electrically-fired pistols and devices which fire lead pellets containing cyanamide poison from a dummy cigaret case. Western experts said nothing like them had been seen in the west before.

REVEALED PLOT

On arriving in Frankfurt last February, Khokhlov went directly to his intended victim Okolovich and told him of the plot.

Okolovich arranged a meeting between the Russian and American intelligence agents. Khokhlov asked for political asylum.

American agents then picked up the two Germans and collected the assassination weapons from the check room of Frankfurt's main railway station.

The Russian said Okolovich was marked for assassination by the MVD "because he belongs to an organization opposed to the Soviet Union. The fact that he is a revolutionary dedicated to a decent life for Russia is sufficient reason for the Soviet government to desire his death."

LEADER KIDNAPPED

The NTS to which Okolovich belongs is a Soviet emigre organization which urges the overthrow of the Communist regime in Moscow. Dr. Alexander Truchnovich, West Berlin leader of NTS, disappeared from West Berlin last week. The West German police said he was kidnapped. The East Germans said he came over to their side on his own volition. Thursday the West Berlin government offered 100,000 marks reward for information leading to the arrest of the alleged kidnappers.

American authorities distributed a 25-page document outlining the assassination plot and giving a summary of information provided by the Russian on the Kremlin's far-flung espionage and kidnapping machine.

The American document said the Russian has given American intelligence agents information on:

What happened in Russia and in the MVD (secret police) following Stalin's death and Beria's downfall.

The role played by the MVD organization in Berlin in the kidnapping in 1952 of Dr. Walter Linse, a leading German anti-Communist who was abducted from his apartment in West Berlin.

The recruitment of Jacques Mornard for the Trotzky assassination in Mexico. He is in prison in Mexico for the crime.

Daylight Time

Church would have no objection The same thing applied to members of the Ministerial Association to whom he had spoken. He added that two bank managers had said they would operate on city time. He added that "we are here in the Council to govern the city for the citizens and it is up to us to give them what they want." Dealing with a great many farmers as he did in his private business he had learned that they did not object to the city having this time if it were wanted.

Councillor P. R. McCormac said he favored the move but suggested that Daylight Time reasonably coincide with the school holidays in the summer to avoid disruption in the homes. For this reason the original starting date of June 15 was changed to June 20.

Against The Law

Councillor Edwin C. Johnstone said if it were legal to do so he would favor the move but the Time Uniformity Act had been passed by the Legislature while its members were fully aware of the attitude of the citizens of Charlottetown. He could not see his way clear as a Councillor to go against the law of the land as he felt that we must abide by the law "even if it seems foolish."

Cites Previous Objections

He did not believe we could have two times as he did not see that it was possible to operate except on legal time. He referred to a previous effort in 1947 to introduce Daylight Time illegally, and quoted from objections raised then by Bishop Boyle and the Ministerial Association.

On the occasion the following press statement had been issued by the Bishop of Charlottetown: "The City Council has seen fit to establish an illegal time in defiance of legally constituted authority. This is scandalous to a law-abiding people. If my decision is to adopt Daylight Soving Time, it will be under protest, and solely in consideration of the convenience of my people for whom attendance at Sunday Mass is a serious obligation in conscience."

On the same day the following statement was issued by Rev. J. T. Ibbott, President of the Prince Edward Island Ministerial Association: "So long as Standard Time is the law of the Province, the Churches feel that they have no other recourse than to obey the law."

Councillor George Rogers said he had spoken to a great many people, urban and rural both, and had met only one person who had objected to the change in time. He felt that the citizens in general favored it.

While agreeing that practically 100 per cent of the working men of the city favored the change, Councillor Arthur Gormley wondered about the reaction of the Attorney General and what would happen if he should come out with an announcement that there could be only one time in the Province. He said he would like to have a legal opinion on the matter.

City Recorder, K. M. Martin, K. C., said general use of daylight saving time was not illegal as standard time was still the legal time. He remarked that it was not difficult to make the two coincide.

Councillor Gaudet thought that in flouting the law this Province and city was coming dangerously close to conditions in Germany and Russia. Mayor Stewart declared the resolution carried and adjourned the special meeting.

Father Bradley Passes Away In Kingston, Ont.

Rev. Lewis Austin Bradley, S.J., who had been on the staff of Regiopolis College at Kingston, Ont., since 1936, died in Hotel Dieu Hospital in that city on April 9th after a few hours illness. He had been in failing health for the past two years, but his condition had not been considered serious until the previous day.

Father Bradley was born in Kelly's Cross, P. E. Island, and educated at St. Dunstan' University, Charlottetown. He taught school in his native province before entering the Society of Jesus at the age of 24 at Sault Au Recollect, Montreal.

After entering the Society of Jesus, Father Bradley studied at St. Andrew's-on-Hudson at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Immaculate Conception College, Montreal and in Amiens, France. He taught, during a long and varied career, at St. Boniface College, St. Boniface, Man.; Loyola College, Montreal; Campion College, Regina, Sask; was dean of studies at St. Paul's College, Winnipeg and went to Regiopolis College, Kingston, Ont. as dean in 1936.

Father Bradley taught mathematics and English at Regiopolis until his retirement in June 1952 and had been busy caring for the grounds around the college since. He was well-known as a preacher of missions and retreats.

Father Bradley is survived by one sister, Sister Mary Austin, Congregation of Notre Dame, St. Joseph's Convent, Charlottetown, and one brother, Winfred Bradley of Sierra Madre, Calif.

Three brothers, Rev. George Bradley, S. J., formerly also on the staff of Regiopolis College, John Patrick Bradley of Charlottetow and James Aeneas Bradley of Kelly's Cross, and another sister, Sister St. Francis of Sienna a member of the Congregation of Notre Dame, died some years ago.

Archbishop J. A. O'Sullivan celebrated the Pontifical High Mass for the late Father Bradley in St. Mary's Cathedral on the morning of April 12th. He was attended by Rev C. J. Crusoe, S. J., rector of Regiopolis, as assistant priest; Rev. H. Cormier, S. J., Hotel Dieu Hosptal and Rev R. C. Johnston, S. J., rector of St. Stanislaus Novitiate, Guelph, as deacons of honour; Rev. J. Driscoll, S. J. and Rev. G. Lonergan, S. J. deacon and subdeacon; Rev. B. J. Walsh, master of ceremonies.

SPLENDID TRIBUTE

At the end of Mass the Archbishop spoke briefly, expressing the sympathy of himself, the clergy and religious of the Diocese to Father Bradley's family. "Father Bradley was one of those priests of whom the Holy Father spoke in his recent encyclical on the Holy Priesthood, dear to God, a credit to the Church and a divinely-sent helper of souls," said His Grace. "He was born on Prince Edward Island, a rich garden of the Faith and of the presthood; he was a member of a glorious Catholic family which gave two priests and two Sisters to the Church. Austin pondered the will of his Master a long time before taking up his vocation; but when he became a priest he gave his all to God and the service of souls.

Almost half his priestly life was spent in this Diocese, where he was known and loved, not only as a teacher in our College, but also as a preacher of Forty Hours retreats and missions, and as a confessor, sought by many. All those whom he had aided on the way to holiness, will pray for him today, for pray we must. Everyone who departs this life must depend on the Mercy of God, and therefore I recommend his soul to your prayers".

Clergy attending

Upwards of seventy Clergy were present including Rev. Joseph Monaghan, S.J., formerly of Charlottetown and Rev R. C. Johnston, S. J., formerly of Kinkora.

Honorary pallbearers were: Rev. F. X. Birns, S. J.; Rev. P. McHardy, S. J.; Rev. P. H. Hooppe, S. J.; Rev. J. J. Leahy, S. J., Rev P. Ambrosie S. J.; Rev. F. Devine, S. J.; Rev. J. Moore, S. J.; of the College Staff.

The remains were taken to St. Stanislaus Novitiate, Guelph, for interment.

New Entry Plan For Naval Officers

A new officer entry plan for the Royal Canadian Navy, known as the "Venture Plan", is now in operation. Basically the plan is for the purpose of enrolling officer candidates for a seven year period. However, in view of what naval officials term a foreseeable shortage of junior naval officers it is believed that applications for transfer to permanent status will almost invariably be honored.

The new plan is being started at once with all applications having to be in by the end of June. Taking an active part in it are staff members of H. M. C. S. Queen Charlotte here who state it is planned for young men from 16 to 19 years of age. It calls for two 7-month academic years ashore with the Navy while in between there will be plenty of sea time on board Canada's big cruiser H. M. C. S. Ontario.

Canada's Export Trade Improved During March

OTTAWA, (CP)—Canada's export trade improved in March after a slump at the start of the year.

However, preliminary figures issued today by the bureau of statistics showed exports for the first quarter of the year were down from the same period of 1953. Imports continued higher than exports.

Exports for March were valued at $321,200,000 compared with $279,800,000 in February and $265,400,000 in January. The figure for March, 1953, was $313,000,000.

Imports during March were estimated at $353,400,000 compared with $292,600,000 the previous month and $360,100,000 in the same month of last year. The import-surplus was reduced to $32,200,000 from $47,100,000 in March, 1953.

For the first quarter of 1953, exports were down to $866,300,000 from $914,000,000 in the same months of last year, due almost wholly to the January drop.

IMPORTS DECLINE

Imports declined to $926,200,000 from $998,000,000. The import surplus was reduced to $59,900,000 from $85,000,000.

Trade with the United States in March was up substantially from the two previous months. Exports amounted to $205,200,000 compared to $206,400,000 a year ago, and imports to $271,200,000 against $272,800,000, the estimated import surplus being fractionally lower at $66,000,000 compared to $66,500,000

Shipments to the United Kingdom in March also advanced over the two earlier months and were up sharply over March last year at $52,800,000 compared to $38,800,000, while estimated imports were only slightly above the February and January values and down from last year at $30,800,000 against $37,600,000. The estimated export surplus thus climbed to $22,000,000 compared to $1,300,000.

Record Output Of Steel In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Britain had a record steel output of 7,600,000 tons during 1953 and expects to beat this in 1954, the Iron and Steel Federation announced in its annual report.

The 1953 figure was about 1,500,000 tons higher than in 1952.

Imports of steel were cut from 1,800,000 ingot tons in 1952 to 1,100,000 tons last year.

CIRCUS PRESENTATION ENJOYED AT Y. M. C. A. LAST EVENING

Amidst the fanfare and glamour of its greater counterpart the Y. M. C. A. Circus presented its opening performance to the public last night. The evening's entertainment could be described only as "a thing of grace and beauty," It called for precision timing and a co-ordination of mind and muscle which can come only, after weeks of arduous, and at the same time, enjoyable training.

The Y. M. C. A. Circus was instituted by a man called Jimmy West, now deceased. He was a former director of the Y. M. C. A. at Saint John, N. B. and conceived the idea of putting on an annual show which is an enlargement of the parent demonstration held previous to that time. As a result of Jimmy West's efforts the Circus has become an annual event in most Y. M. C. A.'s across the country.

Mr. Earl Nicholson acted as ring master and the "Circus" band was under the direction of Johnnie Sterns. Following the grand parade two acts by the juvenile boys and the juvenile girls including spring board and mat exercises gave the audience a chance to see what body building exercises can do, to bring about graceful bearing.

The intermediate girls performance on the parallel bars was the acme of litheness and grace which came to a climax with a most complex pyramid. The Adagio featured a most pleasing performance by Ginny Vessey and Hugh MacLean; Norma Duvar and Jack Turner and Janet Cerry and Bill Kingston. The girls with their experienced partners gave a wonderful exhibition of balancing control unparalleled in grace and beauty. During a short intermission Duke Neilson and a group of mirthful clowns kept the crowd of over 500 well entertained.

"Th balancing fours" featuring Ginny, Janet, Jack and Bill gave credit to an act which would not be out of place in a professional performance. The ease and confidence with which all members of the cast executed their parts left nothing to be desired.

No Circus would be complete without a galaxy of beautiful girls on the flying trapese and the junior girls who prformed on the flying rings demonstrated clearly how fear can be replaced by confidence as they swung through the air and went through some very intricate acts.

Those present had an opportunity of seeing the new apparatus acquired by the service clubs of the Y. M. C. A., called the trampolines. Although in use for only a few days, some very exciting acts were displayed which gave indication that the boys will not be long in becoming adept on the bouncing canvas.

A "Tableau in physical education" brought the show to a most successful conclusion. This act was most unique in that it featured the characters in statuesque stances which with the aid of a bronze material and proper lighting effects depicted practically every phase of physical activity.

The show which was presented to a capacity audience last night will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. Much credit goes to those responsible for bringingthis outstanding type of entertainment before the public.

Looks For Boost In Wheat Sales To Great Britain

LONDON, (CP)—The Financial Times says editorially today that due to several factors, Britain, the world's largest wheat buyer, so far in 1954 has bought only about 55 per cent of her usual supplies from the big three of Canada, the United States and Australia.

The newspaper says Canada's sales to Britain should perk up after existing stocks have been depleted, but that this may not apply to the U. S. and Australia.

The newspaper says one reason for Canadian sales having lessened is that Britain purchased large stocks last year to cushion grain decontrol. These stocks still exist in part.

As well, there is "an increasing tendency for English consumers to import Canadian flour—instead of wheat—for mixing with English varieties."

The newspaper offers this consolation to Canada: "When government allocations of Canadian wheat are exhausted, there will doubtless be an increase in U. K. imports from Canada, for there is an irreducible minimum of hard wheat used in English bread."
