Swan-Gibson Nuptials

Standards of gladioli, other seasonal flowers and lighted tapers made a beautiful setting in the Central United Church, Dunstaffnage, at 3:00 P.M., Saturday, September 1, for the marriage of Isabel Marie Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wylie Gibson, Marshall, and Charles Blair Swan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swan, Mount Edward Road.

Rev. John Douglas officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Allison MacRae played the wedding marches.

The processional was Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" and the recessional, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." Two violin solos, Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Oh Perfect Love," were effectively rendered by Miss Carol Marie Coles, cousin of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin and lace with a chapel train which swept from a bodice of white lace, with peler pan collar and long sleeves. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Her headpiece was a long veil of tulle illusion, Mary Stuart style, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The maid of honour and bridesmaid wore strapless gowns of similar design fashioned with lace jackets. Miss Alva Muttart, the maid of honour, was gowned in pastel green nylon marquisette. She wore a matching halo headpiece and mitts and carried a sheaf of yellow gladioli. Miss June Gibson, sister of the bride, wore pastel yellow nylon marquisette with a matching halo headpiece and mitts and carried a sheaf of gladioli.

Mr. Charles Cannon of Dartmouth, N.S., cousin of the groom, was groomsmen and the ushers were Mr. Keith Dalziel, Charlottetown, also a cousin of the groom, and Mr. Allen Welch, of Kansas City, Missouri.

Mrs. Wylie Gibson, the bride's mother, chose for her daughter's wedding a late afternoon gown of saddle beige crepe, fashioned of lace with brown accessories, and her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mrs. Swan, mother of the groom, wore an afternoon gown of lilac sheer and lace with matching accessories. Her corsage was of cream roses.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception for over one hundred guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Large baskets of gladioli were used in the drawing room and in the dining room. The bride's table was attractively laid with a white linen cloth and centred with a three tier wedding cake, flanked on either side by flowers and lighted tapers. Rev. John Douglas proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom.

Later, amidst showers of confetti and good wishes, the bride and groom left on a motor trip through the Maritimes. For travelling the bride wore a navy gabardine suit, white and navy hat, white topper, with navy accessories and a corsage of roses.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Swan will take up residence in Charlottetown, where the groom is a representative of the Maritime Life Insurance Co. and the bride is a valued employee of the Prince Edward Island Trust Co.

Island Odds And Ends

Mr. R. H. Nicholson, engineer with the Dominion Public Works Department, Charlottetown, has completed thirty-eight years with the department, and has now retired on superannuation.

To drop formality—because he doesn't like stand-offishness anyway—"Bob" wound up his long tour of service as a Government engineer on Friday, August 31st.

He had studied engineering at Acadia University. At the urgent request of his head office in Ottawa he had remained on duty a considerable time beyond the retiring age, to give younger men in his department the benefit of his long experience. This indicated the high value of his work held by departmental heads.

All over the Province are wharves and breakwaters in which the handiwork of "Bob" can be seen because in numerous places the contractors worked from plans either prepared by, or amended by him. If he wished to call attention to his long term of duty he could well say "look around you".

Some people gather acquaintances as they move through life, but Bob gathers friends, and since his work has taken him to all parts of the Island he is known and liked by many, many Islanders. This faculty of making friends is said to be a gift and it is certain that it comes easily to him. He enjoys talking to all types of people, the top-brass, those in between and the fellow at the bottom of the ladder. A reader and student of the best literature, he has often quoted Pope's dictum, "The proper study of mankind is man." As a discriminating reader, and a great admirer of Shakespeare he knows also that the great bard wrote for all the people, and about things they understood. At any rate "Bob" is very interested in people no matter whether they be princes or paupers.

During the First World War he was overseas with an Artillery unit and was decorated in action. After the Armistice when the Canadian Army moved with the occupation forces into Germany, he was one of ten men selected from the four divisions of Canadians, to serve on the Guard of Honor at Canadian Army Headquarters.

Before entering Government employ he lived for a while in Western Canada, and knew much of that country when it was just emerging from frontier days.

Still vigorous in his sixties it is likely that Mr. Nicholson's services will be sought by an Island contracting company. His knowledge of conditions along the Island's coast line is of the kind not found in text books.

Though it is not generally known the Provincial Department of Public Works has for several years been experimenting with various types of road-making materials. Combinations of Island clay and gravel, of imported gravel, of shore gravel, shore sand, asphalt, and sandstone have been used in various proportions in the hope of striking the right formulae to suit provincial conditions. To knowledge of local conditions.

provincial engineers have added at the Catholic Cemetery. Tributes From Colleagues High tribute was paid the late Dr. MacGuigan by Dr. I. J.
