certainty but Don and Doug have apparently made themselves ready for either hockey or baseball.

CANADA NEEDS GOVERNMENT WITH PURPOSE

More than anything else, Canada needs a government with purpose . . . a government with clearly-stated objectives for the country's economic future and for the people's well-being. That kind of government—purposeful and decisive—can only come from a party that knows where it's going

Liberal objectives are clear: (1) to provide decisive government so that Parliament can do its job; (2) to harness the energies and brains of labour, management, farm groups and government in an expanding economy that will create the jobs and job-security that all Canadians must have; (3) when this is accomplished, to make sure that all Canadians share fairly the benefits of economic growth.

The Liberal Party asks for this great responsibility, knowing that the job to be done is an enormous and difficult challenge.

Your Liberal candidate asks you to turn to the Liberal Party on election day, April 8, so that a decisive Liberal government can get down to business, and achieve these objectives.
