A recorded snow fall of 12.3 inches by the Meteorological Station, Charlottetown Airport, for the three-day Easter storm has probably given this province a record for a snow fall during a storm in April.

Weather man Warren Burns at the Charlottetown Experimental Station, unable to check his records when contacted, believed that the fall was the heaviest he had recorded during an April storm. The observer at Radio Range stated that it was the heaviest snow fall in April since the Station was erected in 1939.

And a falling barometer last night gave little indication that Islanders would be digging themselves out this morning. The weather forecasters were predicting intermittent snow, high wind and continuing cold weather for today.

Highways, airways, telephone and electric light lines were hard hit by the storm. Road and air traffic has been very limited while last night telephone and electric light lines were disrupted in sections.

A wind velocity of 35-miles-per-hour which increased in gusts to 52 caused heavy ground drifts throughout the day and last night. High temperature during the day was 31 degrees registered in the morning. It had fallen to 24 degrees at 8:45 in the evening.

A staunch pillar of the church, the deceased was administered the Last Sacraments by his pastor, Rev. Father Rooney. A large number of friends and relatives attended the funeral at St. Anthony's Church, Bloomfield where Requiem High Mass was sung by the Pastor assisted by
