Special Correspondence of the Examiner.

The last week in June is always devoted to the ceremonies peculiar to the closing of King's College at the end of the collegiate year. As the oldest University in the Dominion of Canada, and the first one to which a Royal Charter was granted, a great interest is always felt in its welfare throughout the Maritime Provinces; and this interest manifests itself in the way in which people assemble in Windsor during the Encenia week. To be sure, Windsor possesses sufficient attraction in itself to draw a large number of visitors in the early summer months, for there are few more lovely spots in Canada. But it is for the sake of the College that the majority come.

On Monday, the 21st inst., the matriculation examination was held in Windsor, Charlottetown, and St. John's, Nfld. In Windsor eighteen candidates presented themselves, of whom fifteen passed; the results from Charlottetown and St. John's have not yet been made known.

On Wednesday the annual meeting of the Incorporated Alumni was held in the Convocation Hall in the morning. The election of Governors took place at this meeting; Dr. Cowie and Dr. Henry Pryor, of Halifax, were elected Governors in place of Prof. N. Y. Hind, and Rev. H. P. Almon, D. C. L., whose terms expire this year.

In the morning and afternoon of Wednesday, a cricket match was played on the College grounds between the Three Elms Club, of the College, and the officers of the 101st, of Halifax. The day, however, turned out wet and disagreeable, and a rain-storm coming on, the game had to be stopped. The College club, however, was plainly beaten, and the Cogswell cricket prize—two fine bats, was awarded to Mr. Kirkpatrick, of the 101st. During the whole day the band of the 101st played on the grounds. Among other pieces on their programme was the celebrated "Old Men's Chorus," from Faust, and a collection of old airs, which were very fine.

On Wednesday evening a couverazione was held in the Convocation Hall, at which about two hundred guests were present from all parts of the Maritime Provinces. The Haydn Quintette Club played during the evening. Although all the pieces were well played, we may mention the overtures to "Tancredi" (Rossini), and "Le Macon" (Auber), and Hadyn's Symphony No. 12, as particularly good. The guests departed about 10.30.

On Thursday, the day of the Encenia, and the last of the collegiate year, there was a choral celebration of the Holy Eucharist in the College Chapel at 7.30 a. m. His Lordship the Bishop was the celebrant, and was assisted by the President and Rev. Prof. Wilson. The service was Alerbecke's.

At 10 o'clock, according to the old custom, the Visitor, Faculty Graduates, Students and Pupils of the Collegiate School went in procession to the Parish Church of Windsor, where there were Matins and a Sermon. The Rev. Prof. Wilson officiated, and the President preached.

From the parish church all proceeded to the Convocation Hall, which was well filled. In his preliminary address the President ran over briefly the improvements and changes of the past year. He made mention, also, of several who had passed away since last Encenia, among whom were Dr. How. J. Y. Hind, Canon Cochrane, and Mr. C. B. Bowman. Many important additions, he said, have been made during the year to the library and museum, of which the best is the splendid collection of old china, presented by Mrs. Weldon of Fredericton, valued at nearly $7,000. The President then touched briefly on the prosperity of the collegiate school, the advantages of the local examinations, and the need of a gymnasium. He mentioned, in connection with the last, a suggestion that had been made that the students should level the road through the College woods as a means of exercise. He mentioned, also, the Quintilian Debating Society and the College Paper, as being of great advantage to the institution.

After his speech, the President read out the names of those who had passed their B. A. degree examinations. There were, with honors in classics; Mr. F. W. Vroom; with honors in theology, Rev. G. H. Butler; Satisfacet B. A., Mr. L. E. Brecken, and Mr. A. E. Silver; the preliminary honors B. A., Mr. W. B. King, and Mr. K. C. Hind. The list of those who had obtained scholarships and prizes was then read, and was as follows:

Cogswell Scholarship, Rev. G. H. Butler; Binney Exhibition, Mr. G. R. Martell; Stevenson Scholarships, Rev. G. H. Butler, Mr. M. A. Curry; and Mr. H. A. Hensley; General Williams' prize for Mineralogy, Mr. M. A. Curry; General Williams' prize for Modern Languages, Mr. W. B. King; Almon-Welsford Testimonial, Mr. F. W. Frith; President's Prize for English Verse, Mr. J. G. Peters; Prize Latin Verse, Mr. F. W. Vroom; McCawley Hebrew Prize, Rev. G. N. Butler; Divinity Prize for first year, Mr. F. W. Frith; McCawley Scholarship, Mr. F. W. Vroom.

The degrees were then conferred by the President, candidates being presented by the Vice-President. An Honorary M. A. Degree was conferred on Prof. Liechti, of Dalhousie College; Prof. Spender, who is M. A. of McGill, was admitted ad eundem of Kings. Rev. R. E. Smith, B. A., of St. George, N. B., and H. P. Scott, Esq., B. A., of Halifax, received their M. A. degrees. The following then were made Bachelors in Arts: Messrs. W. S. H. Morris, I. O. Crisp, F. W. Vroom, T. Rutherford and E. J. Jennings.

Mr. Scott then read portions of his M. A. Essay, Mr. Peters his prize poem on "Montcalm," and Mr. Vroom his prize Latin poem. Mr. Vroom also pronounced the Valedictory—the formal leave-taking of departing students.

Rev. Chancellor Hill, after this, made some remarks in which he referred to celebrated men of King's of the past; and addressed a few words of good advice to the students.

Dr. Hill was followed by Hon. Senator Almon, who spoke principally on the necessity of studying the modern languages. He also made reference to some of his contemporaries at King's, among whom were Judge Gray, of British Columbia; Bishop Suther, of Aberdeen and Orkney; Sir John Inglis, the defender of Lucknow; and Major Welsford of Sebastopol fame. Dr. Almon also endeavoured to enlist the sympathy of the ladies in behalf of the College.

Hon. W. B. Vail came after Senator Almon, who congratulated the College warmly upon its prosperity. Mr. Vail dwelt for some time on the historical position of King's College, and said that all Canadians, of whatever religion, must look with pride upon an institution so ancient, and which has turned out so many fine men.

His Lordship the Bishop gave a short address. He said that as it was his peculiar privilege to speak last, so was it his peculiar fate to have everything said beforehand which he had intended to say. The particular points upon which His Lordship dwelt were, the lack of zeal for the College shown by most graduates, the low state of the College funds, and the injury which would result to the institution if the Government grant should be withdrawn.

After the Bishop's speech, the convocation was dissolved and "God save the Queen" was sung by all standing. Luncheon was then served in the Hall, of which about one hundred guests partook. This ended the proceedings of the day, and of the collegiate year.
