MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
A meeting of the Montague Bureau of the Guardian was held Tuesday evening to further discuss proposals and to work out plans for the coming year.

Present for the meeting was George Fraser, director of the P.E.I. Travel Bureau who presented the final idea. He outlined a few ideas on the matter and also presented several suggestions on the proposed festival.

The festival is to be organized by the Montague Regional Board of Trade and this is the second meeting of the committee.

Several new ideas have been discussed and a committee selected for some of the events to be staged. A suggestion to increase the festival to five days which would include Saturday and Sunday, with a merchants day on the Saturday which would include a town-wide bargain day and with the Sunday day and with the Sunday day and with the Sunday day.

This Sunday program could include choirs, quartets, trios, and soloists performing religious music. All churches in the area would be asked to take part. However no decisions have been reached on this matter for the time being.

Alford MacKinnon is to be approached to see if he would donate a model boat which would be gathered together to form a boat model area in existence during the festival.

There will be 211 attendees at the festival, eight less than the objective, but the record attendance at the festival was 211 attendees at the festival.

There were 112 donors registered at the festival, and the record attendance at the festival was 112 donors registered at the festival.

Go't Officials Fear Loss Of U.K. Market

Due to a planned increase in transportation costs, provincial agriculture officials are fearful that the loss of the U.K. market will be a serious blow to the province.

The order will be shipped by the proposed freight increase and it is expected that the loss of the U.K. market will be a serious blow to the province.

Hockey League Holds Meeting

The outlook for the chances of having an Island Hockey League is looking bright after representatives of last year's teams held a meeting at the Legion Home last evening.

A committee was appointed to look into the possibility of getting the league underway but no definite plans were made.

Summerside Combines were the only team to state they would join the league for sure but the RCAF Eagles indicated that they would probably participate this season.

The Parkdale Royals and the Old Spils Pennquins hadn't quite made up their minds yet.

Dr. Clark and Jim Kennedy, both from Summerside, were appointed to the committee along with Sandy Frizzell and Myron Bell of Charlottetown.

FO Matthews of the RCAF chaired the meeting.

The team representatives will hold another meeting on November 3rd in Summerside and it is thought that final plans will be discussed then.

Trade Board Membership Is Now 275

The Charlottetown Board of Trade now has a membership of 275 due to the efforts of a group of 25 business and professional men who staged a one-day membership blitz.

The 12 or 13 teams spent the entire day in calling on prospective members and also seeking renewals, with the result that 70 new members have been enrolled along with 35 renewals.

The campaign began with breakfast in the Charlottetown Hotel at which Reid Sangster, provincial marketing director, was the keynote speaker.

The top team was D.L. Sinclair and Mayor A. Walthen.
