Church's Role To Proclaim Gospel Says Moderator

"The church is alive when she lives on the four great Now Testament words - Repent - Believe - Go - Give," said Rt. Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, DD, moderator of the United Church of Canada, when he addressed Monday's meeting of the Prince Edward Island Presbytery at Trinity Church, Charlottetown.

Dr. Mutchmor noted that "there are more dead churches than we believe," and that "when the breath is not in the body the whole thing is dead." He described the United Church as evangelical, reformed and free, existing to proclaim a gospel, to lead men to belief in it and to serve the gospel through the church. He warned of the temptation to reverse this order where the emphasis is only in building a church organization.

Three concerns were voiced by the Moderator. First, he urged people not to underestimate the problem of biculturalism. He noted that the church is called to a unique opportunity because she stands across the lines of racial boundaries.

Second, he stressed that there can never be "something for nothing," someone must pay. In referring to a national lottery which he felt was being pressured for more strongly that at any previous time in Canada.

Third, he remarked on the fact that there is a new climate in the world today in two areas - international affairs and the church. He urged much prayer for the peacemakers of today.

CHANGE IN CLIMATE

Of the new climate in church relations he felt much credit could be extended to the World Council of Churches and to the efforts of the late Pope John XXIII. However, he cautioned that the church members ought not to be misled "The change is still only in climate and the matter of coming to grips with our doctrinal differences was still in the future." The real issues were the ones arising from mixed marriages, the infallibility of the Pope, he said.

He felt that this new climate sprang from the threat of Communism. There are only two groups of people that matter, Dr. Mutchmor said, "the convinced Communist and the convinced Christian. The rest are led or pushed with one or the other." He felt too that the decline of morality in Canada played some part in the new climate because it has caused the church to be shaken from its complacency.

CENTENNIAL YEAR

The Presbytery committee for the church observance of Centennial year, reported the following plans to the meeting: the first Sunday of 1964 should be set aside in churches as a special day of prayer; the Thanksgiving season of 1964 be a time of giving thanks in all United Churches for the blessings of God in the history of the province and nation; and that a major event be promoted in each congregation.

The new convenor appointed for the missionary and maintenance committee for 1964 is Ralph Callbeck, Bedeque.

Rallies for CGIT groups were announced for Trinity, Summerside, and the First Baptist, Charlottetown, on Nov. 23, and in the United Church in Bedeque, Nov. 30

The decease of Georgetown to sell its manse was recognized and approved by the court after its presentation by Keith Lapp, chairman of the property committee.

TRIBUTE PAID

Rev. Graeme Fraser and the Presbytery as a whole aid tribute to the late W.B. Creed, former treasurer of the presbytery M. and M. committee. A living memorial fund has been set up and the treasurer of presbytery will receive contributions. The sympathy of the court was expressed to the family.

Worship at the morning session was led by Rev. W. Patterson and in the afternoon by Rev. F. Lacey.

MAGISTRATE OBLIGES

Would-Be Bricklayer Asks Two-Year Term

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Ralph Glen MacArthur, of no fixed address, was sentenced to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary yesterday by Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald in Prince County Magistrate's court.

The accused appeared on a charge of escaping from Prince County jail Monday afternoon. At the time of his escape he was serving a six-month sentence for breaking windows in the courthouse garage. After escaping from the jail the accused wandered around town for approximately an hour and then turned himself in to the town police.

When appearing in court yesterday the accused complained of the unsanitary conditions in the county jail and asked to be sent to penitentiary. He said he wished to complete a bricklayers' course which he had started while serving a previous term in the penitentiary.

In handing down the sentence, Magistrate MacDonald said "Regardless of what you say you are the one who wants this."

When he appeared recently in town police court for breaking the courthouse garage windows he said he had committed the offence because he wanted a place to stay for the winter.

George Bryce Sharp pleaded guilty to intoxicated driving and was fined $100 and costs. Cpl. Calvin Bungay of the Summerside detachment, RCMP, testified that the accused had been involved in an accident in Summerside east, smashing through two wooden fences and knocking down a hydro pole.

Wendell Sherman Francis Grady, Summerside, charged with possession of stolen goods, valued at less than $50, had his sentence deferred until Jan. 21, 1964 following a plea by defence counsel, J. Melville Campbell.

WILLING TO HELP

Mr. Campbell said he had contacted a number of people and that all had said they would give assistance towards the rehabilitation of the accused. He said that the accused's brother had assured him that he would still have a job when released and the rink management had given assurance that the accused would be allowed to partake in any hockey program this winter. He could also be given assistance by coaches of the Junior team, Gordon Kelly, he said, although in charge of minor hockey, would be willing to help the accused.

Representing the Crown, Cpl. Bungay said there was no objection to a deferred sentence but he felt the only persons with a genuine interest in the welfare of the accused were his mother and father.

In deferring sentence Magistrate MacDonald named five stipulations to which the accused would have to pay strict adherence: that he keep the peace and be of best behavior at all times; that he work steadily; that he report weekly on Saurday noon, beginning Nov. 23, to Cpl. Bungay or any other member of the RCMP detachment on duty: that he be at home every night at 12 midnight unless out of town playing hockey and on these occasions, that he return home immediately after the games: that he enter into recognizance of $2,000 with two sureties of $1,000 each.

LEVY SCENE

Charged with leaving the scene of an accident, Stanley Joseph Arsenault, St. Eleanors, was fined $125 and costs.

Chief Constable Herbert Murphy testified that on Nov. 10, the accused had struck a car owned by Ivan Cameron, Summerside, when it was attempting to turn left on the Pope Road.

A Summerside resident, Joseph Walter Eric Gallant, Summerside, charged with breaking and entering a Mont Carmel store, Oct. 20, reserved a plea and elected to be tried by judge and jury. Preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 23.

Two Prince County residents, Melvin Mark Bank and James Aneas Gain, were each fined $10 and costs on similar charges of unlawfully fishing for oysters in an area where such fishing is prohibited.

Seed Potato Market To Be Probed

The market possibilities for Prince Edward Island seed potatoes will be probed in Florida by Marketing Director Reid Sangster, who leaves for that state next Saturday.

Over the past few years, sales of seed potatoes to Florida growing areas have fallen off, and Mr. Sangster will investigate the possibilities of increasing sales to Florida.

Mr. Sangster expects to begin his market survey in the Jacksonville area, and will cover most of the potato growing areas of the state.

The marketing director plans to return to the province "in four or five days."

SPECIAL

against describing it as the "national" centennial.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Lesage did not make any objection until after Parliament had passed the original Act.

Quebec had made it quite plain, Mr. Lamontagne added, that the province would not participate in the nationwide celebrations unless "national" were removed from the act.

Mr. Diefenbaker said this was an ultimatum.

"Surely you are not going to determine a national course on the basis of the ultimatum of one of the 10 premiers."

Mr. Diefenbaker said his cabinet and its officials had worked on a list "of the best in the country" for the committee, and he would not allow "political domination."

The centennial administration, headed by commissioner John Fisher and deputy commissioner Robert Choquette, has the committe as its principal advisory body.

The committee, headed by Mr. Lamontagne, has 60 members—40 appointed by the government on its own selection, and 20 recommended by the provincial governments.

Mr. Knowles said immediate steps should be taken "to pull up our socks and to try to make the celebration a really effective one."

STUDY LAND, GAME

Specific resource programs on the agenda are a nation - wide land inventory, a cost-sharing agreement for fisheries and wild life, management of migratory birds and Canadian participation in the International Hydrologic Decade, a study of water resources scheduled to begin in 1965 under United Nations sponsorship.

The council, which had an organizational meeting in Toronto last year and now has set up a permanent secretariat in Montreal, must also get itself legally established. It will discuss draft legislation requiring approval by the federal Parliament and each provincial legislature.

Provincial delegates attending the conference are: H. Graham Crocker, New Brunswick minister of lands and forests; E. U. Haliburton, Nova Scotia minister of lands and forests; W. J. Keough, Newfoundland minister of mines, agriculture and resources; Mr. Kramer; Mr. Levesque; Mr. Rossiter; J. W. Spooner, Ontario municipal affairs minister; Ray Williston, British Columbia minister of lands and forests and water resources; Norman Willmore, Alberta minister of lands and forests; and C. H. Witney, Manitoba minister of mines and natural resources.

Finance And Taxation Study Asked For S'side

SUMMERSIDE — A recommendation that the Town of Summerside request a provincial study of municipal financing and taxation similar to that held in New Brunswick recently was presented to the town council Monday night by a six-man citizens committee, who took the last five months to prepare the brief.

The brief was made public yesterday morning.

The report suggested the request be made as soon as possible, so that the necessary preliminary arrangements can be made before the legislature meets early in 1964. And also that necessary professional research staff can be engaged as soon as possible to commence work in the summer of 1964.

In the event the province would turn down the request, the report recommended the Town of Summerside give consideration to engaging a research consultant as soon as possible, to establish broad lines of research to be carried out by a clerical staff during the winter and spring months, with a view of possibly finalizing the research during the summer of 1964.

The cost of such a survey has been estimated at $15,000.

"Before there is any change in Summerside's taxation structure", the report states, "there should be a thorough, professional study of all aspects of our finances." The study should not only include the financial system of Summerside over the past number of years, but the finances of other municipalities in Canada for comparison purposes, the report states.

"All municipalities are creatures of the province, and as such, derive their taxing powers only from provincial legislation. If investigation indicated areas where either responsibility, expenditure or desirability of additional revenue sources were required to be re-adjusted, the town of Summerside could not implement such changes on its own, unless such changes or readjustments were within the scope of the Summerside Incorporation Act.

"Furthermore, before any major changes relative to Summerside could be made by the province, consideration would have to be given to the effect such changes would have on other municipalities.

"At least some of the problems confronting the town are brought on by the presence of many areas immediately adjacent to the town from which many people come who rely on the town and its business establishments for employment. The town has no jurisdiction whatsoever over these areas.

The report stated that the New Brunswick Royal Commission is to report by the end of 1963, and suggested that much of the research conducted by the commission would be of value in the study of Summerside's taxation situation.

The taxation committee, consisting of George R. McMahon, chairman; Creelman MacArthur, representing landlords; Keith Lapp, representing business; William Conkey, representing the tenants; and George Key, Jr., representing the town, was appointed in May.

Mayor Defends Private Sessions

SUMMERSIDE — Mayor Ernest Morrison said all town council decisions are made before a full council, although he admitted that most decisions are reached in private sessions.

He was commenting on the fact that three private council sessions have been held in the last few days, and Monday night's regular council session was whisked through in less than an hour.

Two more committee meetings which are closed to the public and the press were slated last night. One of these was to deal with proposed winter works projects.

Other committee meetings held recently have dealt with the plans for a $11,200 fountain for Centennial year. The resolution authorizing the town's centennial committee to act as the town's agent for the construction of this fountain was zipped through council in less than two minutes.

Montague Recreation Comm. Votes Sum For Minor Hockey

MONTAGUE — Robert Ferguson and William Brehaut were elected to the Montague Regional Recreational Commission Monday evening at the annual meeting of the organization.

Mr. Ferguson replaces the retiring member, Dr. A.E. Ings who represented the school board and Mr. Brehaut replaces the retiring member A.F. Campbell member at large. Stewart Dewar who represented the legion on the commission was reelected. These appointments are for a three-year term.

The meeting was chaired by the president, John Hughes and A.E. Sullivan was the secretary.

The commission has not received the full support of the community and only eight were in attendance for the meeting.

Reports were presented by Robert Mills for the minor hockey committee. Mrs. Margaret Sullivan for the water safety committee and by E.F. MacDonald for minor league baseball. These reports show that considerable work has been done by these chairmen.

In minor hockey Mr. Mills reported that more precautions are being taken to protect these young lads from over exertion and injury and some discussion took place on safety equipment and insurance coverage.

The water safety committee report shows that it had a quite successful year and considerable work had been done by the leaders.

Minor league ball and hockey received considerable attention from the committee and on motion $125.00 was voted to be turned over to the physical instructor of the elementary school, Robert Mills for minor hockey supplies.

It is the hope of the committee that more people will take an active part in the recreational commitee in the future.

plans for 1964 and said there were 190 conventions now listed to be held here. He expressed the wish that people from all other parts of Canada would come here and perhaps they might absorb some of the spirit of cooperation which enabled the Fathers of Confederation to solve the problems of that day.

Mr. Lewington assured the Mayor his company was fully alive to the tourist potential and stated his company was prepared to play its part in the transportation field.

He added that EPA would continue to do its utmost in the development of the northland it served and his further development would mean much to people of Island produce and products.

GOOSE BAY IMPORTANT

Among the head table guests last night was Group Captain Eric Kenny, commanding officer of the RCAF at Goose Bay, who said "we are open to suggestion regarding needed supplies for the station."

The speaker outlined the present situation at Goose Bay which he said "has now grown up", and described what it meant to Maritimers in the purchases of products here and wages paid. He added that Goose Bay was considered of great importance in the matter of defence by both Canada and the United States.

Other Eastern Provincial Airlines officials accompanying the president included W.H. Harris, vice president; King Forde, cargo sales manager; D.B. Simmons, regional director of traffic and sales; and Farrell Gaudet, a native of Charlottetown who is company director of industrial and public relations.

In addition to members of City Council and Charlottetown Board of Trade representatives, special guests included Group Capt. A.G. Dagg, commanding officer RCAF Summerside; Jack Wright, Summerside, president of APEC; and Max Thompson, Victoria, representing the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade.

Cambodian Ruler Severs All Ties With Washington

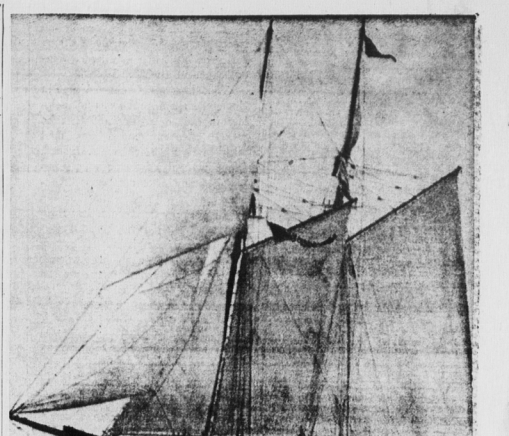
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, ruler of Cambodia, today severed all economic and military ties with the United States.

Sihanouk charged that U.S. aid was being used to undermine him.

He announced his decision in a fiery speech before an emergency session of his political party at a Phnom Penh Stadium.

He told a wildly cheering crowd of youth corps members that American equipment had been used by rebel Cambodians operating from South Viet Nam.

An American spokesman described the development as "tragic, if it is true."



BLUENOSE II, replica of the famous Nova Scotia racing and fishing schooner, heels gently to port in her first sea trial under sail off this south shore community where both she and the original Bluenose were built. Her skipper said she handled well despite some damage to her main topsail and bowsprit. (CP Wirephoto)

Sailing Trials Delayed By Loss Of Bowsprit

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP) — Fred Rhuland, part owner of Smith and Rhuland Limited shipyard here, builders of the Bluenose II replica, said Tuesday the loss of the bowsprit on the Bluenose II would delay sailing trials about 10 days.

The bowsprit broke Monday while the Bluenose II was undergoing sailing trials near here. It was her first time out under sail, but last week she had undergone engine trials.

Mr. Thuland said it would take about 10 days to obtain a piece of douglas fir from British Columbia and fashion it into a new bowsprit. The broken one was being removed by workmen Tuesday.

He said it was not known what caused the bowsprit to break, but he believed it may have occurred during hurricane Ginny several weeks ago when the jib stay (a guy wire from mainmast) pulled on the jib boom.

Mr. Thuland said the breakage could also have been caused by a sudden surge of the jib or balloon topsail during trials Monday. Except for the loss of the bowsprit and the fore topsail left harbor here and said upon returning that she would sail well when she was completely trimmed and adjusted.

The skipper of the original Bluenose, Capt. Angus Walters manned the helm as the vessel

WORRY ABOUT ARABS

Cardinal Bea took the council floor in St. Peter's Basilica a day after three Roman Catholic patriarchs from the Middle East assailed the declaration as representing potential danger for Christians living in Arab nations.

Cardinal Bea said the Roman Catholic church teachings always upheld the view that Jews alone were not responsible for the crucifixion and that Christians should follow the teachings of Christ and the apostles with regard to the Jews, he said. Then he asked:

"But why is this declaration raised today? Because several decades ago anti-Semitism developed in most violent and criminal forms, particularly in Germany under a movement called National Socialism (nazism), which wiped out millions (of Jews)."

"The Nazis upheld this with a powerful anti-Jewish propaganda, and it appears that this has had an influence on Christian minds which has not been entirely removed."

He said Nazi propaganda often used arguments that appeared based on the New Testament and teachins of the church. The cardinal stressed that Nazism "did not draw its inspiration from church teaching," and added that the declaration on the Jews "is needed to remove any such ideas implanted in Christian minds."

Members of the council have been questioning why the declaration on Jews was included in the schema on Christian unity. Specialists of Cardinal Bea's secretariat themselves differ on the reason.
