baker, Kentville, N. S., and Cadet Hunt.

New Seamen's Mess Opened At Queen Charlotte

The new seamen's mess at H. M. C. S. "Queen Charlotte" was officially opened last evening by Capt. J. J. Connolly.

Although the painting and decorating of the mess itself had not yet been completed, the lounge which the men have worked on in their spare time is finished, and speaks extremely well for what might be expected of the balance.

Said to be one of the finest in Eastern Canada, the lounge has an atmosphere of comfort and friendliness. Painted in pastel green and beige, it is furnished with warm brown leather-upholstered easy chairs and lounges, and carpeted in reddish brown. Wood used in the furniture is all in limed oak finish. The collection of books in the case, the fireplace and radio all add up to a comfortable room in which to sit and relax. Pastel green plastic curtains are used, and lamps placed at strategic points for reading.

Speaking to the members of the mess and their wives after he had opened the new lounge, Capt. Connolly compared the entire barracks with the condition it was in 1936 when it was first taken over, and commended the men very highly on the work they had done to make it a barracks of which they could be justly proud. "A great deal of enthusiasm and time has been spent in preparing your new mess," he said, "and I congratulate you on the results of your foresight which has provided a mess which will bring both you and your successors much pleasure."

Accompanying Capt. Connolly was Mrs. Connolly, Lt. Lieutenant C. Binmore and Mrs. Binmore. A large number of the members of the mess were present with their wives and girl friends, and refreshments and dancing were the order of the evening.

Nehru's Peace Bid At Dead End

By EDWARD E. BOMAR WASHINGTON, July 19—(AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's move for a peaceful settlement of the Korean crisis came to an apparent dead end today.

In a second note to State Secretary Dean Acheson, the Indian statesman renewed and defended his suggestion that Red China be admitted to the United Nations Security Council as a prelude to a U. N. attempt at settlement. He said he did not think this would be "an encouragement of aggression."

But State Department officials said no further American reply is planned. They were standing by their opinion that the U. N. decision on Red China's membership should not be "dictated by an unlawful aggression" in Korea.

Moscow wants Communist China in the U. N., and Prime Minister Stalin has said Russia welcomes the Nehru proposal.

The Sino-Indian-Nehru exchange was made public by the State Department, by agreement with the Indian Government. Moscow had seized a propaganda advantage by pushing Stalin's reply a day earlier and calling it evidence Russia wants a peaceful settlement.

Beef For Britain Australia Boom

LONDON, July 19—(Reuters)—Agreement between Britain and Australia on a plan to make Australia one of the greatest beef-producing areas in the world is expected to be announced here shortly.

The plan gives Australia a guaranteed market in Britain for all her surplus meat for the next 15 years. A $5,000,000 ($15,000,000) capital-development scheme to open up large areas in Northern Australia for cattle farming was put before the British government last year and a "gentleman's agreement" reached whereby Britain undertook to buy surplus meat.

Negotiations on details of Britain's part in the scheme, with discussions on prices and quantities, have been going on in London for some months and conclusion will signal the start of a new drive in Australia to get the plan under way.

Immediate benefits to the British farmer will be small, as the agreement is essentially long term. But Australian sources estimate an eventual annual production of 540,000 tons of beef.

Blocked Shipments To Russian Territory

WASHINGTON, July 19—(AP)—The United States Commerce Department reported today it has blocked shipment of more than $150,000,000 in war-potential goods to Russian-dominated Eastern Europe in the last two years.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer told President Truman and Congress the action was aimed at preventing export of American materials and equipment that would bolster Soviet military power.

His report showed that stop-orders blocked shipment of 36 per cent of the $530,000,000 in goods which the Soviet bloc sought from this country after the U. S. adopted "security" restrictions on exports in March, 1948.

For Russia alone, they prevented movement of 74 per cent, or $38,000,000, of the $52,700,000 in goods for which export licenses were asked. Sawyer said, "Shipments were permitted only when the goods were plentiful here and lacked war potential value."

Former Island Man Dies In United States

John Darke, born at Brookfield, P. E. I., died at Bangor, Maine, on July 4, at the age of 78 years. Burial service was held from Bangor Baptist Church, burial at Bangor Cemetery.

Mr. Darke was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Darke. Besides his widow and family in the U. S., he leaves to mourn his death two sisters, Phoebe, Mrs. John Crabbe, Milton, P. E. Island, and Emily, Mrs. Samuel Newson, Kingston, P. E. Island. Also surviving is a brother, Maj. William G. Darke, Hunter River, P. E. Island.

Attending the funeral from P. E. Island were the late Mr. Darke's niece, Mrs. Howard Carr, Oyster Bed Bridge, and two grand nephews, Robert Carr, Brookfield, and Bennett Carr, Oyster Bed Bridge.

Korean War Has Italy Jittery

By GEORGE BRIA ROME, July 19—(AP)—The Korean war has given Italian officialdom an acute case of fifth-column jitters.

Steady Communist losses on the peacetime fronts of elections and the labor movement, plus optimistic reports of United States aid officials, had lulled Italians into a sense of security.

With a few more years of American dollar help, they reasoned, the Communist threat would disappear altogether. The shooting on the 38th parallel changed this overnight.

As the danger of a third world war loomed, Italians took a close look and found that Palmiro Togliatti still claims 2,500,000 comrades, the biggest Communist Party in Western Europe.

And Italy's 300,000-man army, navy and air force is the smallest of the major Atlantic-pact forces. The implications of these twin realities jolted the country. Premier Alcide de Gasperi, winding up a chamber debate on the Korean crisis, devoted most of his speech to the fifth-column danger. The Christian Democrat leader asserted his government was ready to smash fifth-column attempts "at any cost, at any price and at any sacrifice."

But the speech reflected more the Premier's worry over the threat than any real preparedness to deal with it.

U. N. Military Observer Killed

BOMBAY, July 19—(CP)—Brig. H. H. Angle of Kelowna, B. C., chief military observer for the United Nations Commission for Kashmir, was killed today in the crash of an Indian National Airways plane en route to Kashmir.

The plane carried 22 persons. The plane left New Delhi at 9:15 a.m. (12:15 a.m. EDT) on the 2-1/2-hour flight to Srinagar, Kashmir. The New Delhi airport lost contact with the plane at 11:05 a.m. when it was near Pathankot in 9,000-foot high Himalian Pass.

Also aboard the plane were Prime Minister Nehru's private secretary, an Austrian diplomat and two other U. N. observers. The Austrian was Dr. Carl Peziera, Charge d'Affaires at the embassy here. Five of the passengers were Americans and one an Australian. Others aboard and the crew were all Indian.

Angle was appointed last January to head the observers' affairs serving one year as a member of the group which is exchanging carefully the truth between India and Pakistan in the rich province in the northern section of the Indian sub-continent.

The 46-year-old Canadian reserve officer was a magistrate and fruit rancher at Kelowna before his appointment as an observer in January, 1949.

British Warships In Minor Actions

TOKYO, July 19—(Tuesday)—(AP)—British warships have attacked and been attacked four times thus far in the blockade and harassment campaign against North Korean Communists, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The announcement summarized the part the Royal Navy is playing alongside the U. S. Navy in Korean waters. MacArthur's current communique reported the naval blockades continue unchanged.

A British frigate was strafed by two North Korean fighter planes in the first action of the east coast July 3 with minor damage.

Next day the British frigate and a U. S. cruiser fired on a railroad bridge north of Samchok on Korea's east coast. Results were not known.

A British light cruiser July 7 shelled oil tanks, bridges, and shipping in the Chumunjin area. Enemy shore batteries fired on the British ship without inflicting damage. Results were not announced.

The summary said the same cruiser and a U. S. destroyer bombarded a cliff road near Uchun July 8 to stall enemy moves. Both ships were fired on by a battery of three guns. The cruiser was hit by one shell but suffered no material damage.

The ship later was identified by the Admiralty as the Jamaica. (Other British ships involved were not named.)

Three shore guns were reported silenced July 12 by a British destroyer which engaged a battery of four guns on the north side of Paengnyong Island, off the west coast just south of Parallel 38.

Says All Races Mentally Equal

PARIS, July 19—(Reuters)—No race is mentally superior to another given equal opportunity, a report was issued today by the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization.

"UNESCO" described the report as the "most authoritative statement of modern scientific doctrine on the controversial subject of race that has ever been issued." It was drawn up by scientists from Britain, United States, New Zealand, Mexico, Brazil, India, France, Norway and Sweden.

Main points of the report were: 1. "Such differences as exist between different groups of mankind are due to factors such as isolation, the drift and random fixation of the particles which control heredity (genes) and natural selection."

2. "It would be better to drop the term 'race' altogether and speak of ethnic groups. People who live in Iceland or England or India are not races, nor are people who are culturally Turkish or Chinese thereby describable as 'races.'"

3. "There are three principal ethnic divisions: the Mongoloid, the Negroid and the Caucasoid. Given similar degrees of opportunity to realize their potentialities, the average achievement of the members of each group is about the same."

4. "Intelligence tests do not enable us to differentiate safely between what is due to innate capacity and what is the result of environmental influences, training and education. There is no definite evidence that there exist inborn differences in temperament between human groups. Obviously individuals in all ethnic groups vary greatly among themselves in endowment."

Canadian Ships Fly Many Flags

OTTAWA, July 18—(CP)—The United Nations flag, in being flown by three Korea-bound Canadian destroyers, is joining quite a family of Canadian seagoing flags.

As members of a Commonwealth navy the three destroyers while at sea fly the white ensign, consisting of a red St. George's Cross on a white background with the Union Jack in the upper left-hand corner.

In port, they would also fly the Canadian blue ensign, a duplicate of the red ensign widely used in Canada except that the background is blue. This establishes Canadian identity.
