Time of the Report Feels a Letter

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Ailing Pope John was reported feeling much better Thursday night in his bout with "intense anemia" and even got out of bed for a few hours and walked around his apartment in the apostolic palace, high Vatican sources reported.

the government should enlarge the scope of the National Productivity Council to create an economic council which would be a separate and public body responsible to parliament.

LITTLE TIME - The Commons had little time in the afternoon to deal with the matter because of a long question period and government and opposition statements about implementation of the Glasco royal commission reports on government organizations.

Mr. Gordon said he assumed that Prime Minister Diefenbaker harbors deep reservations about the proposed board. He spoke in the general debate on establishment of the development board.

Mr. Gordon said the bill should be sent to the Commons banking committee where minister without portfolio McCutcheon would be called to testify.

Mr. Gordon said he would like to see the bill taken if it thought a board could settle the uneasiness of the economy.

Portrait unveiled at college

Honor was paid to the memory of Dr. Lily Seaman, a member of Prince of Wales College staff for more than 50 years at the college yesterday. A portrait in oils of the late Dr. Seaman was unveiled by Dr. G.D. Steel, former principal of the college and a friend and colleague of Dr. Seaman's.

The portrait, by Mrs. J.C. Bibby, who recently spent several months in Charlottetown, was commissioned by the University Women's Club of Charlottetown and presented to the college by the club. Here Dr. Steel unveils the portrait while Mrs. Ian MacLeod, representing the club looks on.

Mr. Smith, in an Atlantic Ports Day address Monday in Halifax, said cargo tonnage through the strait "increased to 2,400,000 tons last winter, whereas six or seven years ago St. Lawrence ports did not handle a single ton of overseas cargo during winter."

He said that by 1970 winter port traffic in Saint John and Halifax could be reduced to "practically nothing."

NHB HAS FAITH - Mr. Mann said that the National Harbors Board is not that pessimistic. He has more faith in Atlantic ports, such as Saint John.

Mr. Mann, former executive manager of the Maritime Transportation Commission, commented: "There are a lot of figures being thrown around about cargo tonnage through the Cabot Strait last winter. We must be careful of such figures and study them carefully."

Mr. Mann was in Saint John with other NHB officials to carry out a semi-annual inspection of port facilities and confer with steamship agents, ship owners and members of the port and industrial development commission.

They will take part in the opening of $3,500,000 Long Wharf.
