Retarded Children Ass'n To Buy Oyster Bed Camp Site

A decision to purchase a camp site near Oyster Bed for the use of retarded children and their families was arrived at this week at the regular gathering of the Charlottetown chapter of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children. It was generally felt that such a purchase would be of far reaching importance and have beneficial results. The decision was prompted by a successful camping week spent by a number of the children in August at a site loaned to the group by a city church. The group's Board of directors has been advised to purchase the site. Long discussion took place on the annual conference of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children which is slated for Charlottetown in 1959. Discussion centered on the site of the conference and the programs to be arranged. Leo P. Berrigan, president of the Charlottetown association, advised the group that much work would be needed if the cause of retarded children was to be advanced on the Island. He said that National Retarded Children's Week would be observed soon and that plans have already been made to ensure its success on the Island. Several members from the recently formed group in Montague were in attendance at the meeting. It is believed that a number of other groups will be formed in the province with Souris being the most likely place to organize next.

Fox And Mink Breeders End Show With Informal Dinner

An informal dinner of the fox and mink breeders who were exhibitors at the P.E.I. Live Fox and Mink Show completed yesterday at the Exhibition Grounds was held at the Rendezvous Restaurant last evening. A number of guests were also present. After an enjoyable meal, Lowell Hancock, vice-president of the P.E.I. Association, called in various speakers including Judge Parven Cass, who judged the foxes, and William MacFarlane, who judged the mink. Both speakers gave their impressions of the exhibits which were very complimentary and encouraging to breeders. Mr. MacFarlane is on the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company in Montreal and is a specialist in furs, particularly mink. Assisting him was Josh Boyd, of Yarmouth, who also gave an address. The doctor is a specialist in nutrition and is constantly carrying out experiments with the object of providing the best form of nutrition for producing good fur and good animals at the lowest cost to the rancher. Ladies present were Mrs. Keith Donald and Mrs. C. K. Dunn, both of whom enjoyed the evening.

QCHS Home & School Hears Talk On Successful Careers

Taking as his subject, "Successful Careers," Professors Gordon Bennett, Director of Studies at Prince of Wales College, gave a most inspiring and timely address to upwards of two hundred members of the Queen Charlotte Home and School Association last evening. During the course of his remarks, Professor Bennett referred to the all-important question of deciding the proper career. So necessary is it at this period to secure wise advice from parents, teachers, and counselors. As an example of wise parental advice, the speaker referred to that given to Lincoln by his mother, "Be somebody." Professor Bennett pointed out opportunities available to youth; he indicated that the yard-stick applied by business is, "Have you finished high school?" The pitfalls that students must avoid in going to college or university were clearly illustrated, the strongest reason for failure being lack of interest in work. The B.A. graduate is still in great demand, even in industry. After specifying the types of occupations available in large supply to the properly trained individual, Professor Bennett concluded by advocating for successful training a firm discipline and hard work. As an added lecture, students of Queen Charlotte put on a short musical program under the capable direction of Mr. Royston Mugford, teacher of music at the high school. Among the numbers were two choruses by grade nine and ten girls; a vocal duet by Rebecca and Margaret Giddings; a piano solo by Claudette Callbeck; and a vocal solo by Sylvia Phillips. Among items of business were the presentation of two hundred and fifty dollars by Billy MacMillan, president of the student council, to Mrs. Frank MacKinnon for the school library; this sum was realized as part proceeds on the recent magazine sales; Mrs. Earle Norrie gave a comprehensive report of a recent home and school conference in Summerside; the meeting decided to support the setting up of a Home and School Council, and also voted twenty-five dollars to support the radio program, "Saturday Merry-Go-Round", to be produced by Mrs. Nelly Brown, and sponsored by city home and school associations; committee reports were given for the library by Mrs. Charles MacKenzie, and for membership by Mrs. Neil Diamond. President J.A.S. Williams acted as chairman. At the conclusion of the meeting lunch was served and parents were given the opportunity to interview teachers.

Two Charlottetown men faced assault charges in Charlottetown Police Court Thursday morning. A resident of Weymouth Street was convicted of striking his wife and was sentenced to 10 days in the Queens County Jail by Magistrate K.M. Martin. An assault charge against a resident of the C.A.A. Grounds was dismissed. A Water Street man convicted on a charge of being drunk and incapable was handed a 10-day suspended sentence. The accused had been in police custody since he had been remanded November 1st. A Montague resident was fined $20 and costs or 10 days when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and incapable.

Workshop Held At Stella Maris

A large number of teachers assembled in Stella Maris High School on October 24th, to hold their first workshop of the season. Mrs. Jennie Stevenson acted as chairman. It was decided to hold another workshop meeting the latter part of November. Sister St. Mary Sextus gave an interesting reading. A film was also shown.

Employment Officials Plan Ahead For Benefit Claims

National Employment Office officials in Charlottetown are planning well ahead for the annual rush of unemployment insurance benefit claims which occurs every year because of seasonal conditions. This year for the first time in the 17 years the office has been open, teams of claims takers will be sent to such places as Rustico, Murray River, Montague and Souris. Visits will be made to Souris and Montague in the last week in November. Rustico and Murray River will be looked after in the first week of December. It is hoped that this will be a great convenience for many people who formerly sent their claims to Charlottetown by mail. It should also eliminate delay in the proper filing of claims. It has been the experience of the local office that claims filed by mail are very often incompletely filled out and it is necessary to return them to the claimant for additional information. It will also forestall in many cases the receipt of claims without an accompanying insurance book. Claims received without an insurance book, are one of the chief causes of delay in the prompt payment of benefits. Without an insurance book it is not possible for the Employment Office to decide whether the claimant is entitled to benefits. When claims are taken on the spot, as they will be in the various places listed, it will be possible in many cases for a claimant who turns up without his insurance book, to obtain one. In most cases his employer will be found to reside close to one of the temporary offices to be set up, and the employer concerned will probably be able to produce the book without delay. It is known too, that claims taken over the counter, person to person, will eliminate many other causes of delay. The exact dates for each of the places, where offices are to be set-up will be advertised in the press in about a week's time. The advertisement will not only name the dates on which the visits are to be made, but the location of the temporary office. In some cases this will be in the Canadian Legion Hall.
