THEY ADMIRED THE DOG.—The Moncton Leader says: Fifty head of cattle and a large number of sheep and hogs arived in the I. C. R. yard yesterday from Guelph, Ont., consigned to James Leaman, Halifax. A large mastiff dog was in the car with the sheep and was much admired by a number of spectators.

Mellet and Mr. Malloy. Fourteen were fed by Messrs. Wm. Toombs and sons, of Rustico, averaging about 1,200 lbs. each; and four were fed by Mr. Richard Bagnall, New Glasgow, averaging 1,100 lbs. The cattle have all been carefully selected, and are intended for the home market.

A WICKED MILKMAN.—It is said that the epidemic of typhoid fever in Stamford, Ct., where the number of cases is now reported to be upwards of 200, filling the hospitals and necessitating the importation of nurses from outside cities, is directly traceable to a wicked milkman. All the typhoid cases are in the families supplied by a retail milk dealer. He appears to have procured water from a well that has been found to receive the direct drainage of several small dwellings which stand on rising ground within twenty-five feet of it. It is not surprising to hear that the milkman has been called upon to defend himself in the courts.

SUMMER TOURIST TRAVEL.—The St. John Telegraph says: Representatives of the principal rail and water transportation companies are in the city from Montreal, Boston, Moncton, P. E Island and Yarmouth for the purpose of discussing a uniform tariff rate for tourist travel to the provinces during the approaching season, and generally to consider the best means of enlarging the scope of operations, while, at the same time, enabling the representatives of the various railway and steamboat lines to exchange friendly greetings and thus infuse in the business greater harmony than has hithertofore existed." Mr. W. T. Huggan represented the Prince Edward Island Railway, and Mr. F. W. Hales the Navigation Company.

CONCERT IN ST PATRICK'S HALL.

A fairly large audience attended the concert in St. Patrick's Hall last evening. But the excellence of the programme presented and the worthy purpose to which the proceeds were to be appropriated, merited a much larger attendance. The programme was made up of vocal and instrumental music and readings. The performers were well-known favorites and all sustained their respective reputations. Readings were excellently given by the Misses Kelley and Burke, and Mr. James H. Good. Vocal solos were well rendered by Mrs. Byrne, Miss Benoit, Miss Callaghan, Master Robbie Hogg and Messrs. Charles Bell, G. A. Dixon, Peter McQuaid and W. C. Whitlock. The instrumental portion of the programme was also well rendered, the numbers including a piano solo by Mrs. Hogg, a violin duet by Mrs. Dixon, a piano duet by the Misses Handrahan and Payne, a mandolin trio by Misses Coady, Hogan and McEachen, and a piano duet by Misses Coady and Carroll. The League of the Cross Band, under the leadership of Mr. M. Galbraith, also rendered several selections in a very creditable manner; and the "boys" sang a chorus very well indeed. St. Dunstan's College Glee Club also gave a chorus in good form. The accompanists were Mrs. Hogg, Miss Carroll, Miss Coady and Mr. Blanchard. Mr. Edward Trainor presided.

THE OLD, NEW TRILBY.

A Race Between Translators of Trilby the Fairy of Argyle.

A young woman of Boston, Miss Minna C. Smith was one of the two contestants struggling to get the first translation of "Trilby, the Fairy of Argyle," before the public. Miss Smith discovered the old story which Nodier wrote about the Scottish elf "Trilby," and began its translation, but it seems that after she had begun the work another publisher heard of it and went to a very clever translator with a proposition to beat the little woman's work on the book shelves. The translator accepted the offer, dictated the translation to a stenographer, and in two days had the manuscript ready for the publisher. This may be called enterprise in translating an old novel, but it is gratifying to note that it did not win, for both translations were issued from the rival publishing houses on the same day, and those who love fair-play will give Miss Minna C. Smith the credit for not only the translation, but also the discovery of the new "Trilby," first published in France in 1822.

W. V. Ranous' dramatization of "Trilby," with a good company will be presented at the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday, 20th and 21st.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

IS THIS TRUE?

SIR,—Why did not the Guardian mention anything about all the whiskey, brandy, &c., that was most of the Sunrise's cargo. He must have known that there were thousands of gallons of spiritous liquors on board of her, legally cleared and entered at the custom house, and intended to be drunk in this Scott Act Island.

GOOD TEMPLAR.

—Statistics recently compiled show what the National Policy has done in respect of a single Canadian industry. It is shown that Canada's 20 cotton mills have in operation 12,104 looms and 491,252,000 spindles, employing 8,214 hands and paying annually in wages $2,102,000. The Moncton Times remarks that these eight thousand employes if brought together would make a city as large as St. John or Halifax and afford a market for the produce of several thousand farms and the product of many other industries. For it is a fact which is too often lost sight of that every industry brings some work for others, and the full measure of the value of a factory in a community is not merely the direct disbursement of wages.

FINCASH (excitedly): What in thunder do you mean by publishing that obituary notice of me? I ain't dead; not by a long ways.

THE EDITOR (calmly): Well, well! It does look that way, doesn't it? You see, I sent you more than twenty letters asking you to come in and pay something on the fourteen years' subscription you owe. I didn't get any answer or see anything of you, and I thought sure you must be dead. S'pose you settle, and I'll print a retraction free of charge. Thanks; that's just the right change.—Fireside Companion.
