Bird Day in Iowa.

In Iowa the schools have a holiday which is called Bird Day, and they are now trying to have it set aside in all the other states. On this day original compositions were read about birds, the young writers finding out for themselves the things they wrote about, the teachers gave talks, debates were held and fine pictures of feathered friends shown. One good thing that has been done by this Bird Day in Iowa is to stop the boys from killing the helpless little songsters. As they study them and know more about them they grow to love and protect them.

Notes About Birds.

A peculiar characteristic about birds is that the young of those that build nests in trees are blind when hatched, are naked, unable to walk and are fed by the parent bird. Among the wading birds the young can walk, swim and pick up food immediately upon leaving the egg. With birds, as with higher animals, the females to fancy bright colors and music; hence Mother Nature usually ornaments the head neck and tails of the males that they may find mates more readily. The male birds usually excel in music, also, if the warbling of the canary, the crowing of the cock, the booming of the emu and the hooting of the owl may all be called music.—Selected.

Windows Cleaned by a Princess.

When a little child, the princess Victoria went with her mother to visit Queen Adelaide. The Duchess of Kent was obliged to leave the little one alone with the queen for some time, and the latter, to make the princess feel at home said, "Now, my dear, you have an hour to spend with me, and you shall do exactly as you like."

"Exactly as I like?" said the little princess doubtfully.

"Yes," replied the queen, little imagining what was to follow.

"Then dear Aunt Adelaide," said the child, "may I be allowed to clean the windows?"

Queen Adelaide was startled but the little one had her way, setting to work with sleeves carefully rolled up and an apron tied around her waist.—Golden Penny.

Queen Victoria's Dogs.

Dogs have been great friends of queens. Among them no sovereign has shown greater affection for dogs than Her Majesty Queen Victoria. One pet collie rejoices in the name of Sharp. He has all his meals with his mistress, being seldom away from her. During her long reign the Queen has had many pet dogs. One called Noble, given to her nearly 20 years ago by the Duke of Roxburg, is still alive, but its once rich brown muzzle has grown white with age, and his eyesight is gone. The Queen's affection for him has increased with his infirmities, and when the royal hand caresses him as of yore Noble is as happy as when he rejoiced in the breezes and sunshine of Deeside.

The earlier royal favorites were Skye terriers and turnspits, but lately Her Majesty has shown preference for collies and Spitzes. Snowball, a particularly graceful collie, was presented to her on the occasion of her jubilee.

How it Happened.

It was the last day of school at Simonsville, and the relatives and friends of the youthful graduates were assembled in the temple of education to hear them get their little orations and essays out of their respective systems. Presently the Demosthenes of the school, a spindle neck nervous lad with one of those bulging brows on the front side of his head most commonly seen on the backs of snapping turtles, stood forth on the rostrum, and indulging in an appropriate gesture, began, in a high pitched voice:

"On the lofty pope of Peakopatakitl—er—er—Kitopacateil—h'm! h'm!—Patokitapetl—er—ah!—Titopetecat!—" He paused to wipe his brow, and then took a fresh hold.

"On the pofly leak—that is, leaky pof—I mean, lofty peak—on the lofty peak of Tectopacateil—ug! gug!—Teetopicatitl—that is, Tatopetekitl—er—h'm!—on the caty lofty—lofty cat of Peakotacapeil—er—Pacotiacapatl—uh!—Ticl—er—er—Patl hum-haw!—Catl—the poke of Polopetacatl—"

He drew a long breath of fierce determination.

"On the lofty peak of Popocatapetl—there, now!—I—er—ah!—let me see: where was I? I—er—er—have forgotten the rest of it!"

And the poor lad sneaked to his seat, covered with confusion and perspiration.

"What in tunkett was the matter with that boy, to make him talk in that foolish manner?" asked Farmer Stackpole of his small son, who was sitting beside him.

"Why, he fell off from the barn the other day," responded the lad, "and I guess the jar broke some of his long words up, and he hasn't got the pieces properly matched together yet."—Harper's Bazar.

School Girls' Nerves

Many a pale, weak school girl, suffering the evil effects of an exhausted nervous system, and thin, watery blood, has been fully restored to the vigor and buoyancy of robust health, by using A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. The healthful glow on the cheek and the brightness in the eye tell of the building up process which is taken place in the body.

The average man who tries here's measures gets a misfit.

Rheumatism Can't Exist

When the kidneys are kept healthy and vigorous by the use of A. W. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. It is Uric Acid left in the blood by defective kidneys that causes rheumatism. Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys strong and active in their work of filtering the blood, and this removes the cause of rheumatism. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

The evil that men do is soon forgotten—by themselves.

That the Action of A piano is Its Very Life and Soul

More attention is paid to the inside of a Heintzman Piano, than to the outward appearance. A heavy carved fancy case is all right in ornamental furniture, but a piano with
