HAVE A GUESS.

Oh, wheelmen, all take my advice,
And don't forget, be sure
To take a look at the famous "Bike"
In PROWSE'S well-known Store.

The handsome Brantford Bicycle
That in their window's shown
Is as good as any in Charlottetown,
And it may be your own.

A jar in which are cents galore
Is placed where all can see;
Guess how many cents the jar contains
And the "Bike" your own will be.

Be wise, make all your purchases
At PROWSE'S Clothing Store;
Each purchase, on that Bicycle,
Will give you one chance more.

Their Carpets, Hats and Furnishings,
And all, in fact, they keep,
Compared with others in the town
Are more than quite as cheap.

We are talking about a "shortening" which will not cause indigestion. Those who "know a thing or two" about Cooking (Marion Harland among a host of others) are using instead of lard. Nor: but the purest, healthiest and cleanest ingredients go to make up Cottolene. Lard isn't healthy, and is not always clean. Those who use Cottolene will be healthier and wealthier than those who use lard—Healthier because they will get "shorter" bread; wealthier because they will get "shorter" grocery bills—for Cottolene costs no more than lard and goes twice as far—so is but half as expensive.

LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR.

"Love your neighbor as yourself,"
So the parson preaches;
That's one-half the decalogue,
So the prayer book teaches,
Half my duty I can do
With but little labor,
For with all my heart and soul
I do love my neighbor.

And I've preached the word, I know,
For it was my duty
To convert the stubborn heart
Of the little beauty.
Once again success has crowned
Missionary labor,
For her sweet eyes own that she
Also loves her neighbor.

GENERAL TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

LONDON, May 18.—It is said to be the intention of the Government to expend several millions pounds in improving fortifications and constructing new docks at Portsmouth and other ports.

CAPETOWN, May 18.—Parliament opened to-day. The acting governor, Lieut.-General Sir W. Gordon Cameron, who presided in the absence of the governor, Sir Henry Brougham Loch, referred to the approaching conference at Ottawa during his opening address, and declared that the government of Cape Colony was in sympathy with the proposed imperial customs union.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 13.—The General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church re-assembled to-day. A memorial was presented from the National Christian League for the Promotion of Purity, appealing that the assembly recognize in W. C. P. Breckenridge an enemy of the Church, the Home and the State. The memorial was laid on the table as soon as its purport was understood, even before its reading was concluded.

PORTLAND, Me., May 18.—The coal strike caused the Grand Trunk Railway to close its car and machine shops to-night and lay off all men connected with them until the strike is declared off, or satisfactory arrangements can be made for obtaining fuel. This will throw out of employment over 5,000 men along the Grand Trunk road. The passenger service will continue as now, but many freight trains will be laid off. The Grand Trunk is more affected than any other road, owing to the fact that that it does not keep a large supply of coal on hand.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 18.—Charles W. Harriss, father of Carlisle W. Harriss, who was electrocuted for poisoning his young wife, has gone crazy as a result of the terrible mental strain attending the trial and execution of his son.

DUBLIN, May 18.—Edmond Leamy, ex-member of parliament for the south division of Sligo, announced in a speech at Ennis yesterday that, through the efforts of Wm. Redmond, Tom Leary, who had been serving a ten year sentence in Clare prison, had been released. Leary was sentenced two years ago for alleged agrarian crimes.

MILWAUKEE, May 18.—A fierce northerly gale broke over Lake Michigan early this morning. The list of wrecks and the number of lives lost is increasing with frightful rapidity, while yet the means of learning the full effects of the storm are very meagre. The crews of three schooners lying off this port are believed to have lost ten of their men. Along the water front in this city buildings are unroofed, sheds collapsed, trees uprooted, and general destruction prevails.

BABY RUTH'S CONDITION.

A recent despatch from Washington gives a sad reason for the non-appearance of Mrs. Cleveland, wife of the President, in society this season, a fact which has been much commented upon in social circles. It states that little Ruth Cleveland, the first-born child of the President and Mrs. Cleveland, has an impediment in her speech and that her hearing is sadly defective. The facts, it is stated have been withheld from the public out of respect for the feelings of the parents of Baby Ruth. The affliction is such that the child is said to be almost deaf and dumb. The trouble became known through the servants, and the fact that Baby Ruth is rarely seen and never quoted as saying any smart things, is remarked as confirmatory evidence. It is understood that everything possible is being done for the child, and that Mrs. Cleveland spends hours in trying to teach it to articulate. The little one's mind is said, in some quarters, to be backward, but that is believed not to be the case.

A Prominent Lawyer Says.

"I have eight children, every one in good health, not one of whom but has taken Scott's Emulsion, in which my wife has boundless confidence."

A lady will sometimes spend hours selecting dress goods. She is not desirous of giving trouble at all. But there are conflicting claims. There are considerations of durability, of texture, of draping Priestley's dress fabrics have reached a niche in the popular esteem when conflict ceases to vex. It is enough to get Priestley's black dress goods to feel confident that you have the best. They wear better than any other make.

THE FUTURE OF SCIENCE.

Some of the Great Feats Expected to Be Soon Performed.

The Scientific Problems of the Future is discussed by Lieut.-Col. Esdale in the Contemporary. He declares that new discoveries will crowd thicker upon the world in the twentieth than in the nineteenth century. Out of the possible legion he selects four.

"The conquest of the air is the first." Already navigable balloons are being prepared by the French War Office which are expected to go at the rate of 25 miles an hour. Failing the sudden invention of a true flying machine, the writer anticipates a progressive development of this class of balloon. First, the gas will have simply to sustain the weight; the lifting power will be supplied by the addition of air screws. The air screw or propellor will gradually predominate, until it does the work of wings, and the balloon is rendered superfluous. The flying machine was fourteen years ago, in the then condition of mechanical science, demonstrably impossible; but if the present rate of progress be maintained for another fourteen years it will have become actual. The flight of birds and the general laws of aerial locomotion have been carefully studied.

If competent and practical engineers would apply themselves to the problem it would soon be solved. The "vital issue" is to achieve "stable suspension in the air." "Once let the flying machine be stable, strong, safe and powerful enough for its work, and it will represent the safest kind of locomotion ever invented. * * * The revolution made in locomotion by the flying machine, whereby we shall be able to run from London to New York in perhaps from thirty-six to forty eight hours, and from London to Paris and back between breakfast and luncheon, will be at least as great as that caused recently by the introduction of railways and steam navigation. * * * The machines will run at a tremendous pace, probably up to or even exceeding 100 miles an hour."

Marine navigation is to be transformed. At present engineers seek to gain increased speed by developing the locomotive power. The writer suggests they are all on the wrong tack. They ought to study "the way of the fish in the sea," and to discover why the torpedo requires such enormously greater power to propel it than does the porpoise. He finds the reason of the difference in "surface or skin friction." This causes the larger half of total resistance to a ship's movement. We need to learn the secret of the coating of the fish. Smooth steel forms about the worst surface possible. He thinks that compressed paper faced like the skin of a shark might serve. He suggests that the Admiralty should grant two or three thousand a year to experiments under a competent authority. The resistance due to wave action might be obviated by a vessel of the American whaleback type Ocean steamers might with present motive power run fifty knots an hour.

How to get the power out of coal without burning it, or rather, how to bring coal into such a condition that on conjunction with the oxygen of the air it will supply us with electrical force, is a problem the writer expects to be soon solved. He is also hopeful of chemical and medical science making the vegetable foods—notably grass—digestible by man without first passing through animal intermediaries. An enormous increase of our food supply would be the result.

Gold Deposits of the Fraser River.

Speaking of the Fraser river and its gold deposits, this was one of the richest placer rivers of the world along late in the '50s, and something like $50,000,000 worth of gold has been washed out of the sands of British Columbia. The stream is very rough and rocky, however, and much of it has been inaccessible to the placer miners. It is known, however, to contain great quantities of gold, and four different companies are now at work here trying to get this gold out. They have had dredge like pumps made, which are to suck up the gold-bearing sand and throw it into a sluice box, which will extract the gold. The experiment is a new one, but it was tested on the shallow water at the edge of the river, and some gold was the result. Mr. Young, the president of one of these companies said:

"There is no doubt but there are millions upon millions of dollars of gold in these rivers, and I think there is no doubt but that we are going to get out a large part of it. We lease certain strips of the river from the government at so much per mile per year. We now have under lease fifty-seven miles, and we have men prospecting and locating other tracts. Our machines cost us from $4,000 to $7,000 apiece, and I expect to see some of them earning $1,000 a day. In a month from now I can tell just what they will do. Each machine ought to wash and reduce 100 cubic yards of gravel a day, and we can get out stuff from the very centre of the river, where the most gold is supposed to be. In the old days of placer mining a man did well to wash out three cubic yards a day, and here he had to rely upon the banks only."

How He Hunted Bears.

George Jones is very ill. Between moans he told a story of adventure to a reporter this morning. He was once a bear hunter, he said, and had killed over 100 bears. He claimed that no man had ever killed bears as fast as he did. While hunting in Oregon one time he discovered a place up in the mountains where bears appeared every day to drink. He used to fill a pail with whisky, sweetened with sugar, and every time a bear appeared bruin drank the whisky and got dead drunk. Jones would then start the bear to rolling down the side of the mountain, and it would land at his camp below, where he had a man employed to butcher and skin it. Jones then filled the pail with whisky again, and the next bear was served in the same way.—Atchison Globe.

A Chance for Inventors.

The Netherlands Society for the Promotion of Industry desires to receive papers containing an indication of the means to obtain energy through windmills, to accumulate this energy electrically, and to transmit or to make it transportable. The drawing belonging to the answers must be made on white paper, (no blue prints) on a scale of one-quarter. The prize offered is the gold medal of the society and a reward of £30. Answers must be sent before July 1, with the author's name, in a closed envelope, to the general secretary of the society, F. W. Eeden, at Haarlem, Holland.—London Daily News.

"Boston" as Pronounced at Home.

Most people say "Borston," and some say "Bosting," but the latter is more correct, and will be quite so if the nasal termination is dropped and the last syllable merely clipped while retaining the short and explosive sound of the "o."—Boston Home Journal.
