IT ISN'T EASY
 There's no use fooling about this job. It offers fine opportunities for rapid advancement and a satisfying and successful career, but they won't come automatically.

There are opportunities that can't be missed. This is one of them. You are young, enthusiastic, keenly interested in sports and have a definite attitude for writing about sports.

It will be a waste of time to inquire about this unless you are confident you know what it takes to begin as a junior sports reporter and to write quickly into a sports editor and columnist - unless you are confident you have this sort of work, plus a minimum of Grade X standings.

But if you feel sure enough to seek the kind of career that can be achieved through this job, arrange an interview by telephoning Wallace Ward, managing editor, Guardian-Patriot, Brookville, phone 4-6366.
