SYRUP OF FIGS

ONE ENJOYS
Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Why the Dairy Farmer Should Feed Well

1st. Because the cow takes about two-thirds of all she eats to keep herself alive, so that only one third remains for production and profit. On scant feeding a cow may continue to elaborate milk, but she will do so at the expense of her own body. Not so: starved cow, starved dairyman.

2nd. In order that the young she is to rear, and which is a constant and heavy drain upon her system for three-fourths of the year, shall be properly nourished and have a fair start in life.

3rd. Because it is an established fact, as every breeder knows, that a properly fed cow means a better cow. Prof. Roberts found, in experimenting, that grain-fed milk, two-year-olds and three-year-olds developed into better animals than their starved mates receiving no grain.

4th. Because milk is not a miraculous product any more than wheat or an egg.
Some cows will do better with their food than others, no doubt, but the truth remains that the cow must receive a liberal share of proper food out of which to elaborate milk.
Something cannot come from nothing. She must receive the raw material out of which to convert the fat, casein, sugar and other elements of milk, or the process will come to an end. Because some experimenter did not find a higher fat per cent. in the milk after increasing the grain ration, no reader of the Advocate is likely to run away with the foolish notion that a straw stack and brewer's grain ration will properly fill the dairy cow's bill of fare. For many reasons it certainly will not.

5th. Because the cow is like a good savings bank—she will return what she receives with a handsome interest, besides supporting herself, also meanwhile enriching the farmer's fields, which the bank will not do. It is no uncommon thing for cows (nor are they confined to any one breed) to add from 100 to 200 per cent. to the value of the food consumed in their milk product.

6th. Because it will lengthen her milking period, and, consequently, the time of profit in milking. Milking for only 6 or 7 months is a bad habit into which careless dairymen have let their cows fall.

7th. Because it will improve her milking powers the following season. This was strikingly proven by the authorities of Cornell Experiment Station staff in comparing herds of cows fed grain in addition to pasture. The two herds were evenly selected and had not previously been grain-fed on pasture. The first season the grain-fed lot gave 27 per cent. more milk and gained 55 lbs. in weight each more than the other herd. The following season it was found that the lot that had been grain-fed yielded over 16 per cent. more milk than the others.

8th. Because it will promote a larger flow of milk and a consequent greater product of butter, cheese and by-products (skim milk, whey, etc.) for feeding.

9th. Because it will promote a larger flow
of milk and a consequent greater product of
whey, etc.) for feeding.

last as long as the cow's constitutional vigor holds out.

10th. Because the cow whose dairy quality has been improved and fixed as described will transmit, as a rule, this desirable trait to her offspring. In trotting horse lore a "developed" sire or dam is one that has had sufficient handling in harness to show his or her best speed, and it is a well recognized fact, that a "developed" horse is far more likely to beget speed than if he were not so trained. This is equally true of the dam. Prof. Stewart mentions the case of heifer calves raised from two cows before he had developed them, which proved to be very ordinary milkers, but heifer calves raised after development proved to be excellent milkers, there being no gain in the latter case by the use of a better sire.

11th.—Because the universal experience of successful dairymen demonstrates that good feeding pays, and is the only sort that does pay. In short, of no one can it be more truthfully said than of the dairyman:
"The liberal man deviseth liberal things, and by liberal things he shall stand."—The Advocate.

A. DE W. BARRS, A.M., M.D., Edin., a man of culture and refinement, is Lecturer on Physiology and Hygiene in Acadia College, Nova Scotia. OF SKODA'S REMEDIES he says:—
"I have carefully examined the formula-rums from which they are constructed, and find they have been judiciously selected and are well adapted; for the accomplishment of the various ends desired. I believe the ingredients used, the BEST of their kind, and the REMEDIES should have a large sale, when placed before the general public."

F. A. ROBERTS, M.D.
The late Dr. F. A. Roberts, a leading Homoeopathic Physician of Maine, said:— "No Remedies upon the market equal SKODA'S, in neatness and elegance of appearance. I believe Skoda's German Ointment and Skoda's German Soap, are the most perfect remedies with which I am acquainted, for the cure of all Skin Diseases. I do not hesitate to recommend them as such."
