South lost control of trumps. At the point where he still had J-9-8 of hearts—after two rounds of hearts had been played and he had ruffed a club—he should not have cashed the jack of trump. It was this play that established West's ten and permitted West later to take away one of South's two trumps. Instead, declarer should have gone after the diamonds to force out the ace. He could well afford to ignore for the moment the outstanding 10-x of hearts. If in the course of playing the diamonds either defender ruffed a diamond, only one trump would remain out, which could then easily be picked up with the jack to produce ten tricks. In effect, by this manner of play, declarer assures himself of five trump tricks. These, in conjunction with two spades, two established diamonds, and the ace of clubs, are bound to limit him to only three losers—two hearts and a diamond.

Canada Said Poor Customer By British
LONDON (Reuters)—Sir David Eccles, president of the Board of Trade, told members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce here Wednesday that Canada bought from Britain less than any of Britain's other trading partners. Britain should not be expected to continue a one-sided business unless it was sure that its balance of trade as a whole would be improved. "No other country sold to us so much more than it bought," Eccles said. "It goes hard with a lot of people here to see Canada spending so much of the money earned here in other markets."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
L O N G F E L L O
One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation
B V F I J P Y S I Q Z S W R Q S A C J B V K S I
I J Y F S O P F B S B V F Q A P - I V J B E J F K .
