Four One-Act Plays Featured Last Night On Provincial Drama Festival Program

The series of plays sponsored by the Drama Festival Association went into the third successive night at the Empire Theatre last evening when four one-act presentations were staged before a larger audience than on the previous occasions.

The adjudicator, Professor A. J. Shaw, of the University of New Brunswick, suggested that producers should not be led astray by the idea that the brevity of a one-act play makes it easy to produce. "Only rarely does a top writer write a one-act play. He is not writing one-act plays for professionals and as a rule such are written only by struggling writers," he said. "Beware of one-act plays written specially for amateurs, it means they are not worth your attention."

Commenting on the productions in the order in which they were staged, Professor Shaw referring to the Little Theatre presentation "To What Purpose," said the play was simple, well written and the dialogue quite authentic. The setting was very good and the lighting not very complicated. The grouping was fairly good and the costumes very good. All needed, however, to pay more attention to projection and diction. "They should be easy to hear," he said.

Commenting on the individual performers, Prof. Shaw said Dagon (Cecilia Blatch) was well done and had the necessary nastiness and brusqueness. Liris (Alta Prowse) did a nice job of acting, showing tender affection. Asaroth (Ettie Bell) was also well done. Jassa (June Eikhoud) was not old enough for the part and might have been nastier at times with good effect. Phara (June Dickson) was graceful and her inner emotions got across well.

"All in all," Prof. Shaw said, "the players show more than average ability," and suggested that they try something bigger to test their merit.

"Shadow of a Dream," presented by the Kelvin Grove Dramatic Group was described by Prof. Shaw as "A horribly written play with which the cast struggled valiantly, showing ability which could serve a much better purpose."

Costuming, he said, was good, as was also the setting—quite in keeping with the required set-up. A couple of table lamps on the set might have been turned on with good effect.

"Dorothy Owens (Doris Caseley) did a fairly competent job, as a very officious person and got it across well," Prof. Shaw continued. Hatie, in which the producer, Mr. Leard substituted for the original actress was said by Prof. Shaw to be the best performance, getting the idea over nicely. Williams (George MacMurdo) had a very minor part with very little to do.

"Was not hard, tough and ambitious enough in the part, which called for a District Attorney of that type," Prof. Shaw said.

Estelle, as played by Alice Callaghan was a very interesting role but there was a tendency to laugh profusely at the laugh lines which were not appropriate in this type of production.

"From Five to Five Thirty" by Trinity Y.P.U. Summerside was described by Prof. Shaw as "Well written, well performed and the pace extremely good." The setting stood around too long at times. All the punches in the laugh lines were good, while the tempo was fine and the show well balanced. I enjoyed Mrs. Tretoops as played by Annalee Taylor, very much," Prof. Shaw said.

Mrs. Boxer (Doreen Bowness) was very good but Edith (Evelyn Underday) was a little young for the part considering her mother to be 70 years old," continued Prof. Shaw. St. Peters Cathedral Y.P.U. in presenting "This Night Shall Pass" brought highly favourable comment from Prof. Shaw in every feature of the production, which he described as "Much, much better than visit to the congregation of the Church of Scotland. They are delegates appointed by the arrangements committee of the general assembly. Mrs. MacKenzie and Mrs. MacLeod will be accompanying their husbands.

Blood Donor Clinics To Be At Hartz Hall

Hartz Memorial Hall and Trinity Social Hall will be converted into a Red Cross blood donor clinic next Tuesday and Wednesday, June 1st and 2nd and will provide accommodation for the 600 donors that are urgently required from Charlottetown and the surrounding areas. All former donors are being reminded of the clinic and urged to attend themselves and bring others with them. The 680 persons who have received over 1200 bottles of blood in the past six months have been written and asked to interest others in being donors and in this way help to replace the blood from which they have benefited so that an ample supply will be available for those who will require transfusions in the next few months. Over 40 firms in the city have been contacted and asked to encourage those associated with them to be donors.

Mr. F. A. Large, provincial chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee, said last night that his committee is most grateful to Rev. A. F. MacLean and the Hartz Memorial Hall committee for their generosity and co-operation in making this spacious accommodation available for the forthcoming clinics. The ladies of the Senior and Junior Women's Association and the King's Daughters are graciously lending their support to the clinic by providing workers and refreshments for three of the four sessions. Members of the Royal Edward Chapter, I.O.D.E., the Provincial Red Cross Council, the Charlottetown Red Cross Corps and High School Council will staff the fourth session, while representatives of the Men's Association at Trinity Church will also assume duties in connection with this clinic. All signs point to a very successful clinic at which it is hoped to exceed the minimum objective of 600 donors.

Queen" after which all returned to the club rooms where they did ample justice to the lobster supper which awaited them there.

Plan Adopted For Ending Segregation In Washington Schools

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The District of Columbia board of education today adopted a five-point blueprint for ending segregation of white and Negro children in Washington's public schools.

The plan is designed to put into effect as rapidly as possible the Supreme Court decision holding racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

President Eisenhower has voiced the hope that a successful plan for wiping out separate schools in Washington may serve as a guide to ease the way for abolishing school segregation in 17 southern and border states where it has been compulsory.

The plan is designed to put into effect as rapidly as possible the Supreme Court decision holding racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.
